25 DEAD IN WESTERN FLOODS

Today

Quite a Melon.
95% Brains and Labor.
Warning Coolidge.
They Hunt Heads. We Also.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

THE Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad will present to its stockholders a handsome "melon"—otherwise $92,000,000 cash. It is a good melon and due largely to good management.

Many farmers wish somebody would present some such melon to them. Perhaps President Coolidge will think out something almost as good between now and fall. He certainly would like to do it.

THERE is much prosperity in this country, and, fortunately for us, it is not all based on "natural resources"—oil, iron, coal, forests, good soil, etc. Most of it comes from inside the national skull. Sir Ernest Penn observes that American prosperity is, in many cases, 5 per cent natural resources, 95 per cent work intelligently organized. If natural resources alone counted, "Brazil, Liberia and Iceland would be the world's most prosperous countries."

Our automobiles, typewriters, elevators, radio instruments and other things in which we lead are 95 per cent brains and mechanical skill.

Sir Ernest says "Britain should introduce into this country a small per centage of American mentality and mix it with all the charm of the English point of view." Not a bad idea, but why "a small percentage?" Help yourself.

ANOTHER good Britisher, Sir George Palsh, "economist and publisher," calls on President Coolidge to tell him that he really must, and so must Uncle Sam, do something about changing our tariff. In fact, he "warns Coolidge" that Europe faces a serious situation because European countries cannot trade in this country as freely as they would like to."

THAT is too bad and it will interest the president. Also it will make him glad that the United States has a tariff. He likes Europe and would make reasonable concessions, no doubt, but unlike some others he hasn't forgotten that he is hired and paid by the United States, not by Europe.

A STRANGE, hitherto unknown tribe is found in Boreon, having for joy in life and principal sport, "head hunting," which means collecting heads of other savages. The old gentleman, in his declining years, sitting before his hut in the sunshine, with his large collection of heads piled one on another, is much admired. You say, "This is horrible." It is, but it persists to some extent among ourselves. Your high-spirted Nordic, leaning

Review-Tribune Offers Booklet About Mexico

Why not be well informed about Mexico, one of the greatest questions of the day? Why not be able to state accurate facts instead of idle theories when Mexico is discussed? Why not be able to understand the news dispatches from Mexico?

Our Washington Information Bureau has prepared a plain, fact booklet about the republic to the south of us, giving a brief history of Mexico, and setting forth facts about the population, states, areas, railroads, mineral wealth, American interest, form of government, and other basic conditions of Mexico.

Every up-to-date American ought to know at least as much about Mexico as this booklet tells. Very few know one-tenth of it. Your copy may be secured through using the coupon below.

RAIN-SWOLLEN RIVERS SWEEP OKLAHOMA AND KANSAS AREAS

Heavy Toll of Property Destruction Reported.

DIKES BREAK

Business and Residential Sections are Under Water.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—Floods—the worst since 1903—were sweeping widespread areas in Kansas and Oklahoma today, leaving a heavy toll of loss of life and property destruction. At least 25 persons are dead today in the two states, according to reports here.

14 Drowned in One Town.

Torrential rains, at some places reaching waterspout proportions, have swollen streams in southern Kansas and Oklahoma and dikes are breaking in lowland areas and inundating business and residence sections.

The heaviest death toll occurred at Rockyford, Okla., where 14 Mexicans were drowned when the Washita river overflowed its banks and sent a wall of water to six feet deep roaring through the lowlands. Two Mexican families at Rockyford were also drowned.

According to reports to the weather bureau here, flood warnings have been issued along the following rivers in Kansas and Oklahoma:

Grand river, Washita, South Canadian, Canadian, Walnut, Verdigris, and Arkansas.

Torrential rains were still falling today in southern Kansas and parts of northern Oklahoma.

Railroad tracks in southeastern Kansas were flooded and along the Frisco and M-K-T roads miles of track at a stretch were inundated.

22 Reported Dead in Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 9.—Swirling waters of the Canadian and Washita rivers have reached a higher stage today in a flood that already has taken a toll of 22 lives in this state.

South of Rockyford, where 14 Mexicans were drowned, a wall of water was inundating thousands of acres of farm land and residents were moving to higher ground in the Washita valley.

Farm homes were swept away and railroad bridges were imperiled.

At Bartlesville on the Caney river, water was creeping into basements and driving hundreds from their homes. Warnings were issued to residents along the rivers to move to higher ground.

Mrs. Ella Stone, Former Resident Of Midland, Dies

Mrs. Ella Stone, 49, wife of A. G. Stone, former resident of Midland, Pa., died today in her home, 1229 Pennsylvania avenue, East End.

Besides her husband she leaves three sons: Howard, Carl and Emerson; one brother, Charles Dalley, and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Green, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, in charge of Rev. George C. Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Oak Grove cemetery, near Industry, Pa.

Friends may view the body tomorrow night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

15 BANDITS MAKE $100,000 GOLD HAUL

ARMED OUTLAWS BIND GUARDS AT ELGIN, ILL., WATCH COMPANY PLANT

After Gagging Three Watchmen, Robbers Rig up Acetylene Torches and Burn Their Way Into Vaults, Working Leisurely for Three Hours Without Interruption.

ONE CUSTODIAN FORCED TO MAKE CALL-BOX ROUNDS DURING HOLD-UP

Loading Their Loot of Gold Plate and Other Materials in Bags, Gangsters Drive Away in Automobiles, Heading, it is Believed, Toward Chicago.

ELGIN, Ill., April 9.—Fifteen bandits, armed with machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and rifles, early today tied up three watchmen at the Illinois Watch Case company plant here and looted the huge vaults of gold plate and other materials valued roughly at $100,000.

The bandits surprised the watchmen shortly after midnight. After binding and gagging the three custodians, the bandits rigged up acetylene torches and burned their way into the company's vaults. They worked leisurely for three hours, without interruption.

After loading their loot in bags, the bandit crew drove away in four automobiles. It is believed they headed for Chicago. The robbery was reported a half hour later by a guard who freed himself.

A fourth watchman was taken prisoner, but he was not trussed up. One of the bandits kept him covered with a revolver and forced him to make the usual call-box rounds, reporting "All is well." This watchman was taken along in one of the bandit machines when the gang drove away.

Posses Take Up Trail.

The watchman who wiggled himself free, without waiting to liberate his companions, phoned Elgin police. News of the robbery was flashed to Chicago and all towns along the hard roads leading out of Elgin. Posses, quickly organized, took up the trail.

The watchman who reported the robbery said the bandits mounted a machine gun in a commanding spot overlooking the company's front gate. He said the bandit chieftain put a "gunner" in charge and told him to shoot down any who tried to enter. While this gunner stood watch, the others looted the vaults.

Every vault in the plant, which is one of the largest in Chicago district, was entered. While the exact value of the loot is not known, Eight officials said it would probably be in excess of $100,000.

Three cars roaring along at better than 60 miles an hour were later reported seen at Dundee, Ill., and Fort Atkinson, Wis., causing authorities to believe the bandits might have headed for Minneapolis.

The men were evidently familiar with the plant according to the watchmen. Several of the bandits addressed the captives by their nick-names

General Lyon post, No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, was the recipient of an American flag, presented yesterday by B. W. Haines, Lincoln avenue, a member. The flag, unfurled today, Appomatox Day was accepted by Gideon Standley, commander.

Nine veterans attended the meeting, which was held in the G. A. R. hall, Fourth and Washington streets.

"You Know We Are Innocent," Sacco Cries Out Dramatically as Dedham Judge Pronounces Sentence.

EXECUTIONS SET FOR JULY 10

Men Convicted of Slaying Paymaster and Guard in 1920 Will Pay Penalty in Electric Chair.

DEDHAM, Mass., April 9.—Nicola Sacco and Bortolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of slaying a South Braintree shoe factory paymaster and his guard in 1920, were sentenced today to die in the electric chair during the week of July 10.

As sentence was pronounced Sacco cried out dramatically: "You know we are innocent."

Judge Webster Thayer continued with the sentencing.

One Man Attempts to Speak.

Vanzetti, the second called for sentencing attempted to speak in broken English as Judge Thayer began pronouncing sentence.

Vanzetti apparently wished to speak to defense counsel, William G. Thompson.

"I believe I will continue with sentencing," broke in Judge Thayer and sentence was then pronounced.

After sentence had been pronounced both Sacco and Vanzetti were given permission to address the court in the usual order of procedure.

"I Never Kill," Shouts Prisoner

Both stated they were innocent.

"I am innocent, not only of the South Braintree murder but of the Bridgewater robbery," said Vanzetti in broken English. He has been serving a term in state's prison for the Bridgewater robbery.

Raising his voice to a high key, Vanzetti fairly shouted:

"I never in all my life kill or spill blood. I have struggled all my life since I began to reason to eliminate crime."

Pays Tribute to Debs.

Vanzetti stated that if some of the people who had stood behind him would come to the witness stand and tell what they know things would be changed.

Then, Vanzetti turned to Judge Thayer, stating: "You, Judge Thayer, and I am sorry to say this because you are an old man, should be sitting here with us.

"You see me not trembling, not in fear but looking you in the eye."

Then Vanzetti paid a sincere tribute to the late Eugene Debs, who Vanzetti said, was "prosecuted and slandered from boyhood upward for the principles he upheld."

Vanzetti went on: "The flower of mankind of Europe has pleaded in our favor. The scientists, the people of the nation and others (pointing to Mrs. Glendower Evans, prominent Boston social worker, who was in the courtroom) are for us."

Man Fined $10 For Loafing Near Downtown Building

Loafing on the building side in front of pool rooms is under the ban in East Liverpool, Chief of Police McDermott announced today, after Aloysious George paid a fine of $10 and costs assessed by Municipal Judge J. RINI AND GIRL AWAIT GRAND JURY VOTE IN ANANIA DEATH

East Liverpool Man's Indictment for Murder Sought.

CRIME DENIED

April Term of Court Opens on Monday.

Charges of murder filed against Salvatore Rini, 27, this city, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, Minneapolis, who are held in the death of Pasquale Anania, 25, Wellsville, in a Walnut street apartment house on March 22, will be investigated by the Columbiana county grand jury, meeting for the April term of court in Lisbon on Monday.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes is expected to seek a first degree indictment against Rini, action against the woman is problematical.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas are in the county jail. The man was denied bond, while Mrs. Chorgas, his sister-in-law, is being held in default of $20,000 bond, $20,000 upon the murder charge and $10,000 as a material witness.

The grand jury will probably remain in session three or four days. Nearly 100 witnesses, 25 of whom will appear on Monday, have been subpoenaed. Thirty-five others have been summoned to appear on Tuesday and the remainder on Wednesday or Thursday.

Charges of petit larceny, automobile stealing, obtaining money under false pretenses and issuing fraudulent checks, as well as the Anania case.

The grand jury will meet in court room No 2. W. H. Frazier will act as court constable.

Mrs. Margaret Shea, 63, Widow, Dies; Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Margaret Shea, 63, widow of John Shea, died today in her home, 240 West Fourth street, as a result of a paralytic stroke.

Mrs. Shea was born in Salineville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Maher. She had been a resident of East Liverpool for 49 years.

She is survived by three sons and four daughters: Michael, Cleveland; Frank, New York; Edward and Mrs A. J. Barry, East Liverpool, and Helen, at home.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Aloysius Catholic church. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Joseph Langfitt, 39, Driller, Falls Dead in Smithfield

Joseph Langfitt, 39, oil well driller, residing five miles east of New Cumberland, fell dead of heart disease while at work near Smithfield, Jefferson county at 12 o'clock last night.

He is survived by his widow, nee Pearl Warwick, four children, Kenneth, Gladys, Alma and Dean; his mother, Mrs. Martha Langfitt, and one sister, Mrs. Warren Wylie, all near New Cumberland.

The body was removed to the Ridgely undertaking establishment at Smithfield and will be brought to his home tonight.

Steubenville Jury Probes Slaying of Mrs. Goldie Boley

The Jefferson county grand jury in session at Steubenville began its investigation yesterday into the death of Mrs. Goldie Boley, former East Liverpool woman, for which her husband, Theodore Boley, 27, Glen Robin mill worker, is being held on a murder charge.

Boley has filed a petition in the Jefferson county common pleas court, asking that a lunacy commission be called to determine his sanity.

Boley choked his wife to death during a quarrel, police say.

Coolidge-Dawes, Smith-Donahey, Fess' Prediction

CLEVELAND, April 9.—Addressing a reunion banquet of Scottish Rite Masons here, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio has predicted the following presidential ticket in 1928:

Republican.

For president — Calvin Coolidge, Massachusetts.

For vice president — Charles G. Dawes, Illinois.

Democrat.

For president — Al Smith, New York.

For vice president—A. V. Donahey, Ohio.

"Nothing can stop Coolidge if he decides to be a candidate," said Fess, "and Smith will be nominated as surely as the sun rises in the morning."

WINGROVE PAYS FINE OF $500

Rural Lane Man Admits Possession of Liquor.

Philip Wingrove, Rural lane, paid a fine of $500 and costs today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley. He was represented by Attorney Frank Grosshans.

Wingrove was arrested after Captain Conley and Patrolmen Lister and McFarland raided his home Wednesday night. Police, who battered in the back door of the house, claimed that Wingrove was caught in the act of dumping a pitcher of whisky in the sewer. About half a pint of the liquor was saved as evidence.

Police said this is Wingrove's third liquor violation since Judge Hanley took office. He was fined $100 on the first offense and, about two months ago, paid $200 for his second offense. Wingrove's was the second $500 fine to be assessed by Judge Hanley for a liquor violation this week.

POLITICAL PAGES TURNED BACK TO LINCOLN'S TIME AS SENATOR BORAH AND DR. BUTLER DEBATE

BOSTON, April 9.—Dreams of leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties to have their organizations sit securely on the fence and watch the prohibition issue sweep by were shattered today, according to opinion in many political quarters, following the debate in crowded Symphony hall last evening between United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, on the dry issue.

The question under debate was: "Should the Republican national platform of 1928 advocate the repeal of the 18th amendment?"

Observers Call it "Draw."

While President Butler argued for the repeal of the amendment and Senator Borah, in a fiery reply, asserted that the amendment could be enforced and should not be disturbed, both speakers seemed agreed that prohibition is an issue to be reckoned with.

Robert M. Washburn, president of the Roosevelt club, sponsor of the debate, declared the "lesson of the meeting" was "That the constitution shall be enforced as written or as amended and that the present situation should cease."

The question of who won the debate was a much-discussed matter today. Some observers said it was "a draw." Others declared that the applause showed Senator Borah a victor. Still others asserted that Dr. Butler had won. Nine men, all prominent citizens, selected by a local newspaper as "Unofficial Judges" stood: Borah 6; Butler 3.

Outstanding today, however, above the question under debate was what political observers declared to be the turning back of political pages to the days of federalism, Jackson Democracy and the time before the Civil war—the return of public discussion by debates between champions of each side in a verbal battle royal.

Each speaker last evening presented his cause with brilliance. Dr. Butler declared the 18th amendment "a stupendous error," that public opinion forever prevents its enforcement, that the matter of prohibition should be left to states, that crime and corruption have followed in the wake of the prohibition law, and that government control, as in Quebec, is a possible solution.

"No aspirant for public office can

ARMED OUTLAWS BIND GUARDS AT ELGIN, ILL., WATCH COMPANY PLANT

After Gagging Three Watchmen, Robbers Rig up Acetylene Torches and Burn Their Way Into Vaults, Working Leisurely for Three Hours Without Interruption.

ONE CUSTODIAN FORCED TO MAKE CALL-BOX ROUNDS DURING HOLD-UP.

Loading Their Loot of Gold Plate and Other Materials in Bags, Gangsters Drive Away in Automobiles, Heading, it is Believed, Toward Chicago.

ELGIN, Ill., April 9.—Fifteen bandits, armed with machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and rifles, early today tied up three watchmen at the Illinois Watch Case company plant here and looted the huge vaults of gold plate and other materials valued roughly at $100,000.

The bandits surprised the watchmen shortly after midnight. After binding and gagging the three custodians, the bandits rigged up acetylene torches and burned their way into the company's vaults. They worked leisurely for three hours, without interruption.

After loading their loot in bags, the bandit crew drove away in four automobiles. It is believed they headed for Chicago. The robbery was reported a half hour later by a guard who freed himself.

A fourth watchman was taken prisoner, but he was not trussed up. One of the bandits kept him covered with a revolver and forced him to make the usual call-box rounds, reporting "All is well." This watchman was taken along in one of the bandit machines when the gang drove away.

Posses Take Up Trail.

The watchman who wiggled himself free, without waiting to liberate his companions, phoned Elgin police. News of the robbery was flashed to Chicago and all towns along the hard roads leading out of Elgin. Posses, quickly organized, took up the trail.

The watchman who reported the robbery said the bandits mounted a machine gun in a commanding spot overlooking the company's front gate. He said the bandit chieftain put a "gunner" in charge and told him to shoot down any who tried to enter. While this gunner stood watch, the others looted the vaults.

Every vault in the plant, which is one of the largest in Chicago district, was entered. While the exact value of the loot is not known, Eight officials said it would probably be in excess of $100,000.

Three cars roaring along at better than 60 miles an hour were later reported seen at Dundee, Ill., and Fort Atkinson, Wis., causing authorities to believe the bandits might have headed for Minneapolis.

The men were evidently familiar with the plant according to the watchmen. Several of the bandits addressed the captives by their nick-names

Steubenville Jury Probes Slaying of Mrs. Goldie Boley

The Jefferson county grand jury in session at Steubenville began its investigation yesterday into the death of Mrs. Goldie Boley, former East Liverpool woman, for which her husband, Theodore Boley, 27, Glen Robin mill worker, is being held on a murder charge.

Boley has filed a petition in the Jefferson county common pleas court, asking that a lunacy commission be called to determine his sanity.

Boley choked his wife to death during a quarrel, police say.

Coolidge-Dawes, Smith-Donahey, Fess' Prediction

CLEVELAND, April 9.—Addressing a reunion banquet of Scottish Rite Masons here, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio has predicted the following presidential ticket in 1928:

Republican.

For president—Calvin Coolidge, Massachusetts.

For vice president — Charles G. Dawes, Illinois.

Democrat.

For president — Al Smith, New York.

For vice president—A. V. Donahey, Ohio.

"Nothing can stop Coolidge if he decides to be a candidate," said Fess, "and Smith will be nominated as surely as the sun rises in the morning."

Rural Lane Man Admits Possession of Liquor.

Philip Wingrove, Rural lane, paid a fine of $500 and costs today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley. He was represented by Attorney Frank Grosshans.

Wingrove was arrested after Captain Conley and Patrolmen Lister and McFarland raided his home Wednesday night. Police, who battered in the back door of the house, claimed that Wingrove was caught in the act of dumping a pitcher of whisky in the sewer. About half a pint of the liquor was saved as evidence.

Police said this is Wingrove's third liquor violation since Judge Hanley took office. He was fined $100 on the first offense and, about two months ago, paid $200 for his second offense. Wingrove's was the second $500 fine to be assessed by Judge Hanley for a liquor violation this week.

POLITICAL PAGES TURNED BACK TO LINCOLN'S TIME AS SENATOR BORAH AND DR. BUTLER DEBATE

BOSTON, April 9.—Dreams of leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties to have their organizations sit securely on the fence and watch the prohibition issue sweep by were shattered today, according to opinion in many political quarters, following the debate in crowded Symphony hall last evening between United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, on the dry issue.

The question under debate was: "Should the Republican national platform of 1928 advocate the repeal of the 18th amendment?"

Observers Call it "Draw."

While President Butler argued for the repeal of the amendment and Senator Borah, in a fiery reply, asserted that the amendment could be enforced and should not be disturbed, both speakers seemed agreed that prohibition is an issue to be reckoned with.

Robert M. Washburn, president of the Roosevelt club, sponsor of the debate, declared the "lesson of the meeting" was "That the constitution shall be enforced as written or as amended and that the present situation should cease."

The question of who won the debate was a much-discussed matter today. Some observers said it was "a draw." Others declared that the applause showed Senator Borah a victor. Still others asserted that Dr. Butler had won. Nine men, all prominent citizens, selected by a local newspaper as "Unofficial Judges" stood: Borah 6; Butler 3.

Outstanding today, however, above the question under debate was what political observers declared to be the turning back of political pages to the days of federalism, Jackson Democracy and the time before the Civil war—the return of public discussion by debates between champions of each side in a verbal battle royal.

Each speaker last evening presented his cause with brilliance. Dr. Butler declared the 18th amendment "a stupendous error," that public opinion forever prevents its enforcement, that the matter of prohibition should be left to states, that crime and corruption have followed in the wake of the prohibition law, and that government control, as in Quebec, is a possible solution.

"No aspirant for public office can

BURT DECLINES ROAD POSITION

Wheeling Man Refuses Tender of Governor Howard M. Gore.

A. Burt, of Wheeling, chairman of the commission appointed by the 1925 legislature to draft a workable tax law for West Virginia, last night, declined the appointment as state road commissioner tendered him by Governor Howard M. Gore.

Announcement of Mr. Burt's rejection of the affair was made following a conference he had with the governor. Governor Gore had offered Mr. Burt the vacancy on the road commission created by the resignation of Charles E. Hiner, who had charge of the automobile division of the highway department.

In connection with his announcement declining the appointment, Mr Burt issuing the following statement:

"It is a source of sincere regret to me that committments and obligations of a personal nature, which cannot immediately be adjusted, make it impossible for me to accept membership on the state road commision, as tendered by the governor. I have given serious thought to these obligations and the potential consequences of their abandonment and it is with reluctance that I decline this unusual opportunity for public service.

"The exacting work of the state tax commission has occupied a large share of my time in the last 18 months and this fact makes it doubly necessary for me to give needful attention to obligations and committments made by me prior to the tender of the honor conferred upon me and the confidence expressed by the governor and desire to give public expression to that fact."

To Install Elders.

Elders elected at a recent congregational meeting will be ordained and installed at the services tomorrow morning in the First Presbyterian church.

Kaynee Wash Suits FOR BOYS

A year's time brings a surprising growth to boys from 2 to 8 years. No doubt your son has outgrown his last year's wash suits and needs a new supply for the coming Spring. Of course every Mother is looking for serviceability in boys' washtogs. A healthy, sturdy boy needs to give vent to his energy and play instincts and his clothes must allow him free play.

You will will find the Kaynee Washtogs entirely satisfactory in the respect of durability. Made of the best of fabrics, they stand an enormous amount of wear. Every seam is double stitched. No chance is taken with the buttons—they are on to stay. Every detail is finished in a way that puts to shame even women's garments.

Not only are they durable, but they combine smartness and style with their serviceability. They are well tailored, manly little models with plenty of pockets to hold a boy's dear possessions.

We are now showing our new Spring display of these well-known washtogs. Among them are the button-on styles and the very popular belted Flapper suits. The latter are particularly in favor now.

These Kaynee washtogs come in all the gay new colors—shades of tan, blue, orange, green, etc., and keep their colors too, after many launderings.

There are broadcloths, linens, ginghams and suitings. Some are all of one color—others have plain color pants and dotted or striped waists. White collars and cuffs—embroidered motifs and other trimming features.

Sizes 2 to 8. Priced frof $1.95 to $5.75.

Boys' Kaynee Blouses - 79c.

Group of boys' Kaynee blouses—sizes 7 to 13. In neat percale prints and stripes on white backround. Well made—will withstand much wear and tear.

EVANGELIST TO CONDUCT MEETS

Evangelist Paul S. Rees, of Pasadena, Cal., will open a series of revival meetings tomorrow in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. He is a graduate of the University of California. Last summer he was one of the principal speakers at the Hollow Rock and Sebring camp meetings.

Meeting will be held every night at 7:30. Three services will be held on the last two Sundays of the campaign.

Revival to Continue.

Revival services will continue next week in the Second Baptist church in charge of Rev. F. M. Washington, D D. The meetings this week were largely attended. Special music is being featured.

To Fill Chester Pulpit

Rev. Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, will preach tomorrow night in the First United Presbyterian church, Chester. He will exchange pulpits with Rev. W. J. H. McKnight.

CHURCH MEMBERS HOLD MEETING

Plans for the proposed enlargement of Boyce Methodist Episcopal church were discussed last night at a congregational meeting which was addressed by Dr. H. S. Powell, district superintendent, Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen and members of the official board of the church.

The meeting was largely attended.

Pre-Easter Services.

Churches of this section of the city will unite in the pre-Easter services to be held next week. Services will be held in the respective churches.

Many Attend Services.

Services last night in the Tabernacle Church of Christ were largely attended. Rev. C. Melvin McKay had as his subject, "The Credentials of Love."

Mississippi River Traffic Increased By Six New Barges

MOLINE, Ill.—Six of the steel barges to be placed in service on the Mississippi river, between St. Louis and as far north of Moline as the river will permit, now are completed and will be placed in operation soon.

These boats, built at Dubuque, Ia., will be operated in conjunction with the Federal barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans. Additional barges will be constructed, if the traffic warrants.

These barges are of an advanced type and capable of operating when the water is at low stage, carrying 250 tons at a 4 foot depth and 500 tons when the water is higher.

It is hoped that eventually traffic will be such that fifteen or more of the boats will be operated.

Bob and Shingle Saves Lives.

That the bob and the shingle has saved many lives in England is the opinion gained in a symposium gathered recently. Alderman Ben Turner, of Batley, Yorkshire, president of the National Union of Textile Workers, said: "Bobbed hair has been one of the greatest blessings to women factory workers as regards safety, health, and cleanliness. Not for two years have we had a case of a woman's hair being caught in the machinery, whereas such accidents used to be rather frequent.' Dr. J. H. Wilkinson, Medical Officer of Health for Oldham, remarked: "The bobbed or shingled head has manifest advantages in the matter of cleanliness, especially where girls work among the fluff and dust of the cotton processes." "The Eton crop is perhaps best of all for cleanliness," said Dr. Buchan, Medical Officer of Health for Bradford.

Pullman Car Debaters

According to some Pullman car conversations, the nation is practically torn apart by vicious disagreement on the wet and dry question. There is no better place to hear exaggerated conversation than in the smoking compartment. It is an exaggeration to say that the wet and dry, or the enforcement policies of the Coolidge administration, are subject to doubt. Fortunately, we Americans are practically unanimous in favoring law enforcement on the ground of general decency.

So the Pullman car debaters may take the appointment of Roy Haynes by President Coolidge as an answer to all the exaggerated conjectures as to this and that angle of administration policy and settle down to a realization that Mr. Coolidge is attempting to secure the very best assistance in enforcing the prohibition law.

Roy Haynes may be kidded by the wet followers. He may be jibed by those who feel the Anti-Saloon league is a professional reformer. But the president knows him to be a sincere and consistent dry who believes in law enforcement. So do all good, substantial Americans whether they vote wet or dry. And therefore the appointment of Roy Haynes is decidedly a forward step in the national administration's prohibition policy.

Unclipped Coupons

A whole lot of people in this prosperous land bought Liberty bonds during the war, put them away in safe places and apparently proceeded to forget them and the nice little coupons which may be clipped twice a year and turned into ready cash.

The treasury department reports that tens of millions invested in these war bonds are untouched. None of their interest coupons have ever been cashed. This idle sum amounts to $35,000,000. If it were reinvested at only 3 1-2 per cent interest, it would net more than $1,000,000 a year.

There are other government securities which matured years ago but which are ignored by their owners. They are worth more than $40,000,000.

Americans may be as money-mad as some of their critics assert, but they are also amazingly simple or careless in some of their financial actions. Quite a number of things could be purchased with those neglected coupons—even the smallest of them would pay for a couple of movies or a good show, and the larger ones or the sum of a number of small ones would pay for more important things.

Understanding The News

A youngster in New York who will be graduated from high school next January has just won $70 in the World's "Biggest News of the Week" competition. One prize of $20 was the regular weekly award for the best essay on the biggest news. The other $50 was a bonus given for level-headedness and calm analysis of news.

The subject that this pupil chose was news from China. Many other pupils also picked that out as the most important, but they were biased in their discussion by the general confusion. They gave space to unverified reports and editorial assertions. The winner somehow overcame the handicap of public excitement. He says he studied the news in two daily papers and different viewpoints, comparing the reports in each and reviewing all the news at the end of the week. Thus he observed that there was considerable rumor and hearsay mixed among the verifiable facts.

That high school boy sets a shining example for adult newspaper readers and for adult writers on the Chinese or any other situation. May the lad who got $50 for being sane and open-minded retain that attitude as he grows up. He'll be a valuable citizen if he does.

Don't Be Sudden

"There is one bit of advice," says a big automobile man, "which if generally applied would prevent most of the automobile accidents:

"Don't do anything suddenly.

"Apply that to starting, stopping, backing, changing directions, turning, crossing railroads, entering intersections, etc., and nearly all the causes of accident are eliminated."

This is sound, worth thinking over and taking to heart. It is usually the man who does something quickly, different from what he was doing the instant before, who causes a mix-up or accident.

It is not a universal rule, however, as the giver realizes. For there are occasions when a person has to act suddenly in order to meet a sudden emergency caused by his own oversight or someone else's carelessness.

Perhaps the rule could be amended thus:

"Be careful about suddenly changing your speed or direction."

Will Rogers may be all right in his way, but he'd never make a real estate man. He says "a place looks better before it gets houses on it than it does afterwards."

China has one big advantage in dealing with the western powers. She can drive them out by simply refusing to have anything to do with them.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE STILL SMALL VOICE OF PRIDE.

To me, there is, along with the humor of this yarn, an underlying note of pathos, which as it should be. Comedy inevitably takes on added power when it actually is contrasted with tragedy. The story has an English setting, but the type it depicts is common in our country, too.

An elderly unmarried lady is the central figure of it. She was gently reared and all her life, until financial misfortune came to her, had been in comfortable circumstances. Now, though, she was much put to it for a means of livelihood.

Luckily, she owned a few hens and in the newly risen emergency she decided that it was incumbent upon her to swallow her pride and go forth in the highways and byways and peddle eggs.

But she did not altogether succeed in swallowing it, as the sequel will show.

With a basket on her arm she walked along the sidewalk of a bystreet in her native town saying, over and over again in an agonized whisper:

"Eggs, tuppence. Eggs, tuppence. I hope to Heaven no one hears me! I hope on one sees me! Eggs tuppence."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 9.—I was recently present at the denouement of one of those polite society thieves. He was a slick young rascal who knew all the answers and tossed nickels around like he might heroic statues in bronze.

He came as such pilferers do from nowhere in particular and in the careless Manhattan manner was accepted. He had the polish often acquired in living by one's wits. His talk was casually sprinkled with references to Mayfair and the Bois.

His selected victim was a young widow to whom he had been very properly introduced and to whom he had extended an invitation to dinner and the theater. At his first call on her he had secured a wax impression of the key to her apartment.

In the theater he begged to be excused to receive a long distance phone call and rushed with his confederates to strip her apartments of valuables. He was gone only a short time and after a midnight supper they arrived at her apartment around 2 o'clock to discover the loss.

He was the first to telephone the police and question employes of the building and his concern was so grave that not once was he suspected. The next day at luncheon she invited him among others. An old friend and world traveler was also present.

The young man talked glibly of out-of-the way corners of the world. The old friend listened and by a few adroit questions convinced himself the youth was a romantic liar. He jockeyed the talk back to the subject of robbery.

"I am greatly distressed," said the thief, "because Mrs. Blank was with me when it happened." After a silence the old friend remarked with steady calm, "If you are so distressed, why not return the valuables? I am convinced you are the thief." Deftly, he had uncorked a past that left a dramatic stain.

The young man arose haughtily and declared he had been so grossly insulted he would leave and see his accuser later. He was told a policeman awaited him in the foyer. He blanched and said: "I did it." His criminal record occupied two typewritten sheets. The loot was retrieved from confederates.

Not being satisfied with blending perfumes to personality, an intrepid idealist on Madison Avenue offers "a henna rinse to match the iris."

On top of this the well dressed man faces a new worry. Fashion decrees that sea green flannel suits will be the amoeba's ankles this summer.

Broadway Romeos find night wooing a fertile field for ardent wooing. Under the stimulating night life influence, lonely ladies are more inclined to accept flirtatious advances and in this mood they are often induced to joy ride to Connecticut for one of those early morning marriages. Thus inspiring such a gay tabloid headline as "Hooch Inspires Altar Romp."

A beauty parlor press agent slides down his brass pole to mimeograph the following: "One coating of our secret paste left on over night will make your face glow with wondrous light and your eyes sparkle like diamonds." One wonders the effect achieved by two coatings. But with Byron gone there is no one to describe it.

Thin, capsuled mustaches are disappearing and the youngsters who wore them have turned to Valentino burnsides. It gives the callow a sophisticated worldliness—which is, of course, the grand idea.

The most perfect set of burnsides in town are worn by Andreas De Segurola, the opera singer. They're just grand.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Neighborhood Plagrounds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—That playgrounds are an important factor in making good citizens of the growing generation has been a recognized fact for some time. There have been for a number of years organized playgrounds associated with the schools, and within the past few years many municipal recreation centers, both for grownups and children, have been established.

The Playground and Recreation association of American has now begun a nation-wide education campaign having two objects. The first is to interest real estate dealers in setting aside a part of each new subdivision for a playground and the second is to inform the general public so that they will demand a neighborhood playground when buying a home.

It is pointed out that the plan of setting aside a certain block of land for a neighborhood playground when planning a new subdivision, has advantages for all concerned. The realtor loses nothing by setting aside such a tract since the value of the land will automatically adjust itself to this factor, just as it does to the fact that space for streets must be subtracted from the subdivision. Since many people when purchasing homesites add to their list of questions about schools, car lines, water supply, and churches, that of, "Is there a playground near?" the lots would become more salable if there were a neighborhood playground.

While the buyer may get a little less ground for his money, or pay a bit more for his land, this is more than offset by the advantages of the playground. The mere fact that there is a place where the child may have supervised play and not be in constant danger of being struck by automobiles is worth the small additional expense to his parents.

William E. Harmon, of the Harmon Real Estate Corporation of New York City, was a pioneer in the movement of incorporating a playground in the plans for a new subdivision. He says that the success and practicability of the plan has been demonstrated. "The children now do their playing in enclosed and protected areas. Every resident is part owner in the playground movement and control and is actively interested. Risk of life and limb is eliminated. It has cost the subdivider nothing and his been a drawing card of great value. It has cost the residents very little and has paid enormous dividends in health and happiness to them and their children."

Realtors Assist.

As a part of its educational campaign the Playground and Recreation association of America has distributed among the realtors of America a pamphlet setting forth recreation fundamentals in real estate development. Persons to whom these are sent are asked to sign and return the coupon on the back if they approve these ten fundamentals, and already 243 leading realtors, city planners, and others have complied with this request.

Among other things these fundamentals say, "Upon real estate men more than upon any other leaders depends the extent to which the growing parts of our cities shall be real homes for the men, women and children living in them."

That realtors in many sections of the country are not only concurring verbally with the plan of setting aside playground areas, but are actually doing this, is shown by reports from various places. In Los Angeles County a new subdivision known as Palos Verdes States, with an area of some 3,000 acres is now being developed. It is estimated that the population of this section will ultimately be about 30,000. As a part of the general plan slightly more than 25 per cent of the entire property, or one acre in every four, has been dedicated for public parks, playgrounds, and other recreation features. Seven of those adjoin public school buildings.

There is a large recreation field of forty acres and an excellent eighteen hole golf course which is available to all property owners and residents without membership or other fees. All of these parks and recreation tracts are under the control of the Palos Verdes Homes association. They are fully developed by the subdivider, maintained by taxpayers, and deeded in perpetuity to the association for recreation purposes only.

Other Cities Follow.

In Hutchinson, Kansas, a new subdivision of 30 acres, an area of four acres has been set aside by the subdivider for park and playground purposes. This land has been deeded to the city which will be responsible for its development, maintenance, and operation.

In Shreveport, Louisiana, a new section of 1,400 acres, with an expected population of 12,000 business and professional people, has six areas for recreation. These include a golf courseo f 135 acres and parks and children's playgrounds totaling 110 acres. At Flint, Michigan, areas for

According to some Pullman car conversations, the nation is practically torn apart by vicious disagreement on the wet and dry question. There is no better place to hear exaggerated conversati- than in the smoking compartment. It is an exaggeration to say that the wet and dry, or the enforcement policies of the Coolidge administration, are subject to doubt. Fortunately, we Americans are practically unanimous in favoring law enforcement on the ground of general decency.

So the Pullman car debaters may take the appointment of Roy Haynes by President Coolidge as an answer to all the exaggerated conjectures as to this and that angle of administration policy and settle down to a realization that Mr. Coolidge is attempting to secure the very best assistance in enforcing the prohibition law.

Roy Haynes may be kidded by the wet followers. He may be jibed by those who feel the Anti-Saloon league is a professional reformer. But the president knows him to be a sincere and consistent dry who believes in law enforcement. So do all good, substantial Americans whether they vote wet or dry. And therefore the appointment of Roy Haynes is decidedly a forward step in the national administration's prohibition policy.

Unclipped Coupons

A whole lot of people in this prosperous land bought Liberty bonds during the war, put them away in safe places and apparently proceeded to forget them and the nice little coupons which may be clipped twice a year and turned into ready cash.

The treasury department reports that tens of millions invested in these war bonds are untouched. None of their interest coupons have ever been cashed. This idle sum amounts to $35,000,000. If it were reinvested at only 3 1-2 per cent interest, it would net more than $1,000,000 a year.

There are other government securities which matured years ago but which are ignored by their owners. They are worth more than $40,000,000.

Americans may be as money-mad as some of their critics assert, but they are also amazingly simple or careless in some of their financial actions. Quite a number of things could be purchased with those neglected coupons—even the smallest of them would pay for a couple of movies or a good show, and the larger ones or the sum of a number of small ones would pay for more important things.

Understanding The News

A youngster in New York who will be graduated from high school next January has just won $70 in the World's "Biggest News of the Week" competition. One prize of $20 was the regular weekly award for the best essay on the biggest news. The other $50 was a bonus given for level-headedness and calm analysis of news.

The subject that this pupil chose was news from China. Many other pupils also picked that out as the most important, but they were biased in their discussion by the general confusion. They gave space to unverified reports and editorial assertions. The winner somehow overcame the handicap of public excitement. He says he studied the news in two daily papers and different viewpoints, comparing the reports in each and reviewing all the news at the end of the week. Thus he observed that there was considerable rumor and hearsay mixed among the verifiable facts.

That high school boy sets a shining example for adult newspaper readers and for adult writers on the Chinese or any other situation. May the lad who got $50 for being sane and open-minded retain that attitude as he grows up. He'll be a valuable citizen if he does.

Don't Be Sudden

"There is one bit of advice," says a big automobile man," "which if generally applied would prevent most of the automobile accidents:

"Don't do anything suddenly.

"Apply that to starting, stopping, backing, changing directions, turning, crossing railroads, entering intersections, etc., and nearly all the causes of accident are eliminated."

This is sound, worth thinking over and taking to heart. It is usually the man who does something quickly, different from what he was doing the instant before, who causes a mix-up or accident.

It is not a universal rule, however, as the giver realizes. For there are occasions when a person has to act suddenly in order to meet a sudden emergency caused by his own oversight or someone else's carelessness.

Perhaps the rule could be amended thus:

"Be careful about suddenly changing your speed or direction."

Will Rogers may be all right in his way, but he'd never make a real estate man. He says "a place looks better before it gets houses on it than it does afterwards."

China has one big advantage in dealing with the western powers. She can drive them out by simply refusing to have anything to do with them.

My Favorite Stories

THE STILL SMALL VOICE OF PRIDE.

To me, there is, along with the humor of this yarn, an underlying note of pathos, which as it should be. Comedy inevitably takes on added power when it actually is contrasted with tragedy. The story has an English setting, but the type it depicts is common in our country, too.

An elderly unmarried lady is the central figure of it. She was gently reared and all her life, until financial misfortune came to her, had been in comfortable circumstances. Now, though, she was much put to it for a means of livelihood.

Luckily, she owned a few hens and in the newly risen emergency she decided that it was incumbent upon her to swallow her pride and go forth in the highways and byways and peddle eggs.

But she did not altogether succeed in swallowing it, as the sequel will show.

With a basket on her arm she walked along the sidewalk of a bystreet in her native town saying, over and over again in an agonized whisper:

"Eggs, tuppence. Eggs, tuppence. I hope to Heaven no one hears me! I hope on one sees me! Eggs tuppence."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 9.—I was recently present at the denouement of one of those polite society thieves. He was a slick young rascal who knew all the answers and tossed nickels around like he might heroic statues in bronze.

He came as such pilferers do from nowhere in particular and in the careless Manhattan manner was accepted. He had the polish often acquired in living by one's wits. His talk was casually sprinkled with references to Mayfair and the Bois.

His selected victim was a young widow to whom he had been very properly introduced and to whom he had extended an invitation to dinner and the theater. At his first call on her he had secured a wax impression of the key to her apartment.

In the theater he begged to be excused to receive a long distance phone call and rushed with his confederates to strip her aparments of valuables. He was gone only a short time and after a midnight supper they arrived at her apartment around 2 o'clock to discover the loss.

He was the first to telephone the police and question employes of the building and his concern was so grave that not once was he suspected. The next day at luncheon she invited him among others. An old friend and world traveler was also present.

The young man talked glibly of out-of-the way corners of the world. The old friend listened and by a few adroit questions convinced himself the youth was a romantic liar. He jockeyed the talk back to the subject of robbery.

"I am greatly distressed," said the thief, "because Mrs. Blank was with me when it happened." After a silence the old friend remarked with steady calm, "If you are so distressed, why not return the valuables? I am convinced you are the thief." Deftly, he had uncorked a past that left a dramatic stain.

The young man arose haughtily and declared he had been so grossly insulted he would leave and see his accuser later. He was told a policeman awaited him in the foyer. He blanched and said: "I did it." His criminal record occupied two typewritten sheets. The loot was retrieved from confederates.

Not being satisfied with blending perfumes to personality, an intrepid idealist on Madison Avenue offers "a henna rinse to match the iris."

On top of this the well dressed man faces a new worry. Fashion decrees that sea green flannel suits will be the amoeba's ankles this summer.

Broadway Romeos find night wooing a fertile field for ardent wooing. Under the stimulating night life influence, lonely ladies are more inclined to accept flirtatious advances and in this mood they are often induced to joy ride to Connecticut for one of those early morning marriages. Thus inspiring such a gay tabloid headline as "Hooch Inspires Altar Romp."

A beauty parlor press agent slides down his brass pole to mimeograph the following: "One coating of our secret paste left on over night will make your face glow with wondrous light and your eyes sparkle like diamonds." One wonders the effect achieved by two coatings. But with Byron gone there is no one to describe it.

Thin, capsuled mustaches are disappearing and the youngsters who wore them have turned to Valentino burnsides. It gives the callow a sophisticated worldliness—which is, of course, the grand idea.

The most perfect set of burnsides in town are worn by Andreas De Segurola, the opera singer. They're just grand.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Neighborhood Plagrounds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—That playgrounds are an important factor in making good citizens of the growing generation has been a recognized fact for some time. There have been for a number of years organized playgrounds associated with the schools, and within the past few years many municipal recreation centers, both for grownups and children, have been established.

The Playground and Recreation association of American has now begun a nation-wide education campaign having two objects. The first is to interest real estate dealers in setting aside a part of each new subdivision for a playground and the second is to inform the general public so that they will demand a neighborhood playground when buying a home.

It is pointed out that the plan of setting aside a certain block of land for a neighborhood playground when planning a new subdivision, has advantages for all concerned. The realtor loses nothing by setting aside such a tract since the value of the land will automatically adjust itself to this factor, just as it does to the fact that space for streets must be subtracted from the subdivision. Since many people when purchasing homesites add to their list of questions about schools, car lines, water supply, and churches, that of, "Is there a playground near?" the lots would become more salable if there were a neighborhood playground.

While the buyer may get a little less ground for his money, or pay a bit more for his land, this is more than offset by the advantages of the playground. The mere fact that there is a place where the child may have supervised play and not be in constant danger of being struck by automobiles is worth the small additional expense to his parents.

William E. Harmon, of the Harmon Real Estate Corporation of New York City, was a pioneer in the movement of incorporating a playground in the plans for a new subdivision. He says that the success and practicability of the plan has been demonstrated. "The children now do their playing in enclosed and protected areas. Every resident is part owner in the playground movement and control and is actively interested. Risk of life and limb is eliminated. It has cost the subdivider nothing and his been a drawing card of great value. It has cost the residents very little and has paid enormous dividends in health and happiness to them and their children."

Realtors Assist.

As a part of its educational campaign the Playground and Recreation association of America has distributed among the realtors of America a pamphlet setting forth recreation fundamentals in real estate development. Persons to whom these are sent are asked to sign and return the coupon on the back if they approve these ten fundamentals, and already 243 leading realtors, city planners, and others have complied with this request.

Among other things these fundamentals say, "Upon real estate more than upon any other leader depends the extent to which the growing parts of our cities shall be real homes for the men, women and children living in them."

That realtors in many sections of the country are not only concurring verbally with the plan of setting aside playground areas, but are actually doing this, is shown by reports from various places. In Los Angeles County a new subdivision known as Palos Verdes States, with an area of some 3,000 acres is now being developed. It is estimated that the population of this section will ultimately be about 30,000. As a part of the general plan slightly more than 25 per cent of the entire property, or one acre in every four, has been dedicated for public parks, playgrounds, and other recreation features. Seven of those adjoin public school buildings.

There is a large recreation field of forty acres and an excellent eighteen hole golf course which is available to all property owners and residents without membership or other fees. All of these parks and recreation tracts are under the control of the Palos Verdes Homes association. They are fully developed by the subdivider, maintained by taxpayers, and deeded in perpetuity to the association for recreation purposes only.

Other Cities Follow.

In Hutchinson, Kansas, a new subdivision of 30 acres, an area of four acres has been set aside by the subdivider for park and playground purposes. This land has been deeded to the city which will be responsible for its development, maintenance, and operation.

In Shreveport, Louisiana, a new section of 1,400 acres, with an expected population of 12,000 business and professional people, has six areas for recreation. These include a golf courseo f 135 acres and parks and children's playgrounds totaling 110 acres. At Flint, Michigan, areas for

DINNER STORIES

He emerged from the dining room of the fashionable hotel and went to the cloak room, where he nonchalantly proceeded to crush one silk top-hat after the other.

The attendant, surprised at his behavior, demanded the reason for his action, whereupon the other replied:

"I'm looking for my own. It's a collapsible, you know. None of these here seem to be it."

Her Error.

He had found himself paired with an extraordinarily active partner in a Charleston competition.

"I have never competed in one of these tournaments before," she said, while pausing to recover breath.

"Then perhaps you didn't know I was your partner?" he remarked bitterly, rubbing his ankle.

"Good gracious, no—I thought we were drawn as opponents."

IRENE RICH AT THE STRAND

Turning the tables, matrimonially speaking, is the basis of Warner Brothers' latest production "Don't Tell the Wife," starring Irene Rich and directed by Paul Stein.

Miss Rich and Huntly Gordon are seen as the Cartiers of Paris, well-to-do, devoted, just arrived at the end of their seventh year of married life. It is at their anniversary party, that Suzanne, a dazzling blonde, blows in. Hubby succumbs to her charms in spite of himself, and the lovely Madame Cartier, decides that she may help to avert further trouble by begining a flirtation with Roy, fiance of Suzanne—thus angering both that lady and Monsieur Cartier.

Madame's well-laid plan only causes the furious jealousy of her husband, and makes him determine to divorce her and marry the sort that gentlemen prefer. A friend intervenes with the usual disastrous results.

"Don't Tell the Wife," the gayest, Frenchiest, frothiest offering since "So This is Paris," comes to the Strand theatre Monday.

Following a romance that started in their adjoining yards in childhood, a couple, each 74 years old, were married at Walton, England, recently.

DINNER STORIES

He emerged from the dining room of the fashionable hotel and went to the cloak room, where he nonchalantly proceeded to crush one silk top-hat after the other.

The attendant, surprised at his behavior, demanded the reason for his action, whereupon the other replied:

"I'm looking for my own. It's a collapsible, you know. None of these here seem to be it."

Her Error.

He had found himself paired with an extraordinarily active partner in a Charleston competition.

"I have never competed in one of these tournaments before," she said, while pausing to recover breath.

"Then perhaps you didn't know I was your partner?" he remarked bitterly, rubbing his ankle.

"Good gracious, no—I thought we were drawn as opponents."

Turning the tables, matrimonially speaking, is the basis of Warner Brothers' latest production "Don't Tell the Wife," starring Irene Rich and directed by Paul Stein.

Miss Rich and Huntly Gordon are seen as the Cartiers of Paris, well-to-do, devoted, just arrived at the end of their seventh year of married life. It is at their anniversary party, that Suzanne, a dazzling blonde, blows in. Hubby succumbs to her charms in spite of himself, and the lovely Madame Cartier, decides that she may help to avert further trouble by begining a flirtation with Roy, fiance of Suzanne—thus angering both that lady and Monsieur Cartier.

Madame's well-laid plan only causes the furious jealousy of her husband, and makes him determine to divorce her and marry the sort that gentlemen prefer. A friend intervenes with the usual disastrous results.

"Don't Tell the Wife," the gayest, Frenchiest, frothiest offering since "So This is Paris," comes to the Strand theatre Monday.

Following a romance that started in their adjoining yards in childhood, a couple, each 74 years old, were married at Walton, England, recently.

FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL TRIAL CLOSES ITS FOURTH WEEK

DEFENSE HITS CHICAGOAN ON IDAHO RECORD

Cooperative Failure Dark Spot Against Wheat King.

REED JUBILANT

Plaintiff Will Resume Witness Stand Monday.

DETROIT, April 9.—One glaring example of a cooperative failure stood in the records of the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today as a dark spot against the record of Aaron Sapiro, so-called co-operative king.

The story of the failure of this co-operative—the Idaho Potato Growers' association—struck a heavy blow at Sapiro in his suit to collect $1,000,000 from Henry Ford because the auto king charged him with exploiting American farmers. This cooperative died, according to evidence, after Sapiro sued for fees and collected them over the pleading protests of the farmer-members.

Sapiro will have an opportunity later to tell his side of the story as the failure was described to the jury while he was under cross-examination. The Ford forces, led by Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel, were jubilant over the way the story was unfolded. They believed it substantiated Ford's charges that Sapiro took up the co-operative movement for his own profit and not for the benefit of American agriculture.

End Not in Sight.

The trial closed its fourth week yesterday and there were indications it will last at least another four weeks. Sapiro will resume the stand Monday for further cross-examination. Later he will be called to explain his own story of the cooperatives on redirect examination to be followed by further cross-examination. At that point, Henry Ford, now recovering from injuries suffered in an auto crash two weeks ago, is expected to take the witness stand.

The story of the Idaho Potato association was the high spot in the Ford defense. It was shown that Sapiro created the association by arranging to finance it during its formative state. He secured $4,000 in loans for the association from Weyl and Zuckerman, Los Angeles commission men, whom he later helped to get employment as the cooperative's selling agency. Sapiro himself was employed as general counsel.

The cooperative's troubles began at once and Reed placed an undenied statement in the record that Weyl and Zuckerman got a contract for handling potatoes at $37.50 a carload while other commission men were being paid $10 to $12 less a car. Members of the association complained against the commission men.

One Side of Story.

With the organization in financial difficulties, Sapiro was discharged. Through a clerk he brought suit for his fees, refusing a settlement at a reduced figure. The clerk collected even while officers of the association pleaded with Sapiro for leniency, saying the suit would wreck the association. Sapiro turned a deaf ear to the plea.

All this was placed in the record through the introduction of telegrams and letters between Sapiro and the Idaho growers. Sapiro denied none of the essential facts.

This was but one side of the story. Sapiro will have an oportunity later to tell his own. The picture that was drawn, however, made a deep impression on the jury.

Buckeyes Victors, 25 to 13, in Tourney At Washington, Pa.

The East Liverpool Buckeyes, an entry in the Tri-State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament under way today at Washington, Pa., came out on top in their first game, defeating the Washington Little City five, 25 to 13.

The Buckeyes are competing in the junior division. Two other East Liverpool squads, the Centrals and the Bulgers, are scheduled to get into action this afternoon.

Bandits Make Raid

and authorities immediately began a check-up of former employes.

The gang first grabbed Fred Peters, a watchman, forced him to lead them to where four firemen attended the furnaces and then bound and thrust the men into a rear room.

"Five of them jumped on me at once," said Peters. "Then I was led to the second floor where from suitcases they took a steel-burning outfit and commenced to operate on our main vault. I think one of the boys was a former employe. They called me by my nickname, 'Red,' and seemed to know just what they were doing."

For three hours the bandits labored over the massive safe, cutting around the combination and time lock. In the meantime two of the robbers, evidently appointed as guardians over the watchman, led Peters about his rounds, forcing him at the point of a pistol to give the "all's well" signal to the Central Protective agency located downtown.

$40,000 BLAZE IN OHIO TOWN

MT. VERNON, O., April 9.—Damage estimated at $40,000 to $50,000 was done to the business section of the village of Martinsburg, south of here, early today, before a fire of undetermined origin was brought under control.

The buildings wrecked or damaged included J. M. Hancock, general store, where the fire originated; a business block owned by Miss Cora Clark; home of Lee Norris, home of Mrs. Etta Russell, Allen's barbershop, home of Mrs. Josephine Giller, the D. C. Harmon Cafe, and Odd Fellow's hall.

Calls for assistance were sent to several surrounding towns, but fire departments were not sent as Martinsburg is without a water supply and fire apparatus would have been useless, it was said.

Stepdaughter Shot By Enraged Man at Fremont May Die

FREMONT, April 9.—Dorothy Smith, 16, whose right arm was shattered by a shotgun charge, fired by her stepfather, Charles Brandall, 38, here Thursday night, after he had first shot and killed her sister Audrey, 19, is still in a critical condition at Memorial hospital today. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Brandall, who was clubbed over the head with the shotgun by Brandall after the girls were shot, is rapidly recovering, following a blood transfusion operation to which she submitted in an effort to save Dorothy's life.

Physicians say the crisis will come in Dorothy's case today.

Funeral services for Brandall, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, seven hours after he killed Audrey, will be held at Bellevue Sunday.

Audrey's funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Waiter Arrested After Shooting in Lorain Restaurant

LORAIN, O., April 9.—A shooting affray in the California restaurant here today resulted in the serious wounding of one man and the arrest of a second.

Gomacinda Gomez, the wounded man, is in St. Joseph's hospital where it is expected he will recover. Raymond Lorenzo, a waiter in the restaurant, is held by police.

Lorenzo says that Gomez came into the restaurant and began forcing his attentions upon Stella Mechnak, pretty 17-year-old waitress. Lorenzo drew a pistol and fired three times, one of the bullets entering Gomez's jaw and coming out his neck.

Gomez ran into the street and dropped unconscious a block from the restaurant.

Lisbon Bank Opens Bids for Erection Of New Building

The Boldt Construction company, Cleveland, was the low bidder for a new building costing $60,000, which will be erected by the People's State bank at the corner of North Market and Park Way, Lisbon, it was announced today.

Seven bids were opened last night.

The present two-story brick building on the bank site will be razed beginning May 1 to make room for the new building which will be two stories high and extend to the postoffice quarters. The bank will occupy temporary quarters in the Ackley building while the new structure is under way.

Commissioners Call For Names of All Deceased War Vets

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the board of Columbiana county commissioners, Lisbon, today requested Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of the county to furnish the names and units of soldiers buried in Columbiana county cemeteries in order to arrange for grave markers.

Orders for these markers must be placed not later than April 18, in order to insure delivery before Memorial Day.

TWO MEN FINED $50 AND COSTS

Truman Cain and Peter Price, arrested yesterday upon charges of intoxication, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Cain was arrested in Second street by Patrolman William Lister at 5:40 o'clock last night. Price was taken into custody, also by Lister, in the Diamond shortly before midnight.

Ben L. Bennett Will Lecture in West End Church

Attorney Ben L. Bennett will lecture on the subject "Religion of a Four Leaf Clover" in the Curry Memorial church, West Eighth street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the West End Civic association.

Woman Killed When She Falls While Washing Windows

YOUNGSTOWN, April 9.—While washing windows here today, Mrs. Pose Viganni, 41, was killed when she fell from a stepladder, and fractured her skull.

TWO SLAYERS, ONE WITH OATH ON LIPS, DIE

James Lyon and George Thoma Pay Extreme Penalty.

THOMA CONTRITE

Havana Man Vents Last Oath Upon Accuser.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Two coffins left the Ohio state penitentiary here today bearing the bodies of George Thoma, 23, Mansfield, and James Lyon, 27, Havana, Huron county. The men last night paid the murderer's penalty in the electric chair — Thoma with tears of contrition, Lyon with a curse on his lips.

Lyon was the first to enter the death chamber. He was pronounced dead at 8:44 o'clock, while Thoma's life went out at 8:53.

Lyon's death ended a series of encounters with the law, culminating with his shooting of Frank McGrath, American railway express detective who visited the home of Lyon's mother to arrest him for robbery. Seated in the electric chair Lyon espied Frank Adelman who was with McGrath at the time of the shooting, and whose testimony was an important factor in the trial. It was upon Adelman that Lyon vented his last oath and words.

Mansfield Youth Leaves Note.

Thoma was the self-confessed slayer of the foster parents of his sweetheart, Bonetta Sherman. They had objected to his attentions. He was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Benjamin Greenwald.

The young Mansfield truck driver left a note with Chaplain Reed. In this letter he made little reference to himself or the crime for which he was executed, but declared that Lyon was a misunderstood chap and who hid his true friendly feeling behind a mask.

"I will tell the truth," Thoma's note concluded. "I never was near God on the outside, but it seemed to me I was only fooling myself until I was cornered in my cell, then I realized where I was standing. It was not solid ground, but on the brink of falling into the fire."

Lyon Plotted Suicide.

Warden Thomas this morning revealed that Lyon had plotted to take his own life with a knife, and Thursday had pleaded with his brother Leonard to bring him a knife.

Leonard is serving a life sentence for his participation in the killing of McGrath.

A dictaphone in the death house, the warden said, warned officials that Lyon pleaded with Leonard to bring him his mess knife of a piece of sharp steel from the power plant where he is employed. This Leonard refused to do, Thomas said, pointing out that the fine screen which separates the death house prisoners from their interviewers would have prevented such action.

Salem Motorist Sued for $10,450 After Fatal Crash

Thomas Cadwallader, head of a Salem discount company, was named defendant in a suit for $10,450 damages filed in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday, after he had been fined $20 and costs by Mayor George Russell, Salem, upon a traffic charge, in connection with the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, formerly of East Liverpool.

Conviction of Cadwallader, who was charged with having exceeded the speed limit at the time of the accident, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, according to his attorney, Everett L. Lyon, East Palestine.

The suit for damages was filed by Byron Williams, Lisbon, son of the victim who asks for $450 funeral expenses and $10,000 for the death of his mother.

County Medical Society Meeting to Be Held in Lisbon

Spring meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society will be held in the dining room of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Denison, Cleveland physician, will discuss "Health Education and Medical Publicity." Business matters, which will come before the 81st annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association, will be considered.

Dr. Harry Bookwalter, Columbiana, is president; Dr. Stanton Heck, Lisbon, vice president, and Dr. T. T. Church of Salem, secretary of the society.

S. P. Ankrim Leases Cafeteria Room For Five Years

For a consideration of $21,000, S. P. Ankrim has taken a five-year lease on the old Methodist Protestant church property, now known as the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street, according to a contract filed today in the county recorder's office at Lisbon.

The building is owned by Samuel Reiner and others of Steubenville.

The annual rental is $4,200 or $350 per month.

HORNSBY AGREES TO SELL STOCK

NEW YORK, April 9. — Rogers Hornsby and the National league finally have come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the stock of the St. Louis club which Hornsby held, President Heydler of the league announced here this afternoon.

"The agreement was reached," said Heydler, "and a price set for the stock which was satisfactory to all parties. Concessions were made by Hornsby, by the National league, and by the New York and St. Louis clubs. The stock reverts to Sam Breadon, to the benefit of the St. Louis club, and the whole situation is therefore cleared up, and Hornsby may play with the Giants without any hindrance from anyone."

week, were today turned over to Consul Berger and immediately released.

The Chinese police were unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant a consular trial of the two Americans.

Mrs. Mitchell is leaving for Tientsin and Shanghai and Burton will leave tomorrow.

Situation Growing More Critical.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The situation in China is regarded by Washington officialdom as steadily growing more critical.

The 1,500 marines, comprising the hastily recruited Third regiment, now being mobilized and moved across the continent to San Diego, will sail for China aboard the Dollar liner President Grant within ten days. This is but one indication of how seriously the government considers the present state of affairs in China.

The government has chartered the President Grant from the Dollar lines for an indefinite period, and she will be used as a transport.

Every incoming dispatch from Admirals Williams and Hough, as well as from Minister MacMurray at Pekin, emphasizes the growing seriousness of conditions in China, and extreme pressure is being brought to bear upon Americans in interior points to evacuate to either Shanghai or Tien-Tsin, where there are American forces sufficient for their protection.

At Hankow, seat of the Nationalist government, conditions "are steadily growing worse," Admiral Hough reported to the navy. Clashes between coolie mobs and foreigners are growing more frequent.

Radical Coup Feared.

SHANGHAI, April 9. — Despite claims of the Cantonese administration at Hankow that the breach between the communist group and conservatives has been healed there were indications today that it has widened.

Influential Chinese have appealed to Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, conservative leader of the Cantonese army in Shanghai, to cancel his plans for attending the military council at Nanking next week, for fear the radicals will attempt a coup in his absence.

Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is still master of the situation here in spite of efforts to depose him and despite the fact that he has only an army of about 11,000 men under him in the Shanghai zone.

Japanese warships have landed about 800 additional marines because of persistent sniping against Japanese guards along the north Szechuan road.

Soviet Investigates Raids.

MOSCOW, April 9. — "Russia will not be rushed into precipitate action," it was stated today by foreign office officials when comment was asked as to the action to be taken by the Soviets as the result of the raids on the Peking legation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 9.—The railroad stocks and the high-priced industrials and specialties moved forward impressively at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of the rally which closed Friday's active session.

Business news at the week-end was somewhat mixed. The cold weather prevailing in some sections of the country has retarded retail trade, and held up important agricultural activities. On the other hand, the big industrial producers report a satisfactory influx of new business, and their leaders are confident of a good volume of spring trade. Dupont's new 10 point gain, in the first half-hour of active trading, brought the price of the stock up 22 points from yesterday's close. General Motors topped 185 in the aggressive forward movement which has been one of the big sensations of a long and sustained market rise in speculative stocks. This movement is now well into its third year, and has accounted for price gains extending from 20 to 200 points in active stock.

The motor stocks wrested the leadership of the bull movement today from the railroad stocks, while the oils were again under selling pressure. After an early "demonstration" the railroad stocks, which have been making market history in the last few weeks, dropped back into secondary position, while the motors and specialties took the lead. General Motors, Hudson, Studebaker, Packard and other well known shares, combined with such specialties as Freeport Texas and Eureka Vacuum to make a moderately active and buoyant movement.

The week-end commodity markets were generally steady, with cotton, wheat and corn making fractional gains, while new buying of sugar, rubber and textiles was negligible. A reflection of the better textile market is seen in the new advance of the stocks of the textile companies. New equipment buying by the railroad companies was reported in large volume, with many new items in sight for the next month or two. Trading in United States Steel stock slowed down in anticipation of a slight decrease in the March total of unfilled orders, to be reported after the close of the market today.

YOUNGSTOWN BOY DIES OF BURNS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9—George Best, 6, is dead here today, another victim of that dangerous practice of children—"playing with matches."

Firemen arrived too late to save him from a burning loft, where he and his brother had been lighting the matches. The brother escaped by jumping.

Eckert to Rebuild Gasoline Station Destroyed by Fire

Gasoline filling station, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eckert, located in Harvey avenue near the state line, destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, will be rebuilt, the owners announced today.

The loss, according to Mrs. Eckert, was approximately $2,800, including a $400 electric plant, and is partially covered by insurance. The blaze is believed to have started from a cooking stove in one room adjoining the station.

Quebec Plan Scored.

Senator Borah demanded obedience to the law, which, he said, was a fundamental principal of government. He said the 18th amendment would never be repealed, that it had not been given a fair trial, that modification would mean a return to the saloon, that the Quebec plan has failed to prevent bootlegging in Canada and that right-thinking people would never consider putting Uncle Sam into the liquor business.

"The people have a way of making issues—and the people are not going to sidestep this issue," he declared.

G. O. P. LEADER HITS DONAHEY ON GAMBLING

Marion Man Answers Recent Tirade of Governor.

COURTS UPHELD

Reference Made to Relationship With Track Gamblers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"If there are any gambling devices being operated in any Ohio municipality, it is the result of tolerance, or cooperation, on the part of the municipal executives, based upon the same friendly relationship that exists between our present governor and the race track gamblers," reads a statement issued here by Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"Never before have I been so much surprised at an unwarranted attack, made not only upon the state legislature, but upon our courts as well, as was made in the recent tirade of our governor," said Warner, referring to the charge, voiced by Governor Vic Donahey, that the Ohio senate was being controlled by a slot machine lobby in the same manner that it was formerly alleged to have been controlled by a public utilities lobby.

The governor's accusation was made immediately following the action of the senate which, last Thursday, defeated the De Armond bill, said to have been approved by the governor, which sought to "put teeth" in the state law prohibiting operation of slot machines and other devices for gambling purposes.

"Personally, I am unable to understand the peculiar distraction pertaining to the operation of slot machines that seem to exist," continued Warner. "Owing to the fact that the officers of our city have been able to prevent the use of any kind of slot machines in our city, there has not been a slot machine operated in the city of Marion for more than 15 years, and the present laws are amply adequate to prevent the operation of any gambling device.

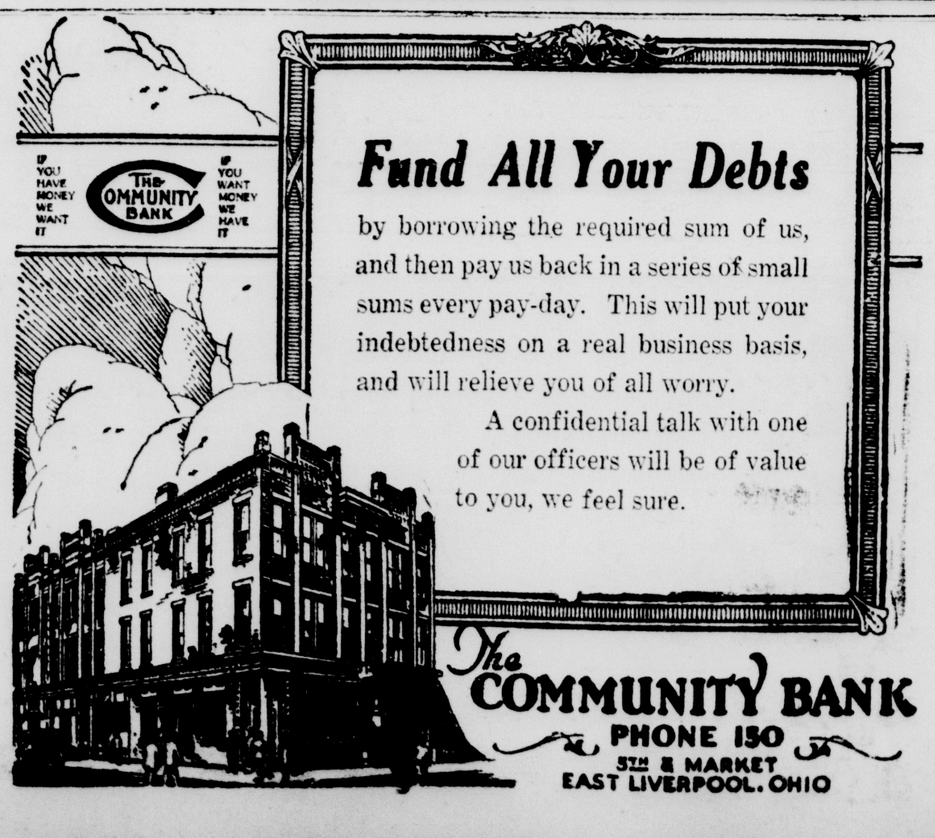

"What we need is not false teeth in our criminal laws, but honest backbone in our executive office," declared Warner. "The bill introduced by Senator De Armand, and which, he says, is the pet measure of Governor Donahey, seeks to prescribe what is and what is not, a gambling device. We are willing to have real teeth put in any law pertaining to the protection of our citizens, but we most seriously object to having any quack artist put in false teeth where good ones now exist."

Cutters Comb Sea Off Jersey Coast For Wrecked Plane

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A group of seaplanes and coast guard cutters were ordered dispatched from the Cape May, N. J., coast guard station today to look for an airplane reported to have fallen in the sea off the Jersey coast.

Coast guard officials announced here that all their planes were accounted for, and expressed the belief that the fallan plane either was a commercial ship, or one employed by rum runners.

FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL TRIAL CLOSES ITS FOURTH WEEK

DEFENSE HITS CHICAGOAN ON IDAHO RECORD

Cooperative Failure Dark Spot Against Wheat King.

REED JUBILANT

Plaintiff Will Resume Witness Stand Monday.

DETROIT, April 9.—One glaring example of a cooperative failure stood in the records of the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today as a dark spot against the record of Aaron Sapiro, so-called co-operative king.

The story of the failure of this co-operative—the Idaho Potato Growers' association—struck a heavy blow at Sapiro in his suit to collect $1,000,000 from Henry Ford because the auto king charged him with exploiting American farmers. This cooperative died, according to evidence, after Sapiro sued for fees and collected them over the pleading protests of the farmer-members.

Sapiro will have an opportunity later to tell his side of the story as the failure was described to the jury while he was under cross-examination. The Ford forces, led by Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel, were jubilant over the way the story was unfolded. They believed it substantiated Ford's charges that Sapiro took up the co-operative movement for his own profit and not for the benefit of American agriculture.

End Not in Sight.

The trial closed its fourth week yesterday and there were indications it will last at least another four weeks. Sapiro will resume the stand Monday for further cross-examination. Later he will be called to explain his own story of the cooperatives on redirect examination to be followed by further cross-examination. At that point, Henry Ford, now recovering from injuries suffered in an auto crash two weeks ago, is expected to take the witness stand.

The story of the Idaho Potato association was the high spot in the Ford defense. It was shown that Sapiro created the association by arranging to finance it during its formative state. He secured $4,000 in loans for the association from Weyl and Zuckerman, Los Angeles commission men, whom he later helped to get employment as the cooperative's selling agency. Sapiro himself was employed as general counsel.

The cooperative's troubles began at once and Reed placed an undenied statement in the record that Weyl and Zuckerman got a contract for handling potatoes at $37.50 a carload while other commission men were being paid $10 to $12 less a car. Members of the association complained against the commission men.

One Side of Story.

With the organization in financial difficulties, Sapiro was discharged. Through a clerk he brought suit for his fees, refusing a settlement at a reduced figure. The clerk collected even while officers of the association pleaded with Sapiro for leniency, saying the suit would wreck the association. Sapiro turned a deaf ear to the plea.

All this was placed in the record through the introduction of telegrams and letters between Sapiro and the Idaho growers. Sapiro denied none of the essential facts.

This was but one side of the story. Sapiro will have an oportunity later to tell his own. The picture that was drawn, however, made a deep impression on the jury.

Buckeyes Victors, 25 to 13, in Tourney At Washington, Pa.

The East Liverpool Buckeyes, an entry in the Tri-State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament under way today at Washington, Pa., came out on top in their first game, defeating the Washington Little City five, 25 to 13.

The Buckeyes are competing in the junior division. Two other East Liverpool squads, the Centrals and the Bulgers, are scheduled to get into action this afternoon.

Bandits Make Raid

and authorities immediately began a check-up of former employes.

The gang first grabbed Fred Peters, a watchman, forced him to lead them to where four firemen attended the furnaces and then bound and thrust the men into a rear room.

"Five of them jumped on me at once," said Peters. "Then I was led to the second floor where from suitcases they took a steel-burning outfit and commenced to operate on our main vault. I think one of the boys was a former employe. They called me by my nickname, 'Red,' and seemed to know just what they were doing."

For three hours the bandits labored over the massive safe, cutting around the combination and time lock. In the meantime two of the robbers, evidently appointed as guardians over the watchman, led Peters about his rounds, forcing him at the point of a pistol to give the "all's well" signal to the Central Protective agency located downtown.

$40,000 BLAZE IN OHIO TOWN

MT. VERNON, O., April 9.—Damage estimated at $40,000 to $50,000 was done to the business section of the village of Martinsburg, south of here, early today, before a fire of undetermined origin was brought under control.

The buildings wrecked or damaged included J. M. Hancock, general store, where the fire originated; a business block owned by Miss Cora Clark; home of Lee Norris, home of Mrs. Etta Russell, Allen's barbershop, home of Mrs. Josephine Giller, the D. C. Harmon Cafe, and Odd Fellow's hall.

Calls for assistance were sent to several surrounding towns, but fire departments were not sent as Martinsburg is without a water supply and fire apparatus would have been useless, it was said.

Stepdaughter Shot By Enraged Man at Fremont May Die

FREMONT, April 9.—Dorothy Smith, 16, whose right arm was shattered by a shotgun charge, fired by her stepfather, Charles Brandall, 38, here Thursday night, after he had first shot and killed her sister Audrey, 19, is still in a critical condition at Memorial hospital today. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Brandall, who was clubbed over the head with the shotgun by Brandall after the girls were shot, is rapidly recovering, following a blood transfusion operation to which she submitted in an effort to save Dorothy's life.

Physicians say the crisis will come in Dorothy's case today.

Funeral services for Brandall, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, seven hours after he killed Audrey, will be held at Bellevue Sunday.

Audrey's funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Waiter Arrested After Shooting in Lorain Restaurant

LORAIN, O., April 9.—A shooting affray in the California restaurant here today resulted in the serious wounding of one man and the arrest of a second.

Gomacinda Gomez, the wounded man, is in St. Joseph's hospital where it is expected he will recover. Raymond Lorenzo, a waiter in the restaurant, is held by police.

Lorenzo says that Gomez came into the restaurant and began forcing his attentions upon Stella Mechnak, pretty 17-year-old waitress. Lorenzo drew a pistol and fired three times, one of the bullets entering Gomez's jaw and coming out his neck.

Gomez ran into the street and dropped unconscious a block from the restaurant.

Lisbon Bank Opens Bids for Erection Of New Building

The Boldt Construction company, Cleveland, was the low bidder for a new building costing $60,000, which will be erected by the People's State bank at the corner of North Market and Park Way, Lisbon, it was announced today.

Seven bids were opened last night.

The present two-story brick building on the bank site will be razed beginning May 1 to make room for the new building which will be two stories high and extend to the postoffice quarters. The bank will occupy temporary quarters in the Ackley building while the new structure is under way.

Commissioners Call For Names of All Deceased War Vets

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the board of Columbiana county commissioners, Lisbon, today requested Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of the county to furnish the names and units of soldiers buried in Columbiana county cemeteries in order to arrange for grave markers.

Orders for these markers must be placed not later than April 18, in order to insure delivery before memorial Day.

TWO MEN FINED $50 AND COSTS

Truman Cain and Peter Price, arrested yesterday upon charges of intoxication, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Cain was arrested in Second street by Patrolman William Lister at 5:40 o'clock last night. Price was taken into custody, also by Lister, in the Diamond shortly before midnight.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett will lecture on the subject "Religion of a Four Leaf Clover" in the Curry Memorial church, West Eighth street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the West End Civic association.

Woman Killed When She Falls While Washing Windows

YOUNGSTOWN, April 9.—While washing windows here today, Mrs. Rose Viganni, 41, was killed when she fell from a stepladder, and fractured her skull.

TWO SLAYERS, ONE WITH OATH ON LIPS, DIE

James Lyon and George Thoma Pay Extreme Penalty.

THOMA CONTRITE

Havana Man Vents Last Oath Upon Accuser.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Two coffins left the Ohio state penitentiary here today bearing the bodies of George Thoma, 23, Mansfield, and James Lyon, 27, Havana, Huron county. The men last night paid the murderer's penalty in the electric chair — Thoma with tears of contrition, Lyon with a curse on his lips.

Lyon was the first to enter the death chamber. He was pronounced dead at 8:44 o'clock, while Thoma's life went out at 8:53.

Lyon's death ended a series of encounters with the law, culminating with his shooting of Frank McGrath, American railway express detective who visited the home of Lyon's mother to arrest him for robbery. Seated in the electric chair Lyon espied Frank Adelman who was with McGrath at the time of the shooting, and whose testimony was an important factor in the trial. It was upon Adelman that Lyon vented his last oath and words.

Mansfield Youth Leaves Note.

Thoma was the self-confessed slayer of the foster parents of his sweetheart, Bonetta Sherman. They had objected to his attentions. He was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Benjamin Greenwald.

The young Mansfield truck driver left a note with Chaplain Reed. In this letter he made little reference to himself or the crime for which he was executed, but declared that Lyon was a misunderstood chap and who hid his true friendly feeling behind a mask.

"I will tell the truth," Thoma's note concluded. "I never was near God on the outside, but it seemed to me I was only fooling myself until I was cornered in my cell, then I realized where I was standing. It was not solid ground, but on the brink of falling into the fire."

Lyon Plotted Suicide.

Warden Thomas this morning revealed that Lyon had plotted to take his own life with a knife, and Thursday had pleaded with his brother Leonard to bring him a knife.

Leonard is serving a life sentence for his participation in the killing of McGrath.

A dictaphone in the death house, the warden said, warned officials that Lyon pleaded with Leonard to bring him his mess knife of a piece of sharp steel from the power plant where he is employed. This Leonard refused to do, Thomas said, pointing out that the fine screen which separates the death house prisoners from their interviewers would have prevented such action.

Salem Motorist Sued for $10,450 After Fatal Crash

Thomas Cadwallader, head of a Salem discount company, was named defendant in a suit for $10,450 damages filed in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday, after he had been fined $20 and costs by Mayor George Russell, Salem, upon a traffic charge, in connection with the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, formerly of East Liverpool.

Conviction of Cadwallader, who was charged with having exceeded the speed limit at the time of the accident, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, according to his attorney, Everett L. Lyon, East Palestine.

The suit for damages was filed by Byron Williams, Lisbon, son of the victim who asks for $450 funeral expenses and $10,000 for the death of his mother.

County Medical Society Meeting to Be Held in Lisbon

Spring meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society will be held in the dining room of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Denison, Cleveland physician, will discuss "Health Education and Medical Publicity." Business matters, which will come before the 81st annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association, will be considered.

Dr. Harry Bookwalter, Columbiana, is president; Dr. Stanton Heck, Lisbon, vice president, and Dr. T. T. Church of Salem, secretary of the society.

S. P. Ankrim Leases Cafeteria Room For Five Years

For a consideration of $21,000, S. P. Ankrim has taken a five-year lease on the old Methodist Protestant church property, now known as the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street, according to a contract filed today in the county recorder's office at Lisbon.

The building is owned by Samuel Reiner and others of Steubenville.

The annual rental is $4,200 or $350 per month.

HORNSBY AGREES TO SELL STOCK

NEW YORK, April 9. — Rogers Hornsby and the National league finally have come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the stock of the St. Louis club which Hornsby held, President Heydler of the league announced here this afternoon.

"The agreement was reached," said Heydler, "and a price set for the stock which was satisfactory to all parties. Concessions were made by Hornsby, by the National league, and by the New York and St. Louis clubs. The stock reverts to Sam Breadon, to the benefit of the St. Louis club, and the whole situation is therefore cleared up, and Hornsby may play with the Giants without any hindrance from anyone."

MAYOR ON SAFE DRIVER LIST

Water Works Clerk Also Recognized by Traffic Man.

Two city officials—Mayor Ralph Benedum and Water Works Clerk Frank Robinson—were among the careful drivers listed by traffic officers, Thursday, in the Review-Tribune Safe Driving campaign. Each received a pair of tickets to the Ceramic theatre.

Other car owners whose license numbers were taken by traffic patrolmen Thursday and who will be entitled to theatre tickets are:

385-972 Peter Troiseme, 419 West Fifth street.

387-087 Muriel Andrews, 201 East Third street.

387-927 E. J. Hines, 314 Monroe street.

week, were today turned over to Consul Berger and immediately released.

The Chinese police were unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant a consular trial of the two Americans.

Mrs. Mitchell is leaving for Tientsin and Shanghai and Burton will leave tomorrow.

Situation Growing More Critical.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The situation in China is regarded by Washington officialdom as steadily growing more critical.

The 1,500 marines, comprising the hastily recruited Third regiment, now being mobilized and moved across the continent to San Diego, will sail for China aboard the Dollar liner President Grant within ten days. This is but one indication of how seriously the government considers the present state of affairs in China.

The government has chartered the President Grant from the Dollar lines for an indefinite period, and she will be used as a transport.

Every incoming dispatch from Admirals Williams and Hough, as well as from Minister MacMurray at Pekin, emphasizes the growing seriousness of conditions in China, and extreme pressure is being brought to bear upon Americans in interior points to evacuate to either Shanghai or Tien-Tsin, where there are American forces sufficient for their protection.

At Hankow, seat of the Nationalist government, conditions "are steadily growing worse," Admiral Hough reported to the navy. Clashes between coolie mobs and foreigners are growing more frequent.

Radical Coup Feared.

SHANGHAI, April 9. — Despite claims of the Cantonese administration at Hankow that the breach between the communist group and conservatives has been healed there were indications today that it has widened.

Influential Chinese have appealed to Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, conservative leader of the Cantonese army in Shanghai, to cancel his plans for attending the military council at Nanking next week, for fear the radicals will attempt a coup in his absence.

Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is still master of the situation here in spite of efforts to depose him and despite the fact that he has only an army of about 11,000 men under him in the Shanghai zone.

Japanese warships have landed about 800 additional marines because of persistent sniping against Japanese guards along the north Szechuan road.

Soviet Investigates Raids.

MOSCOW, April 9. — "Russia will not be rushed into precipitate action," it was stated today by foreign office officials when comment was asked as to the action to be taken by the Soviets as the result of the raids on the Peking legation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 9.—The railroad stocks and the high-priced industrials and specialties moved forward impressively at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of the rally which closed Friday's active session.

Business news at the week-end was somewhat mixed. The cold weather prevailing in some sections of the country has retarded retail trade, and held up important agricultural activities. On the other hand, the big industrial producers report a satisfactory influx of new business, and their leaders are confident of a good valume of spring trade. Dupont's new 10 point gain, in the first half-hour of active trading, brought the price of the stock up 22 points from yesterday's close. General Motors topped 185 in the aggressive forward movement which has been one of the big sensations of a long and sustained market rise in speculative stocks. This movement is now well into its third year, and has accounted for price gains extending from 20 to 200 points in active stock.

The motor stocks wrested the leadership of the bull movement today from the railroad stocks, while the oils were again under selling pressure. After an early "demonstration" the railroad stocks, which have been making market history in the last few weeks, dropped back into secondary position, while the motors and specialties took the lead. General Motors, Hudson, Studebaker, Packard and other well known shares, combined with such specialties as Freeport Texas and Eureka Vacuum to make a moderately activ- and buoyant movement.

The week-end commodity markets were generally steady, with cotton, wheat and corn making fractional gains, while new buying of sugar, rubber and textiles was negligible. A reflection of the better textile market is seen in the new advance of the stocks of the textile companies. New equipment buying by the railroad companies was reported in large volume, with many new items in sight for the next month or two. Trading in United States Steel stock slowed down in anticipation of a slight decrease in the March total of unfilled orders, to be reported after the close of the market today.

Quebec Plan Scored.

Senator Borah demanded obedience to the law, which, he said, was a fundamental principal of government. He said the 18th amendment would never be repealed, that it had not been given a fair trial, that modification would mean a return to the saloon, that the Quebec plan has failed to prevent bootlegging in Canada and that right-thinking people would never consider putting Uncle Sam into the liquor business.

"The people have a way of making issues—and the people are not going to sidestep this issue," he declared.

G. O. P. LEADER HITS DONAHEY ON GAMBLING

Marion Man Answers Recent Tirade of Governor.

COURTS UPHELD

Reference Made to Relationship With Track Gamblers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"If there are any gambling devices being operated in any Ohio municipality, it is the result of tolerance, or cooperation, on the part of the municipal executives, based upon the same friendly relationship that exists between our present governor and the race track gamblers," reads a statement issued here by Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"Never before have I been so much surprised at an unwarranted attack, made not only upon the state legislature, but upon our courts as well, as was made in the recent tirade of our governor," said Warner, referring to the charge, voiced by Governor Vic Donahey, that the Ohio senate was being controlled by a slot machine lobby in the same manner that it was formerly alleged to have been controlled by a public utilities lobby.

The governor's accusation was made immediately following the action of the senate which, last Thursday, defeated the De Armond bill, said to have been approved by the governor, which sought to "put teeth" in the state law prohibiting operation of slot machines and other devices for gambling purposes.

"Personally, I am unable to understand the peculiar distraction pertaining to the operation of slot machines that seem to exist," continued Warner. "Owing to the fact that the officers of our city have been able to prevent the use of any kind of slot machines in our city, there has not been a slot machine operated in the city of Marion for more than 15 years, and the present laws are amply adequate to prevent the operation of any gambling device.

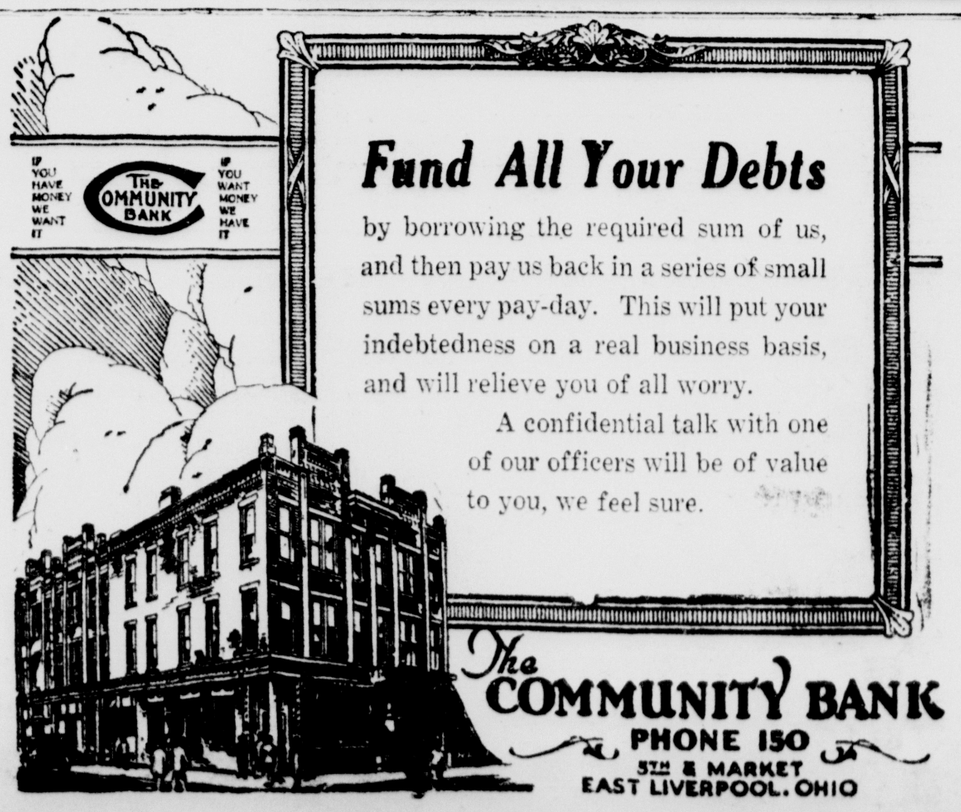

"What we need is not false teeth in our criminal laws, but honest backbone in our executive office," declared Warner. "The bill introduced by Senator De Armand, and which, he says, is the pet measure of Governor Donahey, seeks to prescribe what is and what is not, a gambling device. We are willing to have real teeth put in any law pertaining to the protection of our citizens, but we most seriously object to having any quack artist put in false teeth where good ones now exist."

Cutters Comb Sea Off Jersey Coast For Wrecked Plane

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A group of seaplanes and coast guard cutters were ordered dispatched from the Cape May, N. J., coast guard station today to look for an airplane reported to have fallen in the sea off the Jersey coast.

Coast guard officials announced here that all their planes were accounted for, and expressed the belief that the fallan plane either was a commercial ship, or one employed by rum runners.

BOY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR WELLSVILLE

RICHARD HAUGH CAR STRUCK BY STOLEN SEDAN

Unidentified Men Escape After Wreck North of City.

GIRL IS UNHURT

Thieves Abandon Machine Owned by East Liverpool Man.

Richard Haugh, high school youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haugh, of Seventh street, Wellsville, escaped with slight bruises when the Ford coupe he was driving in the Wellsville-Lisbon road, north of the city, last night, was struck by a Chevrolet sedan, driven by unidentified motor car thieves, who escaped following the crash.

The sedan was stolen from West Fifth street, East Liverpool, near the Elks' club last night, according to Edward Runyon, the owner.

The thieves, apparently, drove north in Lincoln highway and turned south again in the Wellsville road, at the West Point intersection..

Young Haugh and a girl companion, on a short trip to West Point, observed the car approaching and Haugh kept to the right side of the road.

The Chevrolet, apparently, was not under control, and crashed almost head-on with Haugh's machine which was knocked over an embankment.

The Chevrolet crashed against a rock at the roadside.

Two thieves, it is said, leaped from the car and disappeared in the woods along the roadway.

Haugh hailed a passing motorist to obtain transportation back to Wellsville. About an hour later the sheriff's office was notified.

Both machines badly wrecked, were taken to the Brennan garage.

MASONS STAGE DANCE PARTY

A large number of local and visiting Masons attended the dance held under auspices of Wellsville lodge, No. 180, F. & A. M., last evening in the Masonic temple, Main street.

Music was provided by DeMar Miller's orchestra. Refreshments were served by members of the local Eastern Star chapter.

The Masons will conclude their series of dance with a May party on May 6.

CONGREGATIONAL MEET WEDNESDAY

The annual congregational meeting of the First United Presbyterian church will be held on Wednesday evening.

Reports of all congregational organizations will be given, followed by the election of elders and trustees whose terms of office have expired.

Special services for Easter are being planned, including an early morning prayer service for Easter morning.

PLAN PROGRAM AT M. P. CHURCH

Faith Mission Children Have Part in Services.

A program of special songs, scripture readings and illustrated hymns will be given by children of the Faith Italian Mission on Sunday evening in the First Methodist Protestant church, Tenth and Main streets.

The usual Sunday services will be held at the Mission, with morning services at 10:30 and Sunday school at 2:30 p. m.

The Sunday night program follows:

Illustrated hymn, "America," sung by assembly.

Prayer.

Scripture lesson repeated from memory by children.

Selection by the children.

Illustrated hymn, "The Holy City"—By Rev. L. C. Momberg, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church.

Talk—Rev. A. W. Bonacci, of the Faith Mission.

Solo—By a mission girl.

Illustrated song, "The Star Spangled Banner"—Congregation.

Benediction.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the mission will be open in the afternoons. Illustrated talks will be given in the evening on "The Life," "Passion," "Trial," and "Crucifixion," of Jesus. The services will be public.

Pennsy Veteran Retires.

Concluding approximately 40 years of service with the Pennsylvania railroad company, George W. Woodward, of Center street, blacksmith, this month, retired from active duties, and his name was inscribed on the Pennsy's honor roll. Mr. Woodward went to work for the railroad in 1886.

Rev. Sharp to Preach.

In the absence of Rev. Thomas Berger, who has been summoned to Iowa by the death of his mother, Mrs. George W. Berger, Rev. John Sharp will occupy the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church Sunday.

Denies he Wielded Weapon With Suicidal Intent.

Thomas Huff, 77 years old, resident of Costonia, near Toronto, is recovering from a bullet wound sustained yesterday, when, it is said, he attempted to "shoot a cancer" off his left side.

Huff, according to people who knew him, lived alone in the rural district of Costonia.

Yesterday he obtained possession of a revolver and turned it against himself.

The bullet, hitting his body sideways, is said to have glanced off one of his ribs, failing to inflict serious injury.

Huff, questioned after neighbors had discovered his condition, denied that he had shot himself with suicidal intent.

He was taken to the Jefferson county infirmary.

P. T. A. TO HOLD FATHER'S NIGHT

Seek Large Attendance of Parents at Monday Session.

"Father's Night" will be observed at Monday night's meeting of the Central school building Parent-Teachers' association when an effort will be made to promote the attendance of parents of every student who is enrolled at Central.

The meeting will be held under chairmanship of W. R. MacDonald.

Every boy and girl attending classes at Central will be asked to have his or her father and mother attend the session and in order to stimulate the attendance, an individual prize will be awarded to the pupils of the grade who are successful in having the greatest number of adults present.

A program of speaking and music has been arranged for the meeting, including talks by Superintendent S. E. Daw, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church; selections by the Kiwanis club quartet and the boys' glee club, directed by Donald Hoover, public school supervisor of music.

R. E. PATTON'S MOTHER IS DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Patton, of Twelfth and Main streets, will leave today for Cochranton, Pa., where the former's mother, Mrs. Hattie Patton, died early this morning following a six week illness of heart trouble.

Mrs. Patton is survived by two children, a son, R. E. Patton and a daughter, Mrs. Vena Clinefeller, at home.

IRONDALE

The school will present "The Last Frontier" as the next of its programs of feature pictures at the school gym next Monday afternoon and evening. This is an epical story of western Kansas in 1867 when savage Indians resisted the white settlers, attacking wagon trains and committing frightful atrocies. The heroine is a brave girl, whose parents are slain by the Indians and who falls into the hands of a scroundrelly trader, who poisons her mind against a government scout whom she loves, to the end that he may win her. Then follows a series of thrilling scenes, including a great buffalo stampede, Indian raids, capture of the renegades, daring deeds by Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill and a beautiful climax. The story is from the novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is historically correct in every detail. Marguerite DeLamotte and William Boyd have the leading roles while J. Farrell Macdonald is seen as Wild Bill and Jack Hoxie as Buffalo Bill.

A social will be held by the school in the gym Saturday evening. All kinds of eatables will be on sale. Proceeds from the social will be used to complete payment of the lights which were installed in the high school building. A similar social held last fall netted approximately $60 for the light fund.

Snowball Gave Boy Start.

That a snowball was the cause of Benjamin Evans' good fortune through life was revealed recently following his death, at 85, at Llandvgwydd, Wales. On a wintry morning 75 years ago a group of boys were playing snowball in the village of Llechryd. Approaching them was a Mr. Buck, of Glynmarthen and Stradmore, a landed squire, who on observing young Evans with a snowball in his hand, said: "What are you going to do with that snowball, my boy?" Quick came the retort, "Hit you, sir." "Hit me, then," was the reply, and the snowball followed ... afterwards sent for the boy and engaged him as a page. He took a great deal of interest in the lad, encouraged him to continue his school education by coaching him in his own room, and when Buck died in 1882 Evans found himself in comfortable circumstances.

REED JUBILANT

Plaintiff Will Resume Witness Stand Monday.

DETROIT, April 9.—One glaring example of a cooperative failure stood in the records of the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today as a dark spot against the record of Aaron Sapiro, so-called co-operative king.

The story of the failure of this co-operative—the Idaho Potato Growers' association—struck a heavy blow at Sapiro in his suit to collect $1,000,000 from Henry Ford because the auto king charged him with exploiting American farmers. This cooperative died, according to evidence, after Sapiro sued for fees and collected them over the pleading protests of the farmer-members.

Sapiro will have an opportunity later to tell his side of the story as the failure was described to the jury while he was under cross-examination. The Ford forces, led by Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel, were jubilant over the way the story was unfolded. They believed it substantiated Ford's charges that Sapiro took up the co-operative movement for his own profit and not for the benefit of American agriculture.

End Not in Sight.

The trial closed its fourth week yesterday and there were indications it will last at least another four weeks. Sapiro will resume the stand Monday for further cross-examination. Later he will be called to explain his own story of the cooperatives on redirect examination to be followed by further cross-examination. At that point, Henry Ford, now recovering from injuries suffered in an auto crash two weeks ago, is expected to take the witness stand.

The story of the Idaho Potato association was the high spot in the Ford defense. It was shown that Sapiro created the association by arranging to finance it during its formative state. He secured $4,000 in loans for the association from Weyl and Zuckerman, Los Angeles commission men, whom he later helped to get employment as the cooperative's selling agency. Sapiro himself was employed as general counsel.

The cooperative's troubles began at once and Reed placed an undenied statement in the record that Weyl and Zuckerman got a contract for handling potatoes at $37.50 a carload while other commission men were being paid $10 to $12 less a car. Members of the association complained against the commission men.

One Side of Story.

With the organization in financial difficulties, Sapiro was discharged. Through a clerk he brought suit for his fees, refusing a settlement at a reduced figure. The clerk collected even while officers of the association pleaded with Sapiro for leniency, saying the suit would wreck the association. Sapiro turned a deaf ear to the plea.

All this was placed in the record through the introduction of telegrams and letters between Sapiro and the Idaho growers. Sapiro denied none of the essential facts.

This was but one side of the story. Sapiro will have an oportunity later to tell his own. The picture that was drawn, however, made a deep impression on the jury.

Buckeyes Victors, 25 to 13, in Tourney At Washington, Pa.

The East Liverpool Buckeyes, an entry in the Tri-State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament under way today at Washington, Pa., came out on top in their first game, defeating the Washington Little City five, 25 to 13.

The Buckeyes are competing in the junior division. Two other East Liverpool squads, the Centrals and the Bulgers, are scheduled to get into action this afternoon.

Bandits Make Raid

and authorities immediately began a check-up of former employes.

The gang first grabbed Fred Peters, a watchman, forced him to lead them to where four firemen attended the furnaces and then bound and thrust the men into a rear room.

"Five of them jumped on me at once," said Peters. "Then I was led to the second floor where from suitcases they took a steel-burning outfit and commenced to operate on our main vault. I think one of the boys was a former employe. They called me by my nickname, 'Red,' and seemed to know just what they were doing."

For three hours the bandits labored over the massive safe, cutting around the combination and time lock. In the meantime two of the robbers, evidently appointed as guardians over the watchman, led Peters about his rounds, forcing him at the point of a pistol to give the "all's well" signal to the Central Protective agency located downtown.

$40,000 BLAZE IN OHIO TOWN

MT. VERNON, O., April 9.—Damage estimated at $40,000 to $50,000 was done to the business section of the village of Martinsburg, south of here, early today, before a fire of undetermined origin was brought under control.

The buildings wrecked or damaged included J. M. Hancock, general store, where the fire originated; a business block owned by Miss Cora Clark; home of Lee Norris, home of Mrs. Etta Russell, Allen's barbershop, home of Mrs. Josephine Giller, the D. C. Harmon Cafe, and Odd Fellow's hall.

Calls for assistance were sent to several surrounding towns, but fire departments were not sent as Martinsburg is without a water supply and fire apparatus would have been useless, it was said.

Stepdaughter Shot By Enraged Man at Fremont May Die

FREMONT, April 9.—Dorothy Smith, 16, whose right arm was shattered by a shotgun charge, fired by her stepfather, Charles Brandall, 38, here Thursday night, after he had first shot and killed her sister Audrey, 19, is still in a critical condition at Memorial hospital today. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Brandall, who was clubbed over the head with the shotgun by Brandall after the girls were shot, is rapidly recovering, following a blood transfusion operation to which she submitted in an effort to save Dorothy's life.

Physicians say the crisis will come in Dorothy's case today.

Funeral services for Brandall, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, seven hours after he killed Audrey, will be held at Bellevue Sunday.

Audrey's funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Waiter Arrested After Shooting in Lorain Restaurant

LORAIN, O., April 9.—A shooting affray in the California restaurant here today resulted in the serious wounding of one man and the arrest of a second.

Gomacinda Gomez, the wounded man, is in St. Joseph's hospital where it is expected he will recover. Raymond Lorenzo, a waiter in the restaurant, is held by police.

Lorenzo says that Gomez came into the restaurant and began forcing his attentions upon Stella Mechnak, pretty 17-year-old waitress. Lorenzo drew a pistol and fired three times, one of the bullets entering Gomez's jaw and coming out his neck.

Gomez ran into the street and dropped unconscious a block from the restaurant.

Lisbon Bank Opens Bids for Erection Of New Building

The Boldt Construction company, Cleveland, was the low bidder for a new building costing $60,000, which will be erected by the People's State bank at the corner of North Market and Park Way, Lisbon, it was announced today.

Seven bids were opened last night.

The present two-story brick building on the bank site will be razed beginning May 1 to make room for the new building which will be two stories high and extend to the postoffice quarters. The bank will occupy temporary quarters in the Ackley building while the new structure is under way.

Commissioners Call For Names of All Deceased War Vets

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the board of Columbiana county commissioners, Lisbon, today requested Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of the county to furnish the names and units of soldiers buried in Columbiana county cemeteries in order to arrange for grave markers.

Orders for these markers must be placed not later than April 18, in order to insure delivery before memorial Day.

TWO MEN FINED $50 AND COSTS

Truman Cain and Peter Price, arrested yesterday upon charges of intoxication, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Cain was arrested in Second street by Patrolman William Lister at 5:40 o'clock last night. Price was taken into custody, also by Lister, in the Diamond shortly before midnight.

Ben L. Bennett Will Lecture in West End Church

Attorney Ben L. Bennett will lecture on the subject "Religion of a Four Leaf Clover" in the Curry Memorial church, West Eighth street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the West End Civic association.

Woman Killed When She Falls While Washing Windows

YOUNGSTOWN, April 9.—While washing windows here today, Mrs. Rose Viganni, 41, was killed when she fell from a stepladder, and fractured her skull.

TWO SLAYERS, ONE WITH OATH ON LIPS, DIE

James Lyon and George Thoma Pay Extreme Penalty.

THOMA CONTRITE

Havana Man Vents Last Oath Upon Accuser.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Two coffins left the Ohio state penitentiary here today bearing the bodies of George Thoma, 23, Mansfield, and James Lyon, 27, Havana, Huron county. The men last night paid the murderer's penalty in the electric chair — Thoma with tears of contrition, Lyon with a curse on his lips.

Lyon was the first to enter the death chamber. He was pronounced dead at 8:44 o'clock, while Thoma's life went out at 8:53.

Lyon's death ended a series of encounters with the law, culminating with his shooting of Frank McGrath, American railway express detective who visited the home of Lyon's mother to arrest him for robbery. Seated in the electric chair Lyon espied Frank Adelman who was with McGrath at the time of the shooting, and whose testimony was an important factor in the trial. It was upon Adelman that Lyon vented his last oath and words.

Mansfield Youth Leaves Note.

Thoma was the self-confessed slayer of the foster parents of his sweetheart, Bonetta Sherman. They had objected to his attentions. He was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Benjamin Greenwald.

The young Mansfield truck driver left a note with Chaplain Reed. In this letter he made little reference to himself or the crime for which he was executed, but declared that Lyon was a misunderstood chap and who hid his true friendly feeling behind a mask.

"I will tell the truth,' Thoma's note concluded. "I never was near God on the outside, but it seemed to me I was only fooling myself until I was cornered in my cell, then I realized where I was standing. It was not solid ground, but on the brink of falling into the fire."

Lyon Plotted Suicide.

Warden Thomas this morning revealed that Lyon had plotted to take his own life with a knife, and Thursday had pleaded with his brother Leonard to bring him a knife.

Leonard is serving a life sentence for his participation in the killing of McGrath.

A dictaphone in the death house, the warden said, warned officials that Lyon pleaded with Leonard to bring him his mess knife of a piece of sharp steel from the power plant where he is employed. This Leonard refused to do, Thomas said, pointing out that the fine screen which separates the death house prisoners from their interviewers would have prevented such action.

Salem Motorist Sued for $10,450 After Fatal Crash

Thomas Cadwallader, head of a Salem discount company, was named defendant in a suit for $10,450 damages filed in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday, after he had been fined $20 and costs by Mayor George Russell, Salem, upon a traffic charge, in connection with the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, formerly of East Liverpool.

Conviction of Cadwallader, who was charged with having exceeded the speed limit at the time of the accident, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, according to his attorney, Everett L. Lyon, East Palestine.

The suit for damages was filed by Byron Williams, Lisbon, son of the victim who asks for $450 funeral expenses and $10,000 for the death of his mother.

County Medical Society Meeting to Be Held in Lisbon

Spring meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society will be held in the dining room of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Denison, Cleveland physician, will discuss "Health Education and Medical Publicity." Business matters, which will come before the 81st annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association, will be considered.

Dr. Harry Bookwalter, Columbiana, is president; Dr. Stanton Heck, Lisbon, vice president, and Dr. T. T. Church of Salem, secretary of the society.

S. P. Ankrim Leases Cafeteria Room For Five Years

For a consideration of $21,000, S. P. Ankrim has taken a five-year lease on the old Methodist Protestant church property, now known as the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street, according to a contract filed today in the county recorder's office at Lisbon.

The building is owned by Samuel Reiner and others of Steubenville.

The annual rental is $4,200 or $350 per month.

HORNSBY AGREES TO SELL STOCK

NEW YORK, April 9. — Rogers Hornsby and the National league finally have come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the stock of the St. Louis club which Hornsby held, President Heydler of the league announced here this afternoon.

"The agreement was reached," said Heydler, "and a price set for the stock which was satisfactory to all parties. Concessions were made by Hornsby, by the National league, and by the New York and St. Louis clubs. The stock reverts to Sam Breadon, to the benefit of the St. Louis club, and the whole situation is therefore cleared up, and Hornsby may play with the Giants without any hindrance from anyone."

MAYOR ON SAFE DRIVER LIST

Water Works Clerk Also Recognized by Traffic Man.

Two city officials—Mayor Ralph Benedum and Water Works Clerk Frank Robinson—were among the careful drivers listed by traffic officers, Thursday, in the Review-Tribune Safe Driving campaign. Each received a pair of tickets to the Ceramic theatre.

Other car owners whose license numbers were taken by traffic patrolmen Thursday and who will be entitled to theatre tickets are:

385-972 Peter Troiseme, 419 West Fifth street.

387-087 Muriel Andrews, 201 East Third street.

387-927 E. J. Hines, 314 Monroe street.

388-884 Beatrice Keuper, 331 West Third street.

week, were today turned over to Consul Berger and immediately released.

The Chinese police were unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant a consular trial of the two Americans.

Mrs. Mitchell is leaving for Tientsin and Shanghai and Burton will leave tomorrow.

Situation Growing More Critical.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The situation in China is regarded by Washington officialdom as steadily growing more critical.

The 1,500 marines, comprising the hastily recruited Third regiment, now being mobilized and moved across the continent to San Diego, will sail for China aboard the Dollar liner President Grant within ten days. This is but one indication of how seriously the government considers the present state of affairs in China.

The government has chartered the President Grant from the Dollar lines for an indefinite period, and she will be used as a transport.

Every incoming dispatch from Admirals Williams and Hough, as well as from Minister MacMurray at Pekin, emphasizes the growing seriousness of conditions in China, and extreme pressure is being brought to bear upon Americans in interior points to evacuate to either Shanghai or Tien-Tsin, where there are American forces sufficient for their protection.

At Hankow, seat of the Nationalist government, conditions "are steadily growing worse," Admiral Hough reported to the navy. Clashes between coolie mobs and foreigners are growing more frequent.

Radical Coup Feared.

SHANGHAI, April 9. — Despite claims of the Cantonese administration at Hankow that the breach between the communist group and conservatives has been healed there were indications today that it has widened.

Influential Chinese have appealed to Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, conservative leader of the Cantonese army in Shanghai, to cancel his plans for attending the military council at Nanking next week, for fear the radicals will attempt a coup in his absence.

Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is still master of the situation here in spite of efforts to depose him and despite the fact that he has only an army of about 11,000 men under him in the Shanghai zone.

Japanese warships have landed about 800 additional marines because of persistent sniping against Japanese guards along the north Szechuan road.

Soviet Investigates Raids.

MOSCOW, April 9. — "Russia will not be rushed into precipitate action," it was stated today by foreign office officials when comment was asked as to the action to be taken by the Soviets as the result of the raids on the Peking legation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 9.—The railroad stocks and the high-priced industrials and specialties moved forward impressively at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of the rally which closed Friday's active session.

Business news at the week-end was somewhat mixed. The cold weather prevailing in some sections of the country has retarded retail trade, and held up important agricultural activities. On the other hand, the big industrial producers report a satisfactory influx of new business, and their leaders are confident of a good valume of spring trade. Dupont's new 10 point gain, in the first half-hour of active trading, brought the price of the stock up 22 points from yesterday's close. General Motors topped 185 in the aggressive forward movement which has been one of the big sensations of a long and sustained market rise in speculative stocks. This movement is now well into its third year, and has accounted for price gains extending from 20 to 200 points in active stock.

The motor stocks wrested the leadership of the bull movement today from the railroad stocks, while the oils were again under selling pressure. After an early "demonstration" the railroad stocks, which have been making market history in the last few weeks, dropped back into secondary position, while the motors and specialties took the lead. General Motors, Hudson, Studebaker, Packard and other well known shares, combined with such specialties as Freeport Texas and Eureka Vacuum to make a moderately active and buoyant movement.

The week-end commodity markets were generally steady, with cotton, wheat and corn making fractional gains, while new buying of sugar, rubber and textiles was negligible. A reflection of the better textile market is seen in the new advance of the stocks of the textile companies. New equipment buying by the railroad companies was reported in large volume, with many new items in sight for the next month or two. Trading in United States Steel stock slowed down in anticipation of a slight decrease in the March total of unfilled orders, to be reported after the close of the market today.

G. O. P. LEADER HITS DONAHEY ON GAMBLING

Marion Man Answers Recent Tirade of Governor.

COURTS UPHELD

Reference Made to Relationship With Track Gamblers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"If there are any gambling devices being operated in any Ohio municipality, it is the result of tolerance, or cooperation, on the part of the municipal executives, based upon the same friendly relationship that exists between our present governor and the race track gamblers," reads a statement issued here by Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"Never before have I been so much surprised at an unwarranted attack, made not only upon the state legislature, but upon our courts as well, as was made in the recent tirade of our governor," said Warner, referring to the charge, voiced by Governor Vic Donahey, that the Ohio senate was being controlled by a slot machine lobby in the same manner that it was formerly alleged to have been controlled by a public utilities lobby.

The governor's accusation was made immediately following the action of the senate which, last Thursday, defeated the De Armond bill, said to have been approved by the governor, which sought to "put teeth" in the state law prohibiting operation of slot machines and other devices for gambling purposes.

"Personally, I am unable to understand the peculiar distraction pertaining to the operation of slot machines that seem to exist," continued Warner. "Owing to the fact that the officers of our city have been able to prevent the use of any kind of slot machines in our city, there has not been a slot machine operated in the city of Marion for more than 15 years, and the present laws are amply adequate to prevent the operation of any gambling device.

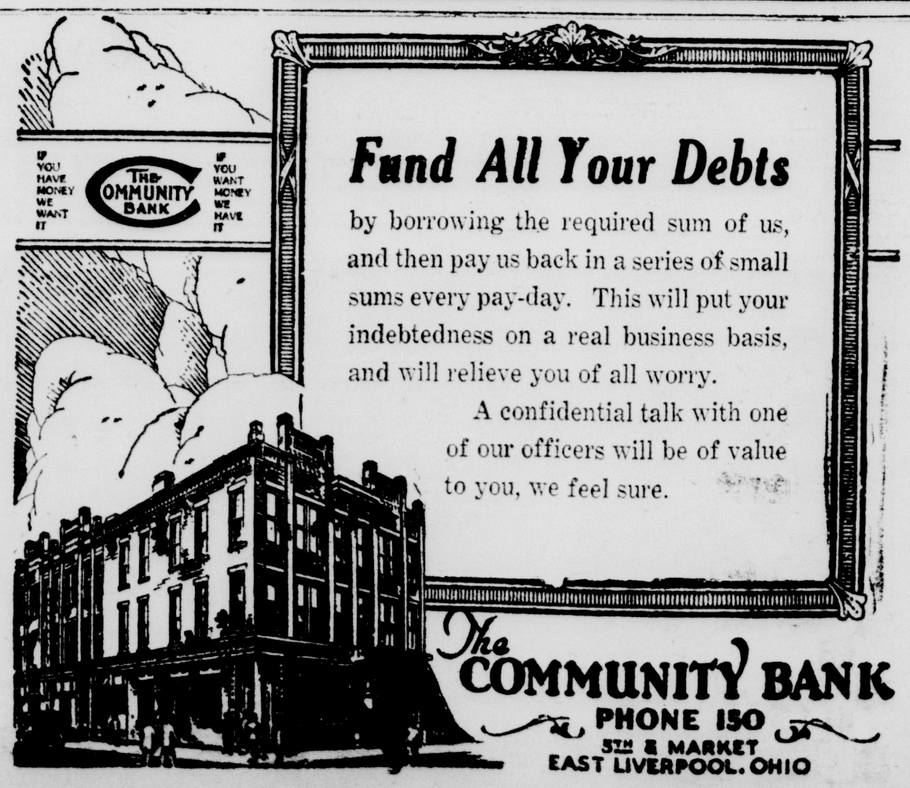

"What we need is not false teeth in our criminal laws, but honest backbone in our executive office," declared Warner. "The bill introduced by Senator De Armand, and which, he says, is the pet measure of Governor Donahey, seeks to prescribe what is and what is not, a gambling device. We are willing to have real teeth put in any law pertaining to the protection of our citizens, but we most seriously object to having any quack artist put in false teeth where good ones now exist."

Cutters Comb Sea Off Jersey Coast For Wrecked Plane

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A group of seaplanes and coast guard cutters were ordered dispatched from the Cape May, N. J., coast guard station today to look for an airplane reported to have fallen in the sea off the Jersey coast.

Coast guard officials announced here that all their planes were accounted for, and expressed the belief that the fallan plane either was a commercial ship, or one employed by rum runners.

FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL TRIAL CLOSES ITS FOURTH WEEK

DEFENSE HITS CHICAGOAN ON IDAHO RECORD

Cooperative Failure Dark Spot Against Wheat King.

REED JUBILANT

Plaintiff Will Resume Witness Stand Monday.

DETROIT, April 9.—One glaring example of a cooperative failure stood in the records of the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today as a dark spot against the record of Aaron Sapiro, so-called co-operative king.

The story of the failure of this co-operative—the Idaho Potato Growers' association—struck a heavy blow at Sapiro in his suit to collect $1,000,000 from Henry Ford because the auto king charged him with exploiting American farmers. This cooperative died, according to evidence, after Sapiro sued for fees and collected them over the pleading protests of the farmer-members.

Sapiro will have an opportunity later to tell his side of the story as the failure was described to the jury while he was under cross-examination. The Ford forces, led by Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel, were jubilant over the way the story was unfolded. They believed it substantiated Ford's charges that Sapiro took up the co-operative movement for his own profit and not for the benefit of American agriculture.

End Not in Sight.

The trial closed its fourth week yesterday and there were indications it will last at least another four weeks. Sapiro will resume the stand Monday for further cross-examination. Later he will be called to explain his own story of the cooperatives on redirect examination to be followed by further cross-examination. At that point, Henry Ford, now recovering from injuries suffered in an auto crash two weeks ago, is expected to take the witness stand.

The story of the Idaho Potato association was the high spot in the Ford defense. It was shown that Sapiro created the association by arranging to finance it during its formative state. He secured $4,000 in loans for the association from Weyl and Zuckerman, Los Angeles commission men, whom he later helped to get employment as the cooperative's selling agency. Sapiro himself was employed as general counsel.

The cooperative's troubles began at once and Reed placed an undenied statement in the record that Weyl and Zuckerman got a contract for handling potatoes at $37.50 a carload while other commission men were being paid $10 to $12 less a car. Members of the association complained against the commission men.

One Side of Story.

With the organization in financial difficulties, Sapiro was discharged. Through a clerk he brought suit for his fees, refusing a settlement at a reduced figure. The clerk collected even while officers of the association pleaded with Sapiro for leniency, saying the suit would wreck the association. Sapiro turned a deaf ear to the plea.

All this was placed in the record through the introduction of telegrams and letters between Sapiro and the Idaho growers. Sapiro denied none of the essential facts.

This was but one side of the story. Sapiro will have an oportunity later to tell his own. The picture that was drawn, however, made a deep impression on the jury.

Buckeyes Victors, 25 to 13, in Tourney At Washington, Pa.

The East Liverpool Buckeyes, an entry in the Tri-State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament under way today at Washington, Pa., came out on top in their first game, defeating the Washington Little City five, 25 to 13.

The Buckeyes are competing in the junior division. Two other East Liverpool squads, the Centrals and the Bulgers, are scheduled to get into action this afternoon.

For three hours the bandits labored over the massive safe, cutting around the combination and time lock. $40,000 BLAZE IN OHIO TOWN

MT. VERNON, O., April 9.—Damage estimated at $40,000 to $50,000 was done to the business section of the village of Martinsburg, south of here, early today, before a fire of undetermined origin was brought under control.

The buildings wrecked or damaged included J. M. Hancock, general store, where the fire originated; a business block owned by Miss Cora Clark; home of Lee Norris, home of Mrs. Etta Russell, Allen's barbershop, home of Mrs. Josephine Giller, the D. C. Harmon Cafe, and Odd Fellow's hall.

Calls for assistance were sent to several surrounding towns, but fire departments were not sent as Martinsburg is without a water supply and fire apparatus would have been useless, it was said.

Stepdaughter Shot By Enraged Man at Fremont May Die

FREMONT, April 9.—Dorothy Smith, 16, whose right arm was shattered by a shotgun charge, fired by her stepfather, Charles Brandall, 38, here Thursday night, after he had first shot and killed her sister Audrey, 19, is still in a critical condition at Memorial hospital today. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Brandall, who was clubbed over the head with the shotgun by Brandall after the girls were shot, is rapidly recovering, following a blood transfusion operation to which she submitted in an effort to save Dorothy's life.

Physicians say the crisis will come in Dorothy's case today.

Funeral services for Brandall, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, seven hours after he killed Audrey, will be held at Bellevue Sunday.

Audrey's funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Waiter Arrested After Shooting in Lorain Restaurant

LORAIN, O., April 9.—A shooting affray in the California restaurant here today resulted in the serious wounding of one man and the arrest of a second.

Gomacinda Gomez, the wounded man, is in St. Joseph's hospital where it is expected he will recover. Raymond Lorenzo, a waiter in the restaurant, is held by police.

Lorenzo says that Gomez came into the restaurant and began forcing his attentions upon Stella Mechnak, pretty 17-year-old waitress. Lorenzo drew a pistol and fired three times, one of the bullets entering Gomez's jaw and coming out his neck.

Gomez ran into the street and dropped unconscious a block from the restaurant.

Lisbon Bank Opens Bids for Erection Of New Building

The Boldt Construction company, Cleveland, was the low bidder for a new building costing $60,000, which will be erected by the People's State bank at the corner of North Market and Park Way, Lisbon, it was announced today.

Seven bids were opened last night.

The present two-story brick building on the bank site will be razed beginning May 1 to make room for the new building which will be two stories high and extend to the postoffice quarters. The bank will occupy temporary quarters in the Ackley building while the new structure is under way.

Commissioners Call For Names of All Deceased War Vets

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the board of Columbiana county commissioners, Lisbon, today requested Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of the county to furnish the names and units of soldiers buried in Columbiana county cemeteries in order to arrange for grave markers.

Orders for these markers must be placed not later than April 18, in order to insure delivery before memorial Day.

TWO MEN FINED $50 AND COSTS

Truman Cain and Peter Price, arrested yesterday upon charges of intoxication, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Cain was arrested in Second street by Patrolman William Lister at 5:40 o'clock last night. Price was taken into custody, also by Lister, in the Diamond shortly before midnight.

Ben L. Bennett Will Lecture in West End Church

Attorney Ben L. Bennett will lecture on the subject "Religion of a Four Leaf Clover" in the Curry Memorial church, West Eighth street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the West End Civic association.

Woman Killed When She Falls While Washing Windows

YOUNGSTOWN, April 9.—While washing windows here today, Mrs. Rose Viganni, 41, was killed when she fell from a stepladder, and fractured her skull.

TWO SLAYERS, ONE WITH OATH ON LIPS, DIE

James Lyon and George Thoma Pay Extreme Penalty.

THOMA CONTRITE

Havana Man Vents Last Oath Upon Accuser.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Two coffins left the Ohio state penitentiary here today bearing the bodies of George Thoma, 23, Mansfield, and James Lyon, 27, Havana, Huron county. The men last night paid the murderer's penalty in the electric chair — Thoma with tears of contrition, Lyon with a curse on his lips.

Lyon was the first to enter the death chamber. He was pronounced dead at 8:44 o'clock, while Thoma's life went out at 8:53.

Lyon's death ended a series of encounters with the law, culminating with his shooting of Frank McGrath, American railway express detective who visited the home of Lyon's mother to arrest him for robbery. Seated in the electric chair Lyon espied Frank Adelman who was with McGrath at the time of the shooting, and whose testimony was an important factor in the trial. It was upon Adelman that Lyon vented his last oath and words.

Mansfield Youth Leaves Note.

Thoma was the self-confessed slayer of the foster parents of his sweetheart, Bonetta Sherman. They had objected to his attentions. He was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Benjamin Greenwald.

The young Mansfield truck driver left a note with Chaplain Reed. In this letter he made little reference to himself or the crime for which he was executed, but declared that Lyon was a misunderstood chap and who hid his true friendly feeling behind a mask.

"I will tell the truth," Thoma's note concluded. "I never was near God on the outside, but it seemed to me I was only fooling myself until I was cornered in my cell, then I realized where I was standing. It was not solid ground, but on the brink of falling into the fire."

Lyon Plotted Suicide.

Warden Thomas this morning revealed that Lyon had plotted to take his own life with a knife, and Thursday had pleaded with his brother Leonard to bring him a knife.

Leonard is serving a life sentence for his participation in the killing of McGrath.

A dictaphone in the death house, the warden said, warned officials that Lyon pleaded with Leonard to bring him his mess knife of a piece of sharp steel from the power plant where he is employed. This Leonard refused to do, Thomas said, pointing out that the fine screen which separates the death house prisoners from their interviewers would have prevented such action.

Salem Motorist Sued for $10,450 After Fatal Crash

Thomas Cadwallader, head of a Salem discount company, was named defendant in a suit for $10,450 damages filed in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday, after he had been fined $20 and costs by Mayor George Russell, Salem, upon a traffic charge, in connection with the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, formerly of East Liverpool.

Conviction of Cadwallader, who was charged with having exceeded the speed limit at the time of the accident, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, according to his attorney, Everett L. Lyon, East Palestine.

The suit for damages was filed by Byron Williams, Lisbon, son of the victim who asks for $450 funeral expenses and $10,000 for the death of his mother.

County Medical Society Meeting to Be Held in Lisbon

Spring meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society will be held in the dining room of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Denison, Cleveland physician, will discuss "Health Education and Medical Publicity." Business matters, which will come before the 81st annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association, will be considered.

Dr. Harry Bookwalter, Columbiana, is president; Dr. Stanton Heck, Lisbon, vice president, and Dr. T. T. Church of Salem, secretary of the society.

S. P. Ankrim Leases Cafeteria Room For Five Years

For a consideration of $21,000, S. P. Ankrim has taken a five-year lease on the old Methodist Protestant church property, now known as the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street, according to a contract filed today in the county recorder's office at Lisbon.

The building is owned by Samuel Reiner and others of Steubenville.

The annual rental is $4,200 or $350 per month.

HORNSBY AGREES TO SELL STOCK

NEW YORK, April 9. — Rogers Hornsby and the National league finally have come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the stock of the St. Louis club which Hornsby held, President Heydler of the league announced here this afternoon.

"The agreement was reached," said Heydler, "and a price set for the stock which was satisfactory to all parties. Concessions were made by Hornsby, by the National league, and by the New York and St. Louis clubs. The stock reverts to Sam Breadon, to the benefit of the St. Louis club, and the whole situation is therefore cleared up, and Hornsby may play with the Giants without any hindrance from anyone."

week, were today turned over to Consul Berger and immediately released.

The Chinese police were unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant a consular trial of the two Americans.

Mrs. Mitchell is leaving for Tientsin and Shanghai and Burton will leave tomorrow.

Situation Growing More Critical.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The situation in China is regarded by Washington officialdom as steadily growing more critical.

The 1,500 marines, comprising the hastily recruited Third regiment, now being mobilized and moved across the continent to San Diego, will sail for China aboard the Dollar liner President Grant within ten days. This is but one indication of how seriously the government considers the present state of affairs in China.

The government has chartered the President Grant from the Dollar lines for an indefinite period, and she will be used as a transport.

Every incoming dispatch from Admirals Williams and Hough, as well as from Minister MacMurray at Pekin, emphasizes the growing seriousness of conditions in China, and extreme pressure is being brought to bear upon Americans in interior points to evacuate to either Shanghai or Tien-Tsin, where there are American forces sufficient for their protection.

At Hankow, seat of the Nationalist government, conditions "are steadily growing worse," Admiral Hough reported to the navy. Clashes between coolie mobs and foreigners are growing more frequent.

Radical Coup Feared.

SHANGHAI, April 9. — Despite claims of the Cantonese administration at Hankow that the breach between the communist group and conservatives has been healed there were indications today that it has widened.

Influential Chinese have appealed to Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, conservative leader of the Cantonese army in Shanghai, to cancel his plans for attending the military council at Nanking next week, for fear the radicals will attempt a coup in his absence.

Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is still master of the situation here in spite of efforts to depose him and despite the fact that he has only an army of about 11,000 men under him in the Shanghai zone.

Japanese warships have landed about 800 additional marines because of persistent sniping against Japanese guards along the north Szechuan road.

Soviet Investigates Raids.

MOSCOW, April 9. — "Russia will not be rushed into precipitate action," it was stated today by foreign office officials when comment was asked as to the action to be taken by the Soviets as the result of the raids on the Peking legation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 9.—The railroad stocks and the high-priced industrials and specialties moved forward impressively at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of the rally which closed Friday's active session.

Business news at the week-end was somewhat mixed. The cold weather prevailing in some sections of the country has retarded retail trade, and held up important agricultural activities. On the other hand, the big industrial producers report a satisfactory influx of new business, and their leaders are confident of a good valume of spring trade. Dupont's new 10 point gain, in the first half-hour of active trading, brought the price of the stock up 22 points from yesterday's close. General Motors topped 185 in the aggressive forward movement which has been one of the big sensations of a long and sustained market rise in speculative stocks. This movement is now well into its third year, and has accounted for price gains extending from 20 to 200 points in active stock.

The motor stocks wrested the leadership of the bull movement today from the railroad stocks, while the oils were again under selling pressure. After an early "demonstration" the railroad stocks, which have been making market history in the last few weeks, dropped back into secondary position, while the motors and specialties took the lead. General Motors, Hudson, Studebaker, Packard and other well known shares, combined with such specialties as Freeport Texas and Eureka Vacuum to make a moderately activ- and buoyant movement.

The week-end commodity markets were generally steady, with cotton, wheat and corn making fractional gains, while new buying of sugar, rubber and textiles was negligible. A reflection of the better textile market is seen in the new advance of the stocks of the textile companies. New equipment buying by the railroad companies was reported in large volume, with many new items in sight for the next month or two. Trading in United States Steel stock slowed down in anticipation of a slight decrease in the March total of unfilled orders, to be reported after the close of the market today.

shield himself behind the papier mache fortification of law enforcement," he declared.

Quebec Plan Scored.

Senator Borah demanded obedience to the law, which, he said, was a fundamental principal of government. He said the 18th amendment would never be repealed, that it had not been given a fair trial, that modification would mean a return to the saloon, that the Quebec plan has failed to prevent bootlegging in Canada and that right-thinking people would never consider putting Uncle Sam into the liquor business.

"The people have a way of making issues—and the people are not going to sidestep this issue," he declared.

C. O. P. LEADER HITS DONAHEY ON GAMBLING

Marion Man Answers Recent Tirade of Governor.

COURTS UPHELD

Reference Made to Relationship With Track Gamblers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"If there are any gambling devices being operated in any Ohio municipality, it is the result of tolerance, or cooperation, on the part of the municipal executives, based upon the same friendly relationship that exists between our present governor and the race track gamblers," reads a statement issued here by Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"Never before have I been so much surprised at an unwarranted attack, made not only upon the state legislature, but upon our courts as well, as was made in the recent tirade of our governor," said Warner, referring to the charge, voiced by Governor Vic Donahey, that the Ohio senate was being controlled by a slot machine lobby in the same manner that it was formerly alleged to have been controlled by a public utilities lobby.

The governor's accusation was made immediately following the action of the senate which, last Thursday, defeated the De Armond bill, said to have been approved by the governor, which sought to "put teeth" in the state law prohibiting operation of slot machines and other devices for gambling purposes.

"Personally, I am unable to understand the peculiar distraction pertaining to the operation of slot machines that seem to exist," continued Warner. "Owing to the fact that the officers of our city have been able to prevent the use of any kind of slot machines in our city, there has not been a slot machine operated in the city of Marion for more than 15 years, and the present laws are amply adequate to prevent the operation of any gambling device.

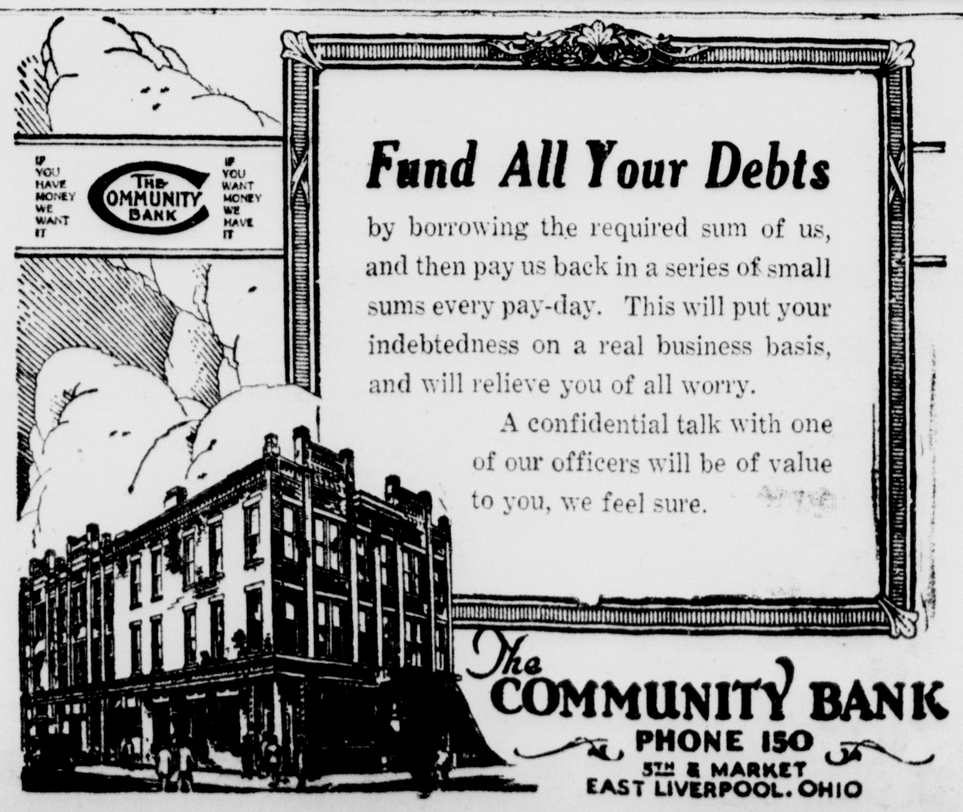

"What we need is not false teeth in our criminal laws, but honest backbone in our executive office," declared Warner. "The bill introduced by Senator De Armand, and which, he says, is the pet measure of Governor Donahey, seeks to prescribe what is and what is not, a gambling device. We are willing to have real teeth put in any law pertaining to the protection of our citizens, but we most seriously object to having any quack artist put in false teeth where good ones now exist."

Cutters Comb Sea Off Jersey Coast For Wrecked Plane

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A group of seaplanes and coast guard cutters were ordered dispatched from the Cape May, N. J., coast guard station today to look for an airplane reported to have fallen in the sea off the Jersey coast.

Coast guard officials announced here that all their planes were accounted for, and expressed the belief that the fallan plane either was a commercial ship, or one employed by rum runners.

BOY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR WELLSVILLE

RICHARD HAUGH CAR STRUCK BY STOLEN SEDAN

Unidentified Men Escape After Wreck North of City.

GIRL IS UNHURT

Thieves Abandon Machine Owned by East Liverpool Man.

Richard Haugh, high school youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haugh, of Seventh street, Wellsville, escaped with slight bruises when the Ford coupe he was driving in the Wellsville-Lisbon road, north of the city, last night, was struck by a Chevrolet sedan, driven by unidentified motor car thieves, who escaped following the crash.

The sedan was stolen from West Fifth street, East Liverpool, near the Elks' club last night, according to Edward Runyon, the owner.

The thieves, apparently, drove north in Lincoln highway and turned south again in the Wellsville road, at the West Point intersection.

Young Haugh and a girl companion, on a short trip to West Point, observed the car approaching and Haugh kept to the right side of the road.

The Chevrolet, apparently, was not under control, and crashed almost head-on with Haugh's machine which was knocked over an embankment.

The Chevrolet crashed against a rock at the roadside.

Two thieves, it is said, leaped from the car and disappeared in the woods along the roadway.

Haugh hailed a passing motorist to obtain transportation back to Wellsville. About an hour later the sheriff's office was notified.

Both machines badly wrecked, were taken to the Brennan garage.

MASONS STAGE DANCE PARTY

A large number of local and visiting Masons attended the dance held under auspices of Wellsville lodge, No. 180, F. & A. M., last evening in the Masonic temple, Main street.

Music was provided by DeMar Miller's orchestra. Refreshments were served by members of the local Eastern Star chapter.

The Masons will conclude their series of dance with a May party on May 6.

USES REVOLVER TO SHOOT OFF CANCER ON SIDE

Aged Costonia Man Taken to County Infirmary.

WILL RECOVER

Denies he Wielded Weapon With Suicidal Intent.

Thomas Huff, 77 years old, resident of Costonia, near Toronto, is recovering from a bullet wound sustained yesterday, when, it is said, he attempted to "shoot a cancer" off his left side.

Huff, according to people who knew him, lived alone in the rural district of Costonia.

Yesterday he obtained possession of a revolver and turned it against himself.

The bullet, hitting his body sideways, is said to have glanced off one of his ribs, failing to inflict serious injury.

Huff, questioned after neighbors had discovered his condition, denied that he had shot himself with suicidal intent.

He was taken to the Jefferson county infirmary.

P. T. A. TO HOLD FATHER'S NIGHT

Seek Large Attendance of Parents at Monday Session.

"Father's Night" will be observed at Monday night's meeting of the Central school building Parent-Teachers' association when an effort will be made to promote the attendance of parents of every student who is enrolled at Central.

The meeting will be held under chairmanship of W. R. MacDonald.

Every boy and girl attending classes at Central will be asked to have his or her father and mother attend the session and in order to stimulate the attendance, an individual prize will be awarded to the pupils of the grade who are successful in having the greatest number of adults present.

A program of speaking and music has been arranged for the meeting, including talks by Superintendent S. E. Daw, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church; selections by the Kiwanis club quartet and the boys' glee club, directed by Donald Hoover, public school supervisor of music.

A mass meeting for men and boys will be held at 2:30 p. m. with a talk by Dr. Birney on the subject, "The Devil's Workshop."

Miss Mary Morgan will be in charge of the Epworth League meeting at 6 p. m.

"The Tragedy of the Eleventh Hour" will be Dr. Birney's topic for the evening meeting at 7:30. A duet by Mrs. E. A. Turner and Mrs. Eva McCombs will be a feature of the musical program.

IRONDALE

The school will present "The Last Frontier" as the next of its programs of feature pictures at the school gym next Monday afternoon and evening. This is an epical story of western Kansas in 1867 when savage Indians resisted the white settlers, attacking wagon trains and committing frightful atrocies. The heroine is a brave girl, whose parents are slain by the Indians and who falls into the hands of a scroundrelly trader, who poisons her mind against a government scout whom she loves, to the end that he may win her. Then follows a series of thrilling scenes, including a great buffalo stampede, Indian raids, capture of the renegades, daring deeds by Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill and a beautiful climax. The story is from the novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is historically correct in every detail. Marguerite DeLamotte and William Boyd have the leading roles while J. Farrell Macdonald is seen as Wild Bill and Jack Hoxie as Buffalo Bill.

A social will be held by the school in the gym Saturday evening. All kinds of eatables will be on sale. Proceeds from the social will be used to complete payment of the lights which were installed in the high school building. A similar social held last fall netted approximately $60 for the light fund.

Snowball Gave Boy Start.

That a snowball was the cause of Benjamin Evans' good fortune through life was revealed recently following his death, at 85, at Llandygwydd, Wales. On a wintry morning 75 years ago a group of boys were playing snowball in the village of Llechryd. Approaching them was a Mr. Buck, of Glynmarthen and Stradmore, a landed squire, who on observing young Evans with a snowball in his hand, said: "What are you going to do with that snowball, my boy?" Quick came the retort, "Hit you, sir." "Hit me, then," was the reply, and the snowball followed. He afterwards sent for the boy and engaged him as a page. He took a great deal of interest in the lad, encouraged him to continue his school education by coaching him in his own room, and when Buck died in 1882 Evans found himself in comfortable circumstances.

BOY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR WELLSVILLE

RICHARD HAUGH CAR STRUCK BY STOLEN SEDAN

Unidentified Men Escape After Wreck North of City.

GIRL IS UNHURT

Thieves Abandon Machine Owned by East Liverpool Man.

Richard Haugh, high school youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haugh, of Seventh street, Wellsville, escaped with slight bruises when the Ford coupe he was driving in the Wellsville-Lisbon road, north of the city, last night, was struck by a Chevrolet sedan, driven by unidentified motor car thieves, who escaped following the crash.

The sedan was stolen from West Fifth street, East Liverpool, near the Elks' club last night, according to Edward Runyon, the owner.

The thieves, apparently, drove north in Lincoln highway and turned south again in the Wellsville road, at the West Point intersection..

Young Haugh and a girl companion, on a short trip to West Point, observed the car approaching and Haugh kept to the right side of the road.

The Chevrolet, apparently, was not under control, and crashed almost head-on with Haugh's machine which was knocked over an embankment.

The Chevrolet crashed against a rock at the roadside.

Two thieves, it is said, leaped from the car and disappeared in the woods along the roadway.

Haugh hailed a passing motorist to obtain transportation back to Wellsville. About an hour later the sheriff's office was notified.

Both machines badly wrecked, were taken to the Brennan garage.

MASONS STAGE DANCE PARTY

A large number of local and visiting Masons attended the dance held under auspices of Wellsville lodge, No. 180, F. & A. M., last evening in the Masonic temple, Main street.

Music was provided by DeMar Miller's orchestra. Refreshments were served by members of the local Eastern Star chapter.

The Masons will conclude their series of dance with a May party on May 6.

Thomas Huff, 77 years old, resident of Costonia, near Toronto, is recovering from a bullet wound sustained yesterday, when, it is said, he attempted to "shoot a cancer" off his left side.

Huff, according to people who knew him, lived alone in the rural district of Costonia.

Yesterday he obtained possession of a revolver and turned it against himself.

The bullet, hitting his body sideways, is said to have glanced off one of his ribs, failing to inflict serious injury.

Huff, questioned after neighbors had discovered his condition, denied that he had shot himself with suicidal intent.

He was taken to the Jefferson county infirmary.

P. T. A. TO HOLD FATHER'S NIGHT

Seek Large Attendance of Parents at Monday Session.

"Father's Night" will be observed at Monday night's meeting of the Central school building Parent-Teachers' association when an effort will be made to promote the attendance of parents of every student who is enrolled at Central.

The meeting will be held under chairmanship of W. R. MacDonald.

Every boy and girl attending classes at Central will be asked to have his or her father and mother attend the session and in order to stimulate the attendance, an individual prize will be awarded to the pupils of the grade who are successful in having the greatest number of adults present.

A program of speaking and music has been arranged for the meeting, including talks by Superintendent S. E. Daw, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church; selections by the Kiwanis club quartet and the boys' glee club, directed by Donald Hoover, public school supervisor of music.

BE IN CHURCH SUNDAY

"RESURRECTION, TEST AND PROOF OF CHRISTIANITY," SAYS PASTOR

Sermon by Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of Second Presbyterian Church.

By Rev. F. A. Dean.

I.

Jesus Exercised Miracle Power as the Supreme Test of His Deity.

From the first grand sign, the turning of water into wine at Cana, Jesus began a series of miracles, signs and wonders, supernatural transactions, continuing to the moment in the garden when He said, "I am He," and the soldiers went backward and fell to the ground. These miracles were wrought by the special fiats of His own Deity tottest and prove that He was God.

Throughout His mission He used supremely supernatural evidence to attest His Deity. His miracle power never failed, always more than equal to every emergency, instantaneous, victorious. His word, His look, His will was as the lightning flash. Every miracle fully attested His Deity; test, proof, demonstration were complete. Instantly He withstood any power or force brought against Him or His kingdom by demon, man or nature.

With a flash of His will He could restore the rotting corpse to life, loathsome diseases disfiguring the human body disappear at His command. Tempests drop to a calm at the mere exercise of His wish; He created the bread in His fingers to feed a hungry multitude, and all things visible and invisible, whether they were thrones or dominions of principalities or powers, all things were under the immediate control of His Deity.

This constant exercise of unlimited miracle power of Jesus created in the minds and hearts of the disciples the absolute and full belief that Jesus was the King, the Messiah long foretold. It was His miracle power displayed on all occasions with such majesty and glory of execution, each miracle having in itself the stamp of His divine nature, that made them absolutely certain that He was God, the Son of God, the Messiah. This faith in His Deity continued unshakable until Jesus actually died on the cross.

The tremendous miracle power Jesus constantly wielded also filled the minds of the disciples with the overwhelming conviction that the spiritual kingdom with all its majesty and grandeur was to be immediately established. Such hopes aroused them to the uttermost and swept over them like a holy passion so that they failed utterly to understand the glorious spiritual doctrines which he was teaching them.

Then came the strange last days—the day in the garden, the day of the trial, the supreme day of the cross. Then came Jesus to the garden with its awful agonies, its terrible anguish, Peter, James and John being with Him. This is a new, strange side of Diety, the sacrificial agony of Deity. They never beheld the suffering, the sacrificial sorrow of Jesus Christ. These manifestations of Deity in suffering for the sins of the world, the omnipotent Lamb being led as a sheep to the slaughter, as a sheep before his shearers is dumb. No one ever before beheld the suffering of the Lamb the Son of God. Only three disciples were allowed within the hallowed spot to behold the Son pouring out His soul for the sins of the whole world. The majesty and Glory of Deity was being poured out in sacrificial anguish, and became, as it were, great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

The three disciples stagger in utter amazement. They are struck dumb. What is that miracle power? What change, what transformation is this? Who is this Being agonizing and sweating bloody sweat? Where is the Omnipotent Lord? Where is He Who claimed to be Deity? Is this the Holy One Whose word quieted the sea, raised the rotting corpse of Lazarus, healed instantly all manner of diseases, all manner of sicknesses? And did all other things which Deity may of right do? Where is His authority which He exercised over all things? What strange cry is this as His form bent low to the ground, He cries for help from heaven? This is a new disclosure; is it human or is it divine.

How can Deity call for help when surrounded by enemies they picked up stones to stone Him, they could not harm Him. He was God. He made the stones fall harmless from their hands. Men with murder and malice in their hearts were helpless in His presence. Then the disciples saw a sickening and benumbing sight; saw Jesus, omnipotent at every crisis, Jesus Whom they had worshipped as Deity, Who had accepted their worship, who had accepted the challenge of the Jews that being man He had made Himself God; had seen Him on all occasions endowed with all omnipotence, now arrested, in the hands of His enemies, led away, unresisting, His miracle power absolutely nothing, not even showing the power of a strong man. Led away as a common felon.

What does it all mean? They saw cruel indignities heaped upon Him more than upon any man, saw His enemies smite Him, buffet Him, saw Him taunted as a pretender and a deceiver, saw Him mocked as King of the Jews, saw His body lacerated by the bloody thongs, saw Him actually delivered by Pilate to be executed, weak, exhausted, fainting, led away to be crucified, saw Him nailed to the cross, left to die a condemned felon, a spectacle to the jeering mass; ah, Him Who had exercised miracle power, demonstrated He was Deity, now a crucified felon in utter shame and ignominy—what does this the strangest of all earth's enigmas mean?

II.

The Silence of God and Miracle Power at the Cross.

The agony of the cross continued six hours. The scoffs and taunts of the priests and chief priests that Jesus was destitute of miracle power, and that He was not Deity, not the son of God, continued unabated. The enemies challenged Jesus and even Jehovah Himself, to stop the execution if Jesus were the Son of God. His enemies scorned His miracle power and His claim to be King and Messiah.

Jesus made His supernatural power the supreme test of His Godhead and divine nature. He ignored the challenge, did not work a miracle and come down from the cross. This was a matter of great wonder to the apostles. God did not accept the dare and some down and deliver Jesus from the anguish and shame of the cross. Amazement filled the minds of the disciples at this silence of God. He Who was omnipotent is now cruelly killed by His enemies. Apparently the only conclusion His disciples could reach was that He did not deliver Himself, because He could not; the only reason why God did not deliver Him was because He was a deceiver and not God's Son.

Tragic questions filled the minds of the discinles. Jesus had proclaimed Himself Deity, and had accepted worship as God. If Jesus were a mere man He was guilty of blasphemy the penalty being death. He had been tried in the court of the Jews, found guilty, and death was the penalty. If Jesus was merely man the penalty was deserved. But if Jesus was the Son of God, the Messiah of Holy Scripture, if God was His Father, then God the Father was there and fully aware of the awful scene when the rulers uttered the taunting words "He trusted in God, let God deliver Him now if He will have Him," for He said, "I am the Son of God." The challenge was to God, Jehovah Himself. Therefore those who condemned Jesus and executed Him were putting themselves on trial before God on the issue that Jesus was not the Christ, but an imposter and guilty of blasphemy. When the question of the true God was an issue in Old Testament times, God answered the issue overwhelmingly crushing miracles. Notice the whole series of miracles at the Exodus when they were performed to demonstrate that Jehovah is the only true God.

Miracles were used also as severe and drastic punishment upon Pharoah for his impious challenge when he said; "Who is the Lord that I should obey His voice?" The most impious of all challenges was here at the cross, to wit: the Jesus was not the Christ, the Son of God, the Messiah of prophesy; that if He were, God, the Messiah of prophesy; that if He were, God would surely deliver Him from the cross. If on the other hand, Jesus was not a mere man, was Deity, as He had continually professed Himself to be, then His accusers were committing a crime entirely without parallel in the history of the world, even murdering the God-man, the Son of God.

The question of his Diety, Jesus declared openly to the world. The Jews denied the claim and appealed to Jesus' miracle power to prove it, or to the omnipotence of Jehovah to own Him as Son, with high-wrought feeling the disciples watched to see how God would answer.

Horror of horrors, God did not deliver Him, did not interfere a jot or tittle, on the contrary permitted the condemnation of Jesus as a malefactor to stand and the decree of death to be carried out.

All this was enough to convince the disciples that the rulers in their challenge were right, that Jesus was wrong, that He was not Deity, not the Son of God, but a mere man, a Jew. The awful agony in the garden, the fainting and weakness, God's complete silence as to Jesus. God refusing to own Him and deliver Him as His Son, all this, and Jesus' own piteous cry, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" seemed the dying confession of Jesus that God had forsaken Him. Jesus is dead. His kingdom is collapsed, He came not from God, God has not owned Him. He and the Father were not One as He said, the disciples were driven to believe that Jesus was mistaken in Himself; claimed too much; an innocent, gentle enthusiast Who met an awful death.

III.

Only the Resurrection of Jesus in the Identical Body in which He suffered, Could Have Restored the Faith of the Apostles and Perpetuated Christianity.

The apostles' faith was gone, the terrible ordeal through which they had passed, all they have seen and felt, the fiery tests in the garden and at the cross, the challenge made to God as Father which had brought no miracle; the challenge to His own Deity which brought no miracle power into exercise, left them in desolation and despair. They could not be deceived as to His Deity, but here at the supreme crisis of Deity, all the majesty and power of the Godhead should display itself: if ever Deity power showed itself in Jesus' life, above every other crisis His miracle power is needed to demonstrate His Deity. Not a jot or title of miracle power is exercised. Jesus is not God; Jesus is mere man.

Without the physical resurrection of Jesus from Joseph's tomb, Christianity could not have survived His death on the cross. Despair, helplessness, homelessness, mourning and sorrow filled the minds of the disciples at the death of Jesus. The apostles are struck dumb at the awful tragedy, the utter impotence of their adored Lord so completely benumbed that they did not think of honoring the body of Jesus. They were wholly crushed at the failure of Jesus to exercise miracle power at the crucifixion and save Himself. Faith in Jesus and His miracle power totally collapsed. So only the supreme miracle of the bodily resurrection of Jesus could have aroused the apostles and restored to them the old faith in His Deity and divine Sonship. They must see the same body afresh, the nail marks in the hands and feet, the spear-thrust in the side, the print of the thorns on the brow; they must see the identical body in which He had suffered on the cross; He must exercise that grand miracle power as before His death; He must show Himself Deity manifest in the flesh, the fullness of the Godhead body.

The Lord foresaw the deadly stupor which fell upon the disciples as they experienced the crushing agonies of the cross. The perogatives of God, Jesus immediately exercised for He commands the angel of the Lord who came and rolled away the stone from the door of the sepulchre and sat upon it to tarry there and inform the first ones to the tomb, not only that Jesus was risen, to carry quickly to Jesus' disciples notice that He would go before them into Gallilee. "There shall ye see Him." "And when they saw Him they worshiped Him." He resumed His miracle power. He raised Himself from the tomb by His own inherent majesty, He assumes a spiritual body with added supernatural faculties and powers.

The bodily resurrection of Jesus radically transformed the disciples. They must identify the same physical body they had known in life with the added marks of the crucifixion. Jesus produced His own living body, the same body in which His eternal spirit had lived and in which He had wrought His miracles in which He had taught the wondrous truths of His kingdom, so that the resurrected body was absolutely identified with the dead body that was taken from the cross. Thomas, without knowing it, asked for and applied the scientific method which is the appeal to evidence, proof and demonstration. Thomas called for the exact evidence and Jesus complied with the demand; the actual physical inspection of the physical body as that of Jesus, by seeing with the eyes, feeling with the fingers, the nail prints in the hands and the spear wound in the side in order to determine beyond a doubt the identity of such living body with the mutilated body of Jesus taken from the cross.

This identification was absolute and complete. The transcendant miracle of the resurrection of Jesus from death on the cross was absolute truth. Thomas, with his opinion totally reversed cried out in deepest passion, "my Lord and my God." Judge Francis J. Lamb in "Miracle and Science" says; "Tested by the standards and ordeals of jural science by which questions of fact are ascertained and demonstrated in contested questions of right and between man and man in courts of justice, the resurrection of Jesus stands a demonstrated fact."

The bodily resurrection of Jesus transformed the disciples; the tremendous miracle of Pentecost, gloriously equipped them for their triumphant work throughout the whole world. The physical resurrection of Jesus is the sublimest historic fact in the history of man.

AMERICAN'S EXPERIENCES ON STORM-TOSSED LAKE OF GALILEE

Recollections That Illuminate Adventures of Disciples When Venturesome Peter Trod Waves.

Life for me has held many adventures. One that often recurs to mind is an experience of a storm on the Lake of Galilee. I have known worse storms on many seas; and have been in far greater peril of death, especially on the Yellow Sea and on the Black Sea; but the hours spent in a baffled boat in the midst of the Lake of Galilee, while winds raged and night gathered, are golden beads on memory's string. During this storm I may have seemed to be watching my dusky boatmen battle with the waves that threatened us; whereas in reality I was seeing other boatmen, fishermen disciples of Jesus, in a similar craft and amidst a like storm on the same body of water, nearly two thousand years ago.

"Over and over it comes to me,
The thought of Christ on the stormy sea."

Accompanied by my son, and three boatmen, we had set out in the late afternoon from Tiberias, to visit the ruins of Tell Hum, at the head of the lake, expecting to return to our hotel in time for dinner. Weather conditions were propitious and we anticipated a smooth, swift ride. While we were out in the middle of the lake one of the sudden storms for which Galilee is famous arose, and the winds and piled-up waves battered our bow to beat us back. The boatmen were all for returning, and eloquently portrayed their helplessness. They could not understand why the two Americans persisted in trying to continue the voyage, little comprehending the thoughts that filled our minds.

For hours the rowers struggled. Darkness fell. A distant Bedouin grain field, up near Magdala, caught fire, and the flames were quickly spread before the lashing wind. Slowly we progressed. The pitching of the boat, the roar of the elements only ministered to the thrill of the experience. Extra "backsheesh" would compensate the boatmen for their added labors; and we were in the midst of an adventure identical with that so often undergone by Jesus and His friends. About nine o'clock the storm abated, and we reached our destination: returning to Tiberias about midnight, hungry and weary and cold, having slept part of the homeward way on the rough ribs of our boat. But what a priceless fellowship we had enjoyed with our Master, Jesus, the out-of-doors Man of Galilee! No prosy books of commentary or exegesis are necessary to help me understand this lesson of Jesus and His friends amidst a storm on the Lake of Galilee.

The Man Who Escaped Storms.

On the surface of the story lies the familiar admonition that to be strong, lives must experience stress. In a Florida hotel, a few years ago, I met a handsome, gracious, wealthy, and elderly man who was a new sort of specimen to me. Except for a few summer months in his mansion on the Hudson river, he spends his years in a round of first-class resort hotels, where he is sure his comfort will be served in every possible way. He is unmarried, and has no close human ties or obligations or interests. His days are devoted to the pursuit of ease. In all of his experience he has never known hardship, peril or discomfort. His life has been a voyage on stormless and placid waters. And I pitied him from the depths of my heart: for the poor parasite has never really lived. Even the pampered tabby-cat, with occasional furtive backfence adventures, is better off than this man to whom life means nothing, and who means nothing to life. I never met a less enviable person in all my travels.

Storms show the stuff of which souls are made.

"Then welcome each rebuff,
That turns earth's smoothness rough."

Troubles prove character. Only the disciples amidst a perilous storm hear the voice, "Be of good cheer; it is I: be not afraid." All of life's greatest Lessons are learned in the school of adversity. Travelers in Palestine glimpse something of the ruggedness and adventure of the life that wayfaring Christ lived. He is the comprehending Comrade of all who dare and endure and achieve.

That is the second obvious message of the Lesson. The Master does come to His friends when they are in trouble. Peter later wrote, "Casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you." Christ cares: no burden that chafes the soul of even the least of His friends is too small to receive His easing attention. So familiar is the statement of the personal interest of the Saviour in man that we usually fail to perceive its stupendousness. The most wonderful truth about God is that He does concern Himself in human affairs. Jesus, striding across the rough waters to the relief of His storm-tossed friends, embodies the dearest characteristic of the Creator.

"Our God is an eternal Christ,
Unchangeable, unchanged,
His love is still as warm and true
As when life's common way He ranged
Beneath the Syrian blue.

"Our God is an eternal Christ,
All tender, wise and true;
As once He was to those of old,
So is He now to me and you,
Till all the tale is told.

"As Christ was then, so God is now,
A wise and loving friend;
No feeble cry will He deny,
But of His best will surely send,
And that right instantly."

Better Than Best Friends Know

When we have toiled until we can toil no longer; when arms and back ache to the uttermost, and our hearts fail; when it seems as if our ship must go down—then it is that Jesus marvellously appears to end our trials. The mysterious ways in hich God has intervened to save us from disaster, as a myriad readers of these lines can testify, seem quite as miraculous as His appearance amidst the storm, walking on the waves, to His companions in the Galilee boat.

Is it not an everyday experience of countless Christians that Christ is greater than His best friends know? He is more than your expectations. His friendship is a succession of surprises. These disciple-fishermen thought they saw a ghost when Jesus came walking toward them; despite all that they knew of Him, they could not credit the wonder. They were of the faint-hearted followers who say, "It is too good to be true"—as if anything could be too good to be true in a world where God rules! Most of us have been in the same boat with the disciples, who were troubled over what turned out to be their Deliverer. God's providences come in strange guises; and we often fear that which is our best help.

BE IN CHURCH SUNDAY

"RESURRECTION, TEST AND PROOF OF CHRISTIANITY," SAYS PASTOR

Sermon by Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of Second Presbyterian Church.

By Rev. F. A. Dean.

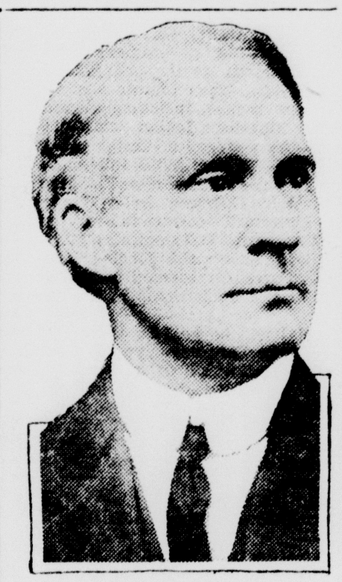

I.

Jesus Exercised Miracle Power as the Supreme Test of His Deity.

From the first grand sign, the turning of water into wine at Cana, Jesus began a series of miracles, signs and wonders, supernatural transactions, continuing to the moment in the garden when He said, "I am He," and the soldiers went backward and fell to the ground. These miracles were wrought by the special fiats of His own Deity tottest and prove that He was God.

Throughout His mission He used supremely supernatural evidence to attest His Deity. His miracle power never failed, always more than equal to every emergency, instantaneous, victorious. His word, His look, His will was as the lightning flash. Every miracle fully attested His Deity; test, proof, demonstration were complete. Instantly He withstood any power or force brought against Him or His kingdom by demon, man or nature.

With a flash of His will He could restore the rotting corpse to life, loathsome diseases disfiguring the human body disappear at His command. Tempests drop to a calm at the mere exercise of His wish; He created the bread in His fingers to feed a hungry multitude, and all things visible and invisible, whether they were thrones or dominions of principalities or powers, all things were under the immediate control of His Deity.

This constant exercise of unlimited miracle power of Jesus created in the minds and hearts of the disciples the absolute and full belief that Jesus was the King, the Messiah long foretold. It was His miracle power displayed on all occasions with such majesty and glory of execution, each miracle having in itself the stamp of His divine nature, that made them absolutely certain that He was God, the Son of God, the Messiah. This faith in His Deity continued unshakable until Jesus actually died on the cross.

The tremendous miracle power Jesus constantly wielded also filled the minds of the disciples with the overwhelming conviction that the spiritual kingdom with all its majesty and grandeur was to be immediately established. Such hopes aroused them to the uttermost and swept over them like a holy passion so that they failed utterly to understand the glorious spiritual doctrines which he was teaching them.

Then came the strange last days—the day in the garden, the day of the trial, the supreme day of the cross. Then came Jesus to the garden with its awful agonies, its terrible anguish, Peter, James and John being with Him. This is a new, strange side of Diety, the sacrificial agony of Deity. They never beheld the suffering, the sacrificial sorrow of Jesus Christ. These manifestations of Deity in suffering for the sins of the world, the omnipotent Lamb being led as a sheep to the slaughter, as a sheep before his shearers is dumb. No one ever before beheld the suffering of the Lamb the Son of God. Only three disciples were allowed within the hallowed spot to behold the Son pouring out His soul for the sins of the whole world. The majesty and Glory of Deity was being poured out in sacrificial anguish, and became, as it were, great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

The three disciples stagger in utter amazement. They are struck dumb. What is that miracle power? What change, what transformation is this? Who is this Being agonizing and sweating bloody sweat? Where is the Omnipotent Lord? Where is He Who claimed to be Deity? Is this the Holy One Whose word quieted the sea, raised the rotting corpse of Lazarus, healed instantly all manner of diseases, all manner of sicknesses? And did all other things which Deity may of right do? Where is His authority which He exercised over all things? What strange cry is this as His form bent low to the ground, He cries for help from heaven? This is a new disclosure; is it human or is it divine.

How can Deity call for help when surrounded by enemies they picked up stones to stone Him, they could not harm Him. He was God. He made the stones fall harmless from their hands. Men with murder and malice in their hearts were helpless in His presence. Then the disciples saw a sickening and benumbing sight; saw Jesus, omnipotent at every crisis, Jesus Whom they had worshipped as Deity, Who had accepted their worship, who had accepted the challenge of the Jews that being man He had made Himself God; had seen Him on all occasions endowed with all omnipotence, now arrested, in the hands of His enemies, led away, unresisting, His miracle power absolutely nothing, not even showing the power of a strong man. Led away as a common felon.

What does it all mean? They saw cruel indignities heaped upon Him more than upon any man, saw His enemies smite Him, buffet Him, saw Him taunted as a pretender and a deceiver, saw Him mocked as King of the Jews, saw His body lacerated by the bloody thongs, saw Him actually delivered by Pilate to be executed, weak, exhausted, fainting, led away to be crucified, saw Him nailed to the cross, left to die a condemned felon, a spectacle to the jeering mass; ah, Him Who had exercised miracle power, demonstrated He was Deity, now a crucified felon in utter shame and ignominy—what does this the strangest of all earth's enigmas mean?

II.

The Silence of God and Miracle Power at the Cross.

The agony of the cross continued six hours. The scoffs and taunts of the priests and chief priests that Jesus was destitute of miracle power, and that He was not Deity, not the son of God, continued unabated. The enemies challenged Jesus and even Jehovah Himself, to stop the execution if Jesus were the Son of God. His enemies scorned His miracle power and His claim to be King and Messiah.

Jesus made His supernatural power the supreme test of His Godhead and divine nature. He ignored the challenge, did not work a miracle and come down from the cross. This was a matter of great wonder to the apostles. God did not accept the dare and some down and deliver Jesus from the anguish and shame of the cross. Amazement filled the minds of the disciples at this silence of God. He Who was omnipotent is now cruelly killed by His enemies. Apparently the only conclusion His disciples could reach was that He did not deliver Himself, because He could not; the only reason why God did not deliver Him was because He was a deceiver and not God's Son.

Tragic questions filled the minds of the disciples. Jesus had proclaimed Himself Deity, and had accepted worship as God. If Jesus were a mere man He was guilty of blasphemy the penalty being death. He had been tried in the court of the Jews, found guilty, and death was the penalty. If Jesus was merely man the penalty was deserved. But if Jesus was the Son of God, the Messiah of Holy Scripture, if God was His Father, then God the Father was there and fully aware of the awful scene when the rulers uttered the taunting words "He trusted in God, let God deliver Him now if He will have Him," for He said, "I am the Son of God." The challenge was to God, Jehovah Himself. Therefore those who condemned Jesus and executed Him were putting themselves on trial before God on the issue that Jesus was not the Christ, but an imposter and guilty of blasphemy. When the question of the true God was an issue in Old Testament times, God answered the issue overwhelmingly crushing miracles. Notice the whole series of miracles at the Exodus when they were performed to demonstrate that Jehovah is the only true God.

Miracles were used also as severe and drastic punishment upon Pharoah for his impious challenge when he said: "Who is the Lord that I should obey His voice?" The most impious of all challenges was here at the cross, to wit: the Jesus was not the Christ, the Son of God, the Messiah of prophesy; that if He were, God, the Messiah of prophesy; that if He were, God would surely deliver Him from the cross. If on the other hand, Jesus was not a mere man, was Deity, as He had continually professed Himself to be, then His accusers were committing a crime entirely without parallel in the history of the world, even murdering the God-man, the Son of God.

The question of his Diety, Jesus declared openly to the world. The Jews denied the claim and appealed to Jesus' miracle power to prove it, or to the omnipotence of Jehovah to own Him as Son, with high-wrought feeling the disciples watched to see how God would answer.

Horror of horrors, God did not deliver Him, did not interfere a jot or tittle, on the contrary permitted the condemnation of Jesus as a malefactor to stand and the decree of death to be carried out.

All this was enough to convince the disciples that the rulers in their challenge were right, that Jesus was wrong, that He was not Deity, not the Son of God, but a mere man, a Jew. The awful agony in the garden, the fainting and weakness, God's complete silence as to Jesus. God refusing to own Him and deliver Him as His Son, all this, and Jesus' own piteous cry, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" seemed the dying confession of Jesus that God had forsaken Him. Jesus is dead. His kingdom is collapsed, He came not from God, God has not owned Him, He and the Father were not One as He said, the disciples were driven to believe that Jesus was mistaken in Himself; claimed too much; an innocent, gentle enthusiast Who met an awful death.

III.

Only the Resurrection of Jesus in the Identical Body in which He suffered, Could Have Restored the Faith of the Apostles and Perpetuated Christianity.

The apostles' faith was gone, the terrible ordeal through which they had passed, all they have seen and felt, the fiery tests in the garden and at the cross, the challenge made to God as Father which had brought no miracle; the challenge to His own Deity which brought no miracle power into exercise, left them in desolation and despair. They could not be deceived as to His Deity, but here at the supreme crisis of Deity, all the majesty and power of the Godhead should display itself; if ever Deity power showed itself in Jesus' life, above every other crisis His miracle power is needed to demonstrate His Deity. Not a jot or title of miracle power is exercised. Jesus is not God; Jesus is mere man.

Without the physical resurrection of Jesus from Joseph's tomb, Christianity could not have survived His death on the cross. Despair, helplessness, homelessness, mourning and sorrow filled the minds of the disciples at the death of Jesus. The apostles are struck dumb at the awful tragedy, the utter impotence of their adored Lord so completely benumbed that they did not think of honoring the body of Jesus. They were wholly crushed at the failure of Jesus to exercise miracle power at the crucifixion and save Himself. Faith in Jesus and His miracle power totally collapsed. So only the supreme miracle of the bodily resurrection of Jesus could have aroused the apostles and restored to them the old faith in His Deity and divine Sonship. They must see the same body afresh, the nail marks in the hands and feet, the spear-thrust in the side, the print of the thorns on the brow; they must see the identical body in which He had suffered on the cross: He must exercise that grand miracle power as before His death: He must show Himself Deity manifest in the flesh, the fullness of the Godhead body.

The Lord foresaw the deadly stupor which fell upon the disciples as they experienced the crushing agonies of the cross. The perogatives of God, Jesus immediately exercised for He commands the angel of the Lord who came and rolled away the stone from the door of the sepulchre and sat upon it to tarry there and inform the first ones to the tomb, not only that Jesus was risen, to carry quickly to Jesus' disciples notice that He would go before them into Gallilee. "There shall ye see Him." "And when they saw Him they worshiped Him." He resumed His miracle power. He raised Himself from the tomb by His own inherent majesty, He assumes a spiritual body with added supernatural faculties and powers.

The bodily resurrection of Jesus radically transformed the disciples. They must identify the same physical body they had known in life with the added marks of the crucifixion. Jesus produced His own living body, the same body in which His eternal spirit had lived and in which He had wrought His miracles in which He had taught the wondrous truths of His kingdom, so that the resurrected body was absolutely identified with the dead body that was taken from the cross. Thomas, without knowing it, asked for and applied the scientifice method which is the apneal to evidence, proof and demonstration. Thomas called for the exact evidence and Jesus complied with the demand; the actual physical inspection of the physical body as that of Jesus, by seeing with the eyes, feeling with the fingers, the nail prints in the hands and the spear wound in the side in order to determine beyond a doubt the identity of such living body with the mutilated body of Jesus taken from the cross.

This identification was absolute and complete. The transcendant miracle of the resurrection of Jesus from death on the cross was absolute truth. Thomas, with his opinion totally reversed cried out in deepest passion, "my Lord and my God." Judge Francis J. Lamb in "Miracle and Science" says; "Tested by the standards and ordeals of jural science by which questions of fact are ascertained and demonstrated in contested questions of right and between man and man in courts of justice, the resurrection of Jesus stands a demonstrated fact."

The bodily resurrection of Jesus transformed the disciples; the tremendous miracle of Pentecost, gloriously equipped them for their triumphant work throughout the whole world. The physical resurrection of Jesus is the sublimest historic fact in the history of man.

AMERICAN'S EXPERIENCES ON STORM-TOSSED LAKE OF GALILEE

Recollections That Illuminate Adventures of Disciples When Venturesome Peter Trod Waves.

Life for me has held many adventures. One that often recurs to mind is an experience of a storm on the Lake of Galilee. I have known worse storms on many seas; and have been in far greater peril of death, especially on the Yellow Sea and on the Black Sea; but the hours spent in a baffled boat in the midst of the Lake of Galilee, while winds raged and night gathered, are golden beads on memory's string. During this storm I may have seemed to be watching my dusky boatmen battle with the waves that threatened us; whereas in reality I was seeing other boatmen, fishermen disciples of Jesus, in a similar craft and amidst a like storm on the same body of water, nearly two thousand years ago.

"Over and over it comes to me,
The thought of Christ on the stormy sea."

Accompanied by my son, and three boatmen, we had set out in the late afternoon from Tiberias, to visit the ruins of Tell Hum, at the head of the lake, expecting to return to our hotel in time for dinner. Weather conditions were pronitious and we anticipated a smooth, swift ride. While we were out in the middle of the lake one of the sudden storms for which Galilee is famous arose, and the winds and piled-up waves battered our bow to beat us back. The boatmen were all for returning, and eloquently portrayed their helplessness. They could not understand why the two Americans persisted in trying to continue the voyage, little comprehending the thoughts that filled our minds.

For hours the rowers struggled. Darkness fell. A distant Bedouin grain field, up near Magdala, caught fire, and the flames were quickly spread before the lashing wind. Slowly we progressed. Sunday Morning

"A DAY OF TRIUMPH"

Reception for New Members.

WHAT SHOULD WE DO

In these days when the vividness of Gethsemane, Golgotha and the suffering of the Son of Man rise before our vision we cannot live as though they were not.

What should we do? Fast? Yea, more than fast! As we approach the week of Passion, let every soul who has felt the uplift of the suffering of the Man or Sorrows renew his faith and with deeper devotion to the Church of Our Lord pledge himself anew to make his life count for good, if it takes a cross to demonstrate the truth we believe.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

618. What is meant in Isaiah 35:10 When it is said: "The ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion?"

Answer: It means that "the ransomed of the Lord ("all"—I. Timothy 2:5, 6) shall (not only) return (some at the point of "going down to the pit"—the grave (Job 33:24) and other from the grave (John 5:28, 29) but shall (also) come to Zion."

619. What does Zion mean?

Answer: Zion means "a monumental or guiding pillar"—"as a permanent capital." (Strong) It was the name of the higher part of the city of Jerusalem and was often called the city of David. David was a type of Christ. Zion, therefore, means the higher or heavenly part of the kingdom of Christ. "For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem."—Isaiah 2:3.

620. What does it mean to "come to Zion?"

Answer: It means to come to the Lord and walk up "the way of holiness" (Isaiah 35:8)—the way of entire consecration—to walk in the Lord's way; that is, to do the will of "the King of kings and Lord of lords."

621. Will those who come to the Lord at that time be very happy?

Answer: Yes, indeed; for "they shall come to Zion with songs, and everlasting joy shall be upon their heads."—Verse 10.

622. What is meant by "everlasting joy?"

Answer: It means just what is says that the joy shall last forever and sorrow and sighing shall flee away"—shall be no more. (Verse 10). See also Revelation 21:4; Isaiah 25:8.

623. What are some of the reasons for "joy and gladness?"

Answer: "The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."—Isaiah 35:1.

624. From what word is "Solitary" translated in the foregoing passage, and what does that Hebrew word mean?

Answer: The word is TSIYAH, and means a dry place.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

618. What is meant in Isaiah 35:10 When it is said: "The ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion?"

Answer: It means that "the ransomed of the Lord ("all"—I. Timothy 2:5, 6) shall (not only) return (some at the point of "going down to the pit"—the grave (Job 33:24) and other from the grave (John 5:28, 29) but shall (also) come to Zion."

619. What does Zion mean?

Answer: Zion means "a monumental or guiding pillar"—"as a permanent capital." (Strong) It was the name of the higher part of the city of Jerusalem and was often called the city of David. David was a type of Christ. Zion, therefore, means the higher or heavenly part of the kingdom of Christ. "For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem."—Isaiah 2:3.

620. What does it mean to "come to Zion?"

Answer: It means to come to the Lord and walk up "the way of holiness" (Isaiah 35:8)—the way of entire consecration—to walk in the Lord's way; that is, to do the will of "the King of kings and Lord of lords."

621. Will those who come to the Lord at that time be very happy?

Answer: Yes, indeed; for "they shall come to Zion with songs, and everlasting joy shall be upon their heads."—Verse 10.

622. What is meant by "everlasting joy?"

Answer: It means just what is says that the joy shall last forever and sorrow and sighing shall flee away"—shall be no more. (Verse 10). See also Revelation 21:4; Isaiah 25:8.

623. What are some of the reasons for "joy and gladness?"

Answer: "The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."—Isaiah 35:1.

624. From what word is "Solitary" translated in the foregoing passage, and what does that Hebrew word mean?

Answer: The word is TSIYAH, and means a dry place.

WHAT SHOULD WE DO
In these days when the vividness of Gethsemane, Golgotha and the suffering of the Son of Man rise before our vision we cannot live as though they were not.
What should we do? Fast? Yea, more than fast! As we approach the week of Passion, let every soul who has felt the uplift of the suffering of the Man or Sorrows renew his faith and with deeper devotion to the Church of Our Lord pledge himself anew to make his life count for good, if it takes a cross to demonstrate the truth we believe.

FIELD SERVICE WORK PLANNED

Farm Bureau Activities Will be Handled by District Men.

Field service of the farm bureau organization and all its affiliated groups in Ohio is to be handled through 11 district men during the coming year, says an announcement received at the office of the Columbiana county farm bureau from M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio farm bureau federation. Each of the 11 men will work with local farm bureau officials of seven or more counties which constitute the district. This county and neighboring counties will have the assistance of S. O. Walker of Carrollton under this arrangement.

Under the new plan all the field service of the organization will be correlated through these men who will help local county organizations with their efforts to cooperatively market wool, live stock and other farm commodities, to use co-operative insurance to co-operatively distribute a few commodities and to solve membership and organization problems, according to word received by local farm bureau officials. They will replace special men who have been used by various branches of the organized agricultural program in the past.

Mr. Lincoln says that the plan was adopted by directors of the federation following the need shown by the work of four field service men used by the organization last year and along lines used in other industries. It is believed by leaders of the organization that the entire program of the organization will be speeded up by having men in the field who can report wishes and needs of farmers to state headquarters and distribute suggestions from county to county throughout the state.

PROGRAM GIVEN AT GRANGE MEET

A special entertainment feature of the meeting of West Point grange Friday evening was the playlet, "As It Will Be." Other features during the lecture hour included a penny march, a vocal solo by Samuel Parkes and a reading by Margaret McLaughlin. The Berghant orchestra played several popular numbers, and Howard Ketcham gave a reading. Helen Custer rendered a piano solo and Mrs. Elizabeth Eells led a discussion.

At a recent meeting six applications for membership were voted upon, and six proposals for membership were received. The lecture hour program for both meetings was in charge of Mrs. Ora Chamberlain.

KIWANIS DISTRICT MEET SCHEDULED

A district meeting of Kiwanis clubs will be held at Lisbon the evening of May 4, it was announced today. The district includes those clubs located in this county, also those at Toronto, Steubenville, Mingo Junction and Cadiz. In all 11 clubs will be represented at this gathering.

Five committees on arrangements have been selected, the chairman of the different committees being President Homer Deemer, James Elliott, John H. Hassler, County Recorder Paul H. Smith and William M. Morgan.

The meeting is to be held in the Lisbon Presbyterian church, and arrangements are being made to seat at least 400 visitors. Several state officers of the Kiwanis organization are to be included as guests.

SUIT TO RECOVER $7,350 FILED

Suit to recover $7,350.25 has been filed in common pleas court by J. M. Neville, through his counsel, W. E. Warren, of Leetonia, against J. H. Hinchliffe and others, the amount being claimed to be due on a note for $5,000 given by the defendant to the plaintiff March 10, 1924.

The petition asks that James R. Hinchliffe of Cleveland, Sarah Robinson, Sam Moranz of Lisbon, the Firestone bank, People's Savings & Loan company, B. F. Goodrich Rubber company and Mary Rump set up their interest in this case, and who have been made parties defendant. The note was secured by a mortgage given on lot 143 in the original addition to Lisbon.

S. P. OF MEXICO OPENS NEW LINE ACROSS BORDER

Through Passenger and Freight Service This Month.

GAP IS CLOSED

Road Was Started More Than Three Years Ago.

NOGALES, Ariz.—Less than a month remains until the Southern Pacific of Mexico opens its line to Mexico City giving through freight and passenger connections between the Pacific Coast of the United States and the interior of Mexico.

But little work remains to be done on the Sal-si-puedes viaduct, America's highest bridge which when completed will end the building of the 'revolutionary' gap of the Southern Pacific of Mexico. This gap, four years ago, a hundred and nine miles in length and extending from Tepic, Nayarit, Mexico to La Quemada, Jalisco, is termed the 'revolutionary' gap due to its having been in the possession of contending revolutionary factions several times. It has been the bone of contention of trouble along the West Coast of Mexico. The gap has now been brought to but a remaining 689 feet; the length of the Sal-si puedes bridge.

The through line to Mexico City is considered by engineers to be the most stupendous engineering feat to be undertaken in this age of massive spectacular building, for railway engineers have not only had to solve difficult problems of excessive grades, cuts through large mountains, overcome landslides in Nayarit's volcanic formation but to act as soldiers as well and combat the incipient revolutionary and constant banditry.

The Work Started.

The line was first started on March 3, 1923. When two crews of several hundred workmen started from Tepic at the North, and La Quemada at the South to work their way toward the objective, the immense canyon of Sal-si-peudes, they were fought at virtually every step by the people.

With the putting in place of the last span in the Sal-si-puedes viaduct a new main trunk line will be opened on the continent affording the public oe of the world's most scenic trips; a fast changing ever new panorama of rugged beauty, rolling plains, deep canyons and tangled tropical forests. The opening of the through line represents not only the four years of manual labor but months of toil over excursion plans, the bringing together of captains of industries and high governmental officials of Mexico and the United States.

The latest statement secured from President H. B. Titcomb as to the effect that provisional mixed freight and passenger service will be put into effect as soon after the completion as the department of communications and public works, of Mexico would give its approval. Further announcement was made that a contract has been entered into between the Southern Pacific of Mexico and the National lines of Mexico for the operation of the Espee trains in the depot of the latter's line in Guaialajara, Jalisco. Freight trains will operate in the yards of the National lines under the same agreement.

Cost to Date.

The estimated cost of the work on the hundred and nine mile gap was set at $14,000,000 but it has exceeded that sum according to reliable information given out by contractors. Another two million have been spent in addition to this sum in improvements on the line in the states of Sonora and Sinaloa. The distance from this city to Guadalajara over the new line is 1101 miles, twenty miles of which where graded, tressled and railed at a cost of $7,000,000 or $350,000 per mile. There are 31 tunnels on the gap with a total length of 24,000 feet from which four million yards of earth was removed and installed at a cost of over two million dollars.

The Mexican government has expended about $12,000,000 in the building of the gap.

When the work on the through line started it was President Alvaro Obregon who turned the first shovel of earth. It is the plan to have this same dignitary, now farming at his home in Sonora, drive the golden spike that will connect West with East, directly.

The new Welland Canal in Canada will be spanned this year by 21 bridges, of which 12 will be vertical lift, seven jackknife and two of the large swing type, according to reports.

HENRY L. STIMSON

Henry L. Stimson of New York, former secretary of war, appointed a special representative of President Coolidge to investigate the Nicaraguan situation, is expected to propose a compromise peace between opposing Nicaraguan factions and to work out a formula by which special rights of the United States for an interoceanic canal will be protected.

ALL-STAR CAST AT AMERICAN

'Fourth Commandment' Opens Engagement on Monday.

"The Fourth Commandment" the first of Emory Johnson's productions under his new contract with Universal will be shown at the American theatre for four days, commencing Monday.

Famed for his production of such pictures as "The Mail Man," "The Third Alarm," "In the Name of the Law," and "The Westbound Limited," Emory Johnson has eclipsed his former directorial accomplishments in this, his latest effort.

"The Fourth Commandment" hailed as an epic of mother love brings Belle Bennett, star of "Stella Dallas" to the screen in another great mother role.

Crowded with sensational crises and seething with the drama of real uncolored life, it carries a message that smashes home.

Supporting the magnificent star are such well known screen players as Mary Carr, Robert Agnew, June Marlowe, Henry Victor, Kathleen Myers and the screen's newest child "find" little Wendell Phillips Franklin.

Five thousand electric bulbs are used in the electrical display in Melbourne to celebrate the visit of the Duke and Duchess of Yorke.

Farm Bureau Activities Will be Handled by District Men.

Field service of the farm bureau organization and all its affiliated groups in Ohio is to be handled through 11 district men during the coming year, says an announcement received at the office of the Columbiana county farm bureau from M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio farm bureau federation. Each of the 11 men will work with local farm bureau officials of seven or more counties which constitute the district. This county and neighboring counties will have the assistance of S. O. Walker of Carrollton under this arrangement.

Under the new plan all the field service of the organization will be correlated through these men who will help local county organizations with their efforts to cooperatively market wool, live stock and other farm commodities, to use co-operative insurance to co-operatively distribute a few commodities and to solve membership and organization problems, according to word received by local farm bureau officials. They will replace special men who have been used by various branches of the organized agricultural program in the past.

Mr. Lincoln says that the plan was adopted by directors of the federation following the need shown by the work of four field service men used by the organization last year and along lines used in other industries. It is believed by leaders of the organization that the entire program of the organization will be speeded up by having men in the field who can report wishes and needs of farmers to state headquarters and distribute suggestions from county to county throughout the state.

PROGRAM GIVEN AT GRANGE MEET

A special entertainment feature of the meeting of West Point grange Friday evening was the playlet, "As It Will Be." Other features during the lecture hour included a penny march, a vocal solo by Samuel Parkes and a reading by Margaret McLaughlin. The Berghant orchestra played several popular numbers, and Howard Ketcham gave a reading. Helen Custer rendered a piano solo and Mrs. Elizabeth Eells led a discussion.

At a recent meeting six applications for membership were voted upon, and six proposals for membership were received. The lecture hour program for both meetings was in charge of Mrs. Ora Chamberlain.

KIWANIS DISTRICT MEET SCHEDULED

A district meeting of Kiwanis clubs will be held at Lisbon the evening of May 4, it was announced today. The district includes those clubs located in this county, also those at Toronto, Steubenville, Mingo Junction and Cadiz. In all 11 clubs will be represented at this gathering.

Five committees on arrangements have been selected, the chairman of the different committees being President Homer Deemer, James Elliott, John H. Hassler, County Recorder Paul H. Smith and William M. Morgan.

The meeting is to be held in the Lisbon Presbyterian church, and arrangements are being made to seat at least 400 visitors. Several state officers of the Kiwanis organization are to be included as guests.

SUIT TO RECOVER $7,350 FILED

Suit to recover $7,350.25 has been filed in common pleas court by J. M. Neville, through his counsel, W. E. Warren, of Leetonia, against J. H. Hinchliffe and others, the amount being claimed to be due on a note for $6,000 given by the defendant to the plaintiff March 10, 1924.

The petition asks that James R. Hinchliffe of Cleveland, Sarah Robinson, Sam Moranz of Lisbon, the Firestone bank, People's Savings & Loan company, B. F. Goodrich Rubber company and Mary Rump set up their interest in this case, and who have been made parties defendant. The note was secured by a mortgage given on lot 143 in the original addition to Lisbon.

Americans Experience

appeared on the water, Peter impulsively volunteered to go to Him— a needless adventure, but an act of faith that warmed the Master's heart So He bade him come.

Peter belonged to that large company of persons who are better at beginning than at completing—the sort who commence to build houses which never wear a roof. He had faith to start, but not faith enough to carry on. A large enterprise seemed to him less formidable than incidental difficulties. Peter set out to walk the water, but the wind-whipped waves scared him, and he began to sink, crying, "Lord, save me!"

Of course Jesus reached out a hand to him; we do not have to be perfect to get the Lord's help. But we may imagine the disapointment in the Master's face as He said, "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

Would not Jesus say that same word to every disciple, in this day of doubt? We cannot forget that His final test is to be, "When the Son of Man cometh, shall He find faith in the earth?" It is lack of faith that underlies all other evils in the Church and the world today. Doubt has become fashionable; scepticism is the vogue in certain "intellectual" circles. Faith in God has been supplanted by faith in psychology and in "scholarship." Our times have forgotten the wise, sound apothegm, "Believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts." We reverse that prescription nowadays. Yet nothing else than a rebirth of faith—simple, trustful, childlike faith—is going to give us back the disappearing sweetness of life and the complete conquest of the Gospel, in the realm of character as well as in the world of affairs. The Master's word to Peter is also the word of words for these times: "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

England has a poster stamp craze.

appeared on the water, Peter impulsively volunteered to go to Him— a needless adventure, but an act of faith that warmed the Master's heart So He bade him come.

Peter belonged to that large company of persons who are better at beginning than at completing—the sort who commence to build houses which never wear a roof. He had faith to start, but not faith enough to carry on. A large enterprise seemed to him less formidable than incidental difficulties. Peter set out to walk the water, but the wind-whipped waves scared him, and he began to sink, crying, "Lord, save me!"

Of course Jesus reached out a hand to him; we do not have to be perfect to get the Lord's help. But we may imagine the disapointment in the Master's face as He said, "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

Would not Jesus say that same word to every disciple, in this day of doubt? We cannot forget that His final test is to be, "When the Son of Man cometh, shall He find faith in the earth?" It is lack of faith that underlies all other evils in the Church and the world today. Doubt has become fashionable; scepticism is the vogue in certain "intellectual" circles. Faith in God has been supplanted by faith in psychology and in "scholarship." Our times have forgotten the wise, sound apothegm, "Believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts." We reverse that prescription nowadays. Yet nothing else than a rebirth of faith—simple, trustful, childlike faith—is going to give us back the disappearing sweetness of life and the complete conquest of the Gospel, in the realm of character as well as in the world of affairs. The Master's word to Peter is also the word of words for these times: "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

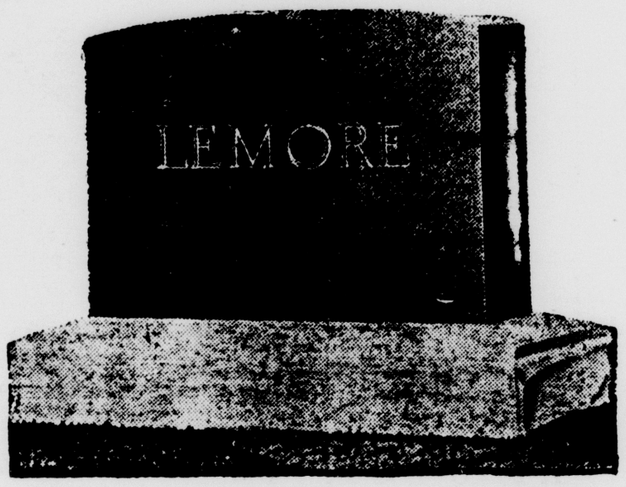

England has a poster stamp craze.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

STATE DEPARTMENT HAS FEARS OF TROUBLE IN NORTHERN CHINA

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 9. — China has been so much the uppermost topic in Washington governmental circles lately that its hard to discover what's doing elsewhere.

GEN. TSO-LIN

Oriental dope is getting monotonous, certainly, but there isn't any other.

One of these days somebody will think to inquire, "What become of Mexico and Nicaragua?" Then, probably, it will come out that their little affairs have been settled entirely, under cover of the Chinese excitement.

FOR one thing, the state department's afraid of worse trouble for foreigners, now that fighting's threatened in northern China, than they've had south of the Yangtze river.

There may be something in this.

The western powers haven't been any too well suited with Chiang Kai-Shek, the southern leader. Still, he's an enlightened man, with an occidental education, who negotiates politely, if unsatisfactorily.

Shang Tso-lin, northern war lord, who'll begin to be heard from henceforward, was a plain bandit until he graduated into his war lordship. He's as scrappy as Chiang and less polished about it.

COMPLAINTS are coming through from American business men in Shanghai that Washington isn't "firm enough in dealing with the Chinese crisis."

State department records show that there seldom has been a similar crisis anywhere whence such complaints didn't emanate.

It's considered natural, too, for an American business man in a troubled foreign area, with his trade shot full of holes, to take a less dispassionate view of the situation than Washington takes.

WHEN England needs America's help, as she does now to protect British interested in China, it's surprising how systematically the news—received through English channels — always leads up to the conclusion that America can't creditably get out of it.

British gunboat takes off American missionaries.

American flag trampled by Chinese nationalists—British marines to the rescue.

British forces save lone American leatherneck attacked by Chinese rioters.

'S funny the American correspondents miss all these incidents. They invariably get here by way of London.

JUST to show what ridiculous wage demands the revolutionary Chinese are making, the following schedule, submitted to foreigners in Hangchow, is published in Washington:

Workers receiving $1 to $10 monthly wants a $15 increase.

Those paid $11 to $20 ask $12 more.

On everything above $20 monthly, a $10 advance is called for.

The explanation, according to Chinese here, is that the revolutionists are trying to wipe out $1-a-month incomes; and they don't consider $20 monthly—which really is fancy pay for a Chinese workingman—enough to support a family on, even in China.

It's to be borne in mind that $1, in China, means $1 "Mex," which is 40 cents gold, or thereabout.

EVEN boys think they ought to earn enough to keep their families, complainant saith.

Which is true enough.

Only any Chinese servant of the sterner sex is known as a "boy," no matter how old he is.

THE Shanghai Club, swellest thing of its kind in the orient, and strictly foreign, of course, has the longest bar in the world, and they don't serve one-half of 1 per cent drinks at it, either.

WINS PRIZE AS BOYISH TYPE

Beauty specialists of the Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., have chosen Miss Dorothy Fleu of St. Paul out of 317 contestants as the most perfect example of the "boyish type" at a recent convention. She was awarded a $100 prize.

"BEAU GESTE" WINS CRITICS

French Legion Picture Closes Engagement Tonight.

"Beau Geste," Herbert Brenon's mystery-melodrama of the French Foreign Legion, closes its engagement at the Ceramic theatre tonight.

The continued large sales of Major Percival Christopher Wren's novel from which the picture was made, together with the unparalleled amount of word of mouth advertising and discussions pro and con of the story, have undoubtedly had a lot to do with the large attendance.

This story of the love of three brothers which proved stronger than their fear of death is a motif, which, up to the time of the production of "Beau Geste," had never been used on the screen as a primary theme. As shown here it is a marvelously beautiful thing.

Ronald Colman, Ralph Forbes and Neil Hamilton as the three brothers have created characters in this film that will be long remembered. Colman has added to his ever-abundant popularity and Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes, previously not as well known as Colman, have been signed to play stellar roles in several forthcoming productions as a result of their work in "Beau Geste."

Other prominent parts in this swashbuckling adventure story are played by Noah Beery, Alice Joyce, Norman Trevor, William Powell, Mary Brian, Victor MacLaglan and Paul Stewart.

Bucharest Officials Place Strongest Ban On Darkened Cinemas

BUCHAREST.—Darkened cinemas are a menace to public morals in the eyes of the city government which has recently issued orders regulating the operation of the theatres.

Women owners are considered most negligible in looking after the welfare of their patrons, and in the future only men will be allowed licenses. Further the theatres must be well lighted and the seats must be at least a foot apart in each row.

Scores of men have been arrested in Bucharest during the last six months charged with creating disturbances in cinemas.

College girls have better weight, strength and height than the averages of girls employed in factories, according to recent measurements.

Paisley now claims to be the best lighted town in Scotland since its meanest alleys have been equipped with electric lights.

A rake having three rows of forks placed 120 degrees apart on a drum which revolves around the axle of the machine, has appeared in France.

four parks and one playground have been set aside.

In Bayonne, New Jersey, a group of apartment buildings has carried out this recreation center idea. These apartments are intended to house 149 families, most of whom are employees of the Standard Oil company. There is a children's playground with an area of 1,176 square feet at one end of the plot. This yields twenty square feet of playing space per child on the basis of approximately sixty children occupying the playground at a given time. This ground is open from the first of May to the first of November, and a leader is provided. The inner courts extending the full length of the development are devoted to lawns with shrubs and flowers. In all 6,516 square feet of space has been set aside for rest and recreation courts, comprising a little over 22 per cent of the entire area.

In New York City where the congestion is such that the children of the poorer localities have great difficulty in finding some place to play, a block of houses on the west side of Avenue A between 65th and 66th streets, known as the Garden Tenements, is provided with a play space. These buildings were erected with Rockefeller funds, and are designed to house eighty-two families. The entire area is 100x200 feet. There is an interior garden, 31x100 feet, extending to the rear yard by an opening some 41x23 feet. In this opening and extending into the yard there is a sunken playground for the small children.

Realtors, both individually and as organizations, are being sold on this idea of providing play and recreation space when laying out a new development and are lending their support to it. Last year at the City Planning Conference called by the California Real Estate association at Los Angeles, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved . . . that means be undertaken to secure further recognition on the part of subdividers that subdivision is a process in community building and that subdividers should provide public open spaces and public recreational areas as part of the subdivision plans, particularly in cases where subdivisions contain areas naturally suited for such purposes.

"Resolved . . . that California Real Estate association cooperate in the establishment of a definite recreation policy and program in the state of California."

The Playground and Recreation association of America is anxious that the doctrine shall be still further spread so that the time will come when no new real estate development will be planned without taking as a matter of course the provision for public playground and recreation spaces.

Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Was Frances E. Willard the first president of the W. C. T. U.?

A. Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer was the first president of the national society. Miss Frances E. Willard succeeded her in 1879. She held the position until her death in 1898.

Q. What kind of a magnifying glass is used to detect invisible ink or stains? J. J. F.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that there are invisible inks and stains, but a magnifying glass is not used to detect them. A colored glass is employed for this purpose.

Q. Is it true that one of a pair of twins is not capable of bearing children? W. F.

A. There is no scientific basis for the idea that in human twins one is likely to be sterile. Among cattle a female born twin to a male is as a rule a sterile or intersexual individual called a freemartin. There is no reason to believe that this condition exists in human kind.

Q. When did the Mark Honkins, associated with C. P. Huntington in the west, die? W. T. K.

A. Mark Honkins, the real estate magnate, was born in Henderson, N. Y., September 1, 1813. He went to California in 1849 and died in 1878.

Q. Can one see Ireland from England? N. McR.

A. It is possible to see the shores of Ireland from England on a clear day across the narrower parts of the Irish Sea.

Q. What parts of the United States were originally palatinates? C. M.

A. Maryland and South Carolina were originally instituted as palatinates.

Q. How did the canning industry originate? N. B.

A. In the year 1795, France was in revolution and at war with nearly all Europe. The French government needed some way of supplying fresh provisions to its sailors. For this reason they announced that a large sum of money would be given to anybody who could find a way of supplying fresh provisions to its sailors. The successful inventor must also describe his process in a book. This prize of twelve thousand francs—equal to approximately five thousand dollars—was paid by the great Napoleon to Nicolas Appert. He did not use tins but wide-mouthed glass bottles and made stoppers of cork. Appert discovered that food in air-tight packages could be sterilized with heat so that it would keep. With his prize money he started a canning business that is still maintained in France by his descendants.

Q. When were the gates placed on Pennsylvania Avenue and Jackson Place, between the White House and State, War, and Navy Building? N. P.

A. The Office of Public Buildings and Grounds says that the gates on Pennsylvania avenue, at Jackson Place, State, War and Navy Building, were put there during Grant's administration between 1870 and 1874. This land was originally part of the White House grounds. When it was first opened the gates were placed there to shut off that road as a public thoroughfare at night.

A Good Thing—Don't Overlook It.

From Jas. Edwards, Montgomery, Ala., comes this letter which contains a valuable suggestion: "I feel like a new man since taking Foley's Honey and Tar. I can now sleep all night, soreness in chest and the bad cough entirely gone. My whole family use it—for coughs, colds and croup, and it always helps." Stops tickling throat, nervous hacking cough, puts a healing, soothing coating on an inflamed throat. Sold and recommended everywhere. Ask for it.

Samuel Swabey, who collapsed and died while unloading a steamer at Devonport, England, recently, had a heart weighing 35 ounces, about 14 ounces above the normal.

Slowing Up?

Waste Impurities In The Blood Make One Languid and Inefficient

OVERWORK, worry and lack of rest, all tend to fill the blood with impurities, beyond the ordinary ability of the kidneys to immediately eliminate them.

These unfiltered body poisons are apt to make one languid, tired and achy, with dull headaches, dizziness, and often a nagging backache. A common symptom of imperfect kidney function is scanty or burning excretions.

Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic, assist the kidneys in their eliminative work. Doan's act on the kidneys only. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Gust Green, 1933 E. Walnut St., Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I was miserable with backache and knew my kidneys weren't acting right, as the excretions were scanty and burned in passing. A friend recommended Doan's Pills and they helped me promptly. Continued use corrected the trouble and I have since told hundreds about Doan's".

Carl W. Bartz, 526 Pine St., Owosso, Mich., says: "I had reason to believe my kidneys weren't acting right because the secretions didn't pass often enough. Headaches were annoying. I was tired and without ambition and was bothered by a nagging backache. I tried Doan's Pills and they were prompt in helping me. It wasn't long before I felt like myself again."

If you have Reason to Suspect Your Kidneys, Read This

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had kidney trouble for years and Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets overcame it. I could not sleep, my back hurt and I could not get up when I was down. Was disturbed many times in a night. At last I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and before I had taken three bottles my back was well and I could sleep all night. It is the best medicine I ever found for weak kidneys."—Sylvester Crouse, 203 S. Kilmer St.

Anuric, a new stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, was originated at the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., by Dr. Pierce, Pres., after observation and treatment of thousands of kidney cases. Get Anuric at any drug store or send 10c to Dr. Pierce at above address for a trial package and write for free advice.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

STATE DEPARTMENT HAS FEARS OF TROUBLE IN NORTHERN CHINA

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 9. — China has been so much the uppermost topic in Washington governmental circles lately that its hard to discover what's doing elsewhere.

Oriental dope is getting monotonous, certainly, but there isn't any other.

One of these days somebody will think to inquire, "What become of Mexico and Nicaragua?" Then, probably, it will come out that their little affairs have been settled entirely, under cover of the Chinese excitement.

FOR one thing, the state department's afraid of worse trouble for foreigners, now that fighting's threatened in northern China, than they've had south of the Yangtze river.

There may be something in this.

The western powers haven't been any too well suited with Chiang Kai-Shek, the southern leader. Still, he's an enlightened man, with an occidental education, who negotiates politely, if unsatisfactorily.

Shang Tso-lin, northern war lord, who'll begin to be heard from henceforward, was a plain bandit until he graduated into his war lordship. He's as scrappy as Chiang and less polished about it.

COMPLAINTS are coming through from American business men in Shanghai that Washington isn't "firm enough in dealing with the Chinese crisis."

State department records show that there seldom has been a similar crisis anywhere whence such complaints didn't emanate.

It's considered natural, too, for an American business man in a troubled foreign area, with his trade shot full of holes, to take a less dispassionate view of the situation than Washington takes.

WHEN England needs America's help, as she does now to protect British interested in China, it's surprising how systematically the news—received through English channels — always leads up to the conclusion that America can't creditably get out of it.

British gunboat takes off American missionaries.

American flag trampled by Chinese nationalists—British marines to the rescue.

British forces save lone American leatherneck attacked by Chinese rioters.

'S funny the American correspondents miss all these incidents. They invariably get here by way of London.

JUST to show what ridiculous wage demands the revolutionary Chinese are making, the following schedule, submitted to foreigners in Hangchow, is published in Washington:

Workers receiving $1 to $10 monthly wants a $15 increase.

Those paid $11 to $20 ask $12 more.

On everything above $20 monthly, a $10 advance is called for.

The explanation, according to Chinese here, is that the revolutionists are trying to wipe out $1-a-month incomes; and they don't consider $20 monthly—which really is fancy pay for a Chinese workingman—enough to support a family on, even in China.

It's to be borne in mind that $1, in China, means $1 "Mex," which is 40 cents gold, or thereabout.

EVEN boys think they ought to earn enough to keep their families, complainant saith.

Which is true enough.

Only any Chinese servant of the sterner sex is known as a "boy," no matter how old he is.

THE Shanghai Club, swellest thing of its kind in the orient, and strictly foreign, of course, has the longest bar in the world, and they don't serve one-half of 1 per cent drinks at it, either.

WINS PRIZE AS BOYISH TYPE

Beauty specialists of the Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., have chosen Miss Dorothy Fleu of St. Paul out of 317 contestants as the most perfect example of the "boyish type" at a recent convention. She was awarded a $100 prize.

"BEAU GESTE" WINS CRITICS

French Legion Picture Closes Engagement Tonight.

"Beau Geste," Herbert Brenon's mystery-melodrama of the French Foreign Legion, closes its engagement at the Ceramic theatre tonight.

The continued large sales of Major Percival Christopher Wren's novel from which the picture was made, together with the unparalleled amount of word of mouth advertising and discussions pro and con of the story, have undoubtedly had a lot to do with the large attendance.

This story of the love of three brothers which proved stronger than their fear of death is a motif, which up to the time of the production of "Beau Geste," had never been used on the screen as a primary theme. As shown here it is a marvelously beautiful thing.

Ronald Colman, Ralph Forbes and Neil Hamilton as the three brothers, have created characters in this film that will be long remembered. Colman has added to his ever-abundant popularity and Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes, previously not as well known as Colman, have been signed to play stellar roles in several forthcoming productions as a result of their work in "Beau Geste."

Other prominent parts in this swashbuckling adventure story are played by Noah Beery, Alice Joyce, Norman Trevor, William Powell, Mary Brian, Victor MacLaglan and Paul Stewart.

Bucharest Officials Place Strongest Ban On Darkened Cinemas

BUCHAREST.—Darkened cinemas are a menace to public morals in the eyes of the city government which has recently issued orders regulating the operation of the theatres.

Women owners are considered most negligible in looking after the welfare of their patrons, and in the future only men will be allowed licenses. Further the theatres must be well lighted and the seats must be at least a foot apart in each row.

Scores of men have been arrested in Bucharest during the last six months charged with creating disturbances in cinemas.

College girls have better weight, strength and height than the averages of girls employed in factories, according to recent measurements.

Paisley now claims to be the best lighted town in Scotland since its meanest alleys have been equipped with electric lights.

A rake having three rows of forks placed 120 degrees apart on a drum which revolves around the axle of the machine, has appeared in France.

four parks and one playground have been set aside.

In Bayonne, New Jersey, a group of apartment buildings has carried out this recreation center idea. These apartments are intended to house 149 families, most of whom are employees of the Standard Oil company. There is a children's playground with an area of 1,176 square feet at one end of the plot. This yields twenty square feet of playing space per child on the basis of approximately sixty children occupying the playground at a given time. This ground is open from the first of May to the first of November, and a leader is provided. The inner courts extending the full length of the development are devoted to lawns with shrubs and flowers. In all 6,516 square feet of space has been set aside for rest and recreation courts, comprising a little over 22 per cent of the entire area.

In New York City where the congestion is such that the children of the poorer localities have great difficulty in finding some place to play, a block of houses on the west side of Avenue A between 65th and 66th streets, known as the Garden Tenements, is provided with a play space. These buildings were erected with Rockefeller funds, and are designed to house eighty-two families. The entire area is 100x200 feet. There is an interior garden, 31x100 feet, extending to the rear yard by an opening some 41x23 feet. In this opening and extending into the yard there is a sunken playground for the small children.

Realtors, both individually and as organizations, are being sold on this idea of providing play and recreation space when laying out a new development and are lending their support to it. Last year at the City Planning Conference called by the California Real Estate association at Los Angeles, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved . . . that means be undertaken to secure further recognition on the part of subdividers that subdivision is a process in community building and that subdividers should provide public open spaces and public recreational areas as part of the subdivision plans, particularly in cases where subdivisions contain areas naturally suited for such purposes.

"Resolved . . . that California Real Estate association cooperate in the establishment of a definite recreation policy and program in the state of California."

The Playground and Recreation association of America is anxious that the doctrine shall be still further spread so that the time will come when no new real estate development will be planned without taking as a matter of course the provision for public playground and recreation spaces.

Answers to Questions

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. Was Frances E. Willard the first president of the W. C. T. U.?

A. Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer was the first president of the national society. Miss Frances E. Willard succeeded her in 1879. She held the position until her death in 1898.

Q. What kind of a magnifying glass is used to detect invisible ink or stains? J. J. F.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that there are invisible inks and stains, but a magnifying glass is not used to detect them. A colored glass is employed for this purpose.

Q. Is it true that one of a pair of twins is not capable of bearing children? W. F.

A. There is no scientific basis for the idea that in human twins one is likely to be sterile. Among cattle a female born twin to a male is as a rule a sterile or intersexual individual called a freemartin. There is no reason to believe that this condition exists in human kind.

Q. When did the Mark Hopkins, associated with C. P. Huntington in the west, die? W. T. K.

A. Mark Honkins, the real estate magnate, was born in Henderson, N. Y., September 1, 1813. He went to California in 1849 and died in 1878.

Q. Can one see Ireland from England? N. McR.

A. It is possible to see the shores of Ireland from England on a clear day across the narrower parts of the Irish Sea.

Q. What parts of the United States were originally palatinates? C. M.

A. Maryland and South Carolina were originally instituted as palatinates.

Q. How did the canning industry originate? N. B.

A. In the year 1795, France was in revolution and at war with nearly all Europe. The French government needed some way of supplying fresh provisions to its sailors. For this reason they announced that a large sum of money would be given to anybody who could find a way of supplying fresh provisions to its sailors. The successful inventor must also describe his process in a book. This prize of twelve thousand francs—equal to approximately five thousand dollars—was paid by the great Napoleon to Nicolas Appert. He did not use tins but wide-mouthed glass bottles and made stoppers of cork. Appert discovered that food in air-tight packages could be sterilized with heat so that it would keep. With his prize money he started a canning business that is still maintained in France by his descendants.

Q. When were the gates placed on Pennsylvania Avenue and Jackson Place, between the White House and State, War, and Navy Building? N. P.

A. The Office of Public Buildings and Grounds says that the gates on Pennsylvania avenue, at Jackson Place, State, War and Navy Building, were put there during Grant's administration between 1870 and 1874. This land was originally part of the White House grounds. When it was first opened the gates were placed there to shut off that road as a public thoroughfare at night.

A Good Thing—Don't Overlook It.

From Jas. Edwards, Montgomery, Ala., comes this letter which contains a valuable suggestion: "I feel like a new man since taking Foley's Honey and Tar. I can now sleep all night, soreness in chest and the bad cough entirely gone. My whole family use it—for coughs, colds and croup, and it always helps." Stops tickling throat, nervous hacking cough, puts a healing, soothing coating on an inflamed throat. Sold and recommended everywhere. Ask for it.

Samuel Swabey, who collapsed and died while unloading a steamer at Devonport, England, recently, had a heart weighing 35 ounces, about 14 ounces above the normal.

Slowing Up?

Waste Impurities In The Blood Make One Languid and Inefficient

OVERWORK, worry and lack of rest, all tend to fill the blood with impurities, beyond the ordinary ability of the kidneys to immediately eliminate them.

These unfiltered body poisons are apt to make one languid, tired and achy, with dull headaches, dizziness, and often a nagging backache. A common symptom of imperfect kidney function is scanty or burning excretions.

Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic, assist the kidneys in their eliminative work. Doan's act on the kidneys only. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Gust Green, 1933 E. Walnut St., Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I was miserable with backache and knew my kidneys weren't acting right, as the excretions were scanty and burned in passing. A friend recommended Doan's Pills and they helped me promptly. Continued use corrected the trouble and I have since told hundreds about Doan's".

Carl W. Bartz, 526 Pine St., Owosso, Mich., says: "I had reason to believe my kidneys weren't acting right because the secretions didn't pass often enough. Headaches were annoying. I was tired and without ambition and was bothered by a nagging backache. I tried Doan's Pills and they were prompt in helping me. It wasn't long before I felt like myself again."

If you have Reason to Suspect Your Kidneys, Read This

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had kidney trouble for years and Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets overcame it. I could not sleep, my back hurt and I could not get up when I was down. Was disturbed many times in a night. At last I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and before I had taken three bottles my back was well and I could sleep all night. It is the best medicine I ever found for weak kidneys."—Sylvester Crouse, 203 S. Kilmer St.

Anuric, a new stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, was originated at the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., by Dr. Pierce, Pres., after observation and treatment of thousands of kidney cases. Get Anuric at any drug store or send 10c to Dr. Pierce at above address for a trial package and write for free advice.

Elks At Peak Strength For Clash With Rauhs Here Tonight

AMERICAN BILLIARDS BUY VICTORY MOTORS LEAGUE FRANCHISE

Ray Wilde May Work Awhile At Pivot Job; Fast Prelim Booked

Dave Shupe at Forward, Along With Nate Lippe Who Will be Battling County League Team Mates; Anderson, McConville at Guards; Brian Clothiers and Peacocks Tangle in Opener.

Out of the game for a couple of weeks or so as a result of injuries sustained in the initial clash of the Midland series, Ray Wilde, Elks' center, may be able tonight to flash some of his speed and tricks against the Enoch Rauh club of the Allegheny county league, billed as a special attraction at the high school gymnasium.

Wilde's ankle is getting along famously, with good care and rest, and while still a trifle weak, will probably be usable, the Chester star believes, for a short time at least.

Big Tony Paulsey of course will bear the brunt of the battle at center against the second place club of the western Pennsylvania loop, but when Wilde says the word he'll be sent in to work a while with his old mates.

The entire Elks, club will be on hand for the engagement, with Nate Lippe and Dave Shupe at the forwards, Paulsey at center and McConville and Anderson at the guards.

Lippe probably will have a tougher time against the Rauhs than the ordinary team, because his team mates are acquainted with his style and will leave nothing undone to put a crimp in it—if they can. Lippe earned most valuable player honors and the Gazette Times cup for his work with the Rauhs this season against county league foes, including the Lafayettes, who copped a couple from the Antlers.

The Rauhs won two and lost two i.. four games with the Lafayettes during the county league season, which should guarantee plenty of opposition for Powell's passers.

The clash between the Elks and the Rauhs will start at 9 o'clock, the regular Saturday night starting hour.

Another real preliminary joust is forecast with the booking of the Brian Clothiers and the Peacock Selects. The Brians triumhed over the Peacocks by a point or two in their last preliminary battle here and the latter will be out to even it up.

The prelim will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Anna Belle's Aim

Crooksville, O., may not get much space on the maps but the town boasts of Miss Anna Belle Stought, claimant of the scoring honors of the country for 1926-27 with a record of 92 field goals and 24 fouls for a total of 208 points for the season. She has played with the Crooksville high school team four.

Kearns and Mullins Hold Conference

CHICAGO, April 9.—Fistiana's gossip mills were grind ng out championship fights faster than they could be tabulated today following a long conference here between Jack Kearns and Promoter Jim Mullen.

Before returning to New York, Kearns tossed two bits of information to the hungering fans, to wit:

"Walker may be matched this summer against Dave Shade in a middleweight championship bout."

"Walker may be matched this summer against Tommy Milligan, middleweight champion of Great Britain, in a world's championship bout."

HORNSBY DEAL IS DEADLOCKED

Neither Player Nor Breadon Willing to Compromise.

PITTSBURGH, April 9. — Compromise? No! That was the attitude today of Rogers Hornsby, stockholder in the St. Louis Cardinals and second baseman of the New York Giants on the moot point as to whether the National league would care to make an issue of his dual allegiance.

Compromise? Impossible! That was the opinion of Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, who had made his bid for Hornsby's stock and felt that he was all washed up.

Hornsby said he had been offered $87,000 for his stock and would sell it at that price if the New York and St. Louis clubs and the National league would contribute a gratuity of $12,000 each. This, he explained, would net him the $123,000 he asks for the stock.

Breadon and the other club owners rejected this proposal. Breadon left for St. Louis well satisfied that Hornsby must abide by President John A. Heydler's edict or sell or forfeit his right to appear for the Giants at the National league opening in Philadelphia on Tuesday.

That Hornsby will lose little time in applying for an injunction restraining the National league from interfering with his ball playing seemed to be one of the inevitable aftermaths of the special National league meeting yesterday at which Hornsby and the club owners agreed to disagree. As matters finally stood Hornsby was offered $100,000 for his 1,167 shares by the National league, but declined to accept the offer.

So no compromise was the word. L. J. Bondy, attorney of the New York Giants, promised to take an injunction that would allow Hornsby to start the season as a player of the Giants in spite of the fact that he owned stock in the St. Louis Cardinals.

The injunction, Bondy explained today, would be answerable in five days and in the event that the injunction was not obeyed Bondy promised that definite action on a charge of contempt of court would be started as soon as the interested parties reached New York.

In brief it looks as though Hornsby and the National league had reached a parting of the ways. The last thing his attorney, William Fahey, said last night was that the player would go into court with his case and meantime would appear for the opening game of the 1927 season in Philadelphia and every day thereafter in an effort to earn his $30,000 contract with the Giants to whom he was traded last winter only a few months after he had won the pennant and world's title as a player manager of the Cardinals.

TROPHY CUP FOR LEAGUE CHAMPS

Review-Tribune to Make Award to Soft Ball Winners.

WITH seven clubs definitely on the roster, preliminary organization work on the Review-Tribune Recreation league was well along toward completion today.

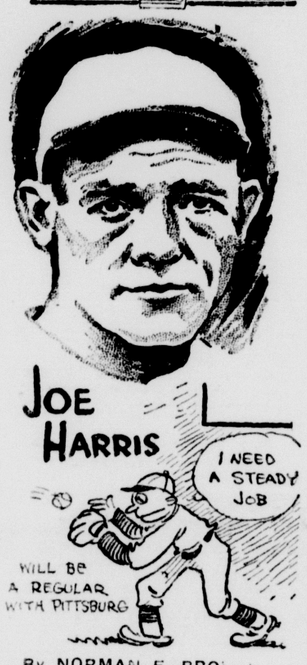

The latest clubs to sign on the dotted line are the C. W. Davis Heimies and the H. L. Smith company's "Smith News" nines.

In order to stimulate the race, which, judging from interest already evidenced in the new soft ball circuit here will not need a great deal of promotion, the Review-Tribune, sponsors of the loop, will award a handsome silver trophy cup to the winners at the end of the season.

Rules, schedule, playing lots, eligibility lists and other details will be discussed at a meeting which will be held in the near future.

The league roster now includes: Bulger Drugs, Printers, Homer Laughlin, High School Teachers, Y. M. C. A., Heimies and Smith News.

The Sports Hall of Fame

By NORMAN E. BROWN, Nominating JOE HARRIS.

BECAUSE he is one of the baseball Harrises.

Because he was "an uncertainty" as a major league player eight or nine years ago, because of his fielding.

Because the Cleveland Indians let him go some eight years ago, because they didn't want to take a chance on his legs, injured in the World war, and pay him what he asked to play first base.

Because he helped bat the Washington Senators to a pennant or two and one world's series victory some six years later.

Because the Senators decided last winter that he was through again and let him go to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Because he's scheduled to play regularly with the Pittsburgh team this year, provided he can get a little neuritis out of his carcass.

And because he travels under the startling moniker of "Moon."

Gotham Clubs Get Shivery Welcome

NEW YORK, April 9.—Greater New York gave its three big league teams a shivering welcome today. The Giants who have won eight games from Washington this spring, entertain the Senators at the Polo grounds while the Yankees play Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews in Brooklyn.

Dutch Henry, Giants' southpaw, is expected to be used frequently hereafter as a result of his brilliant 4 to 1 victory over the Senators in Washington yesterday.

Weissmuller Wins Tank Meet Honors

CHICAGO, April 9.—Johnny Weissmuller, Illinois A. C. aquatic star, today was in possession of the A. A. U., individual medal awarded for high point score in the four-day national A. A. U., senior championship meet which closed here last night. Weissmuller gathered sixteen points, while Walter Spence, of the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., his closest rival, finished second with 13.

In his last appearance, Weissmuller shattered the world's record for the 500-yard free style event, by clipping four seconds from the time made by Arne Borg last year while competing for the I. A. C. At the outset of the race Weissmuller led, and in the last swish down the tank he left ten years behind, Henry Clancy, of Philadelphia, who finished second.

The team cup was copped by the Illinois A C., with a total of 42 points. Far in the rear, tied for second place with 22 points, were the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., and the Chicago A. M. The New York A. C. with 15 points, rested in fourth position.

Fight Results

AT PHILADELPHIA—Joey Williams, won decision over Young Freddy Welsh, of Atlantic City, 8 rounds.

AT CHICAGO:—Henry Lenard, Chicago, featherweight, defeated Frankie Monroe, of California, 10 rounds.

Harry Forbes, of Columbus, Ohio, won decision over Tommy Ryan, of McKeesport, Pa.

FUTURE RIVAL FOR SUZANNE

Eleanor Zink, thirteen-year-old school girl of Steubenville, O., is the winner of the singles in the Women's Open Tennis Championships at Ormond Beach, Fla. Swift on the court and with a strong, sure drive Eleanor is looked upon as a possible futare rival for Suzanne Lenglen.

CHESTER HIGH NINE WINNER

In their initial clash of the season, outside of their own school league, Chester high trimmed Newell high baseballers yesterday afternoon by a count of 17 to 2.

Simcox was on the mound for the Chesterites with DeLong behind the bat.

Leonard Wins 10-Rounder.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Henry Lenard, Chicago featherweight, defeated Frankie Monroe of California, in the ten round main event at Ashland auditorium last night. Harry Forbes of Columbus, O., was awarded teh decision over Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., in the semi-windup.

M'HENRY DROPS FROM RANKS OF LOOP MAGNATES

Club Will be Managed This Season by Ed McVeigh.

The City Industrial Baseball League will launch its 1927 campaign with at least one new club, or one new name, anyway, as a result of a franchise transfer which was completed last night.

As a result of the deal, the Victory Motor franchise, held by Bob McHenry, goes to Ted Ganas, of the American Billiard Parlors, Sixth street, and the club will start the season under the name of the American Billiards.

Ed McVeigh, who was lined up with the Motors the past season, will manage the club, it was announced today.

McVeigh has called a meeting of all players to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the American pool room.

Ganas, it is understood, originally planned to back an independent team for Saturday, Sunday and holiday games, but with the acquisition of the City League club, will drop this venture.

Reds Back Home.

CINCINNATI, O., April 9. — Their home-coming marred by rain, which caused the only cancellation on the six-week training schedule, the Reds were back today, prepared for a clash this afternoon with the Cleveland Indians here. Manager Hendricks planned to start three pitchers—Donohue, Eppa Rixey and Carl Mays—against the Clevelanders, and his league opening selection will depend upon their showings.

And because he travels under the startling moniker of "Moon."

Gotham Clubs Get Shivery Welcome

NEW YORK, April 9.—Greater New York gave its three big league teams a shivering welcome today. The Giants who have won eight games from Washington this spring, entertain the Senators at the Polo grounds while the Yankees play Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews in Brooklyn.

Dutch Henry, Giants' southpaw, is expected to be used frequently hereafter as a result of his brilliant 4 to 1 victory over the Senators in Washington yesterday.

Weissmuller Wins Tank Meet Honors

CHICAGO, April 9.—Johnny Weissmuller, Illinois A. C. aquatic star, today was in possession of the A. A. U., individual medal awarded for high point score in the four-day national A. A. U., senior championship meet which closed here last night. Weissmuller gathered sixteen points, while Walter Spence, of the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., his closest rival, finished second with 13.

In his last appearance, Weissmuller shattered the world's record for the 500-yard free style event, by clipping four seconds from the time made by Arne Borg last year while competing for the I. A. C. At the outset of the race Weissmuller led, and in the last swish down the tank he left ten years behind, Henry Clancy, of Philadelphia, who finished second.

The team cup was copped by the Illinois A. C., with a total of 42 points. Far in the rear, tied for second place with 22 points, were the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., and the Chicago A. M. The New York A. C. with 15 points, rested in fourth position.

Fight Results

AT PHILADELPHIA—Joey Williams, won decision over Young Freddy Welsh, of Atlantic City, 8 rounds.

AT CHICAGO:—Henry Lenard, Chicago, featherweight, defeated Frankie Monroe, of California, 10 rounds.

Harry Forbes, of Columbus, Ohio, won decision over Tommy Ryan, of McKeesport, Pa.

FUTURE RIVAL FOR SUZANNE

Eleanor Zink, thirteen-year-old school girl of Steubenville, O., is the winner of the singles in the Women's Open Tennis Championships at Ormond Beach, Fla. Swift on the court and with a strong, sure drive Eleanor is looked upon as a possible future rival for Suzanne Lenglen.

CHESTER HIGH NINE WINNER

In their initial clash of the season, outside of their own school league, Chester high trimmed Newell high baseballers yesterday afternoon by a count of 17 to 2.

Simcox was on the mound for the Chesterites with DeLong behind the bat.

Leonard Wins 10-Rounder.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Henry Lenard, Chicago featherweight, defeated Frankie Monroe of California, in the ten round main event at Ashland auditorium last night. Harry Forbes of Columbus, O., was awarded teh decision over Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., in the semi-windup.

M'HENRY DROPS FROM RANKS OF LOOP MAGNATES

Club Will be Managed This Season by Ed McVeigh.

The City Industrial Baseball League will launch its 1927 campaign with at least one new club, or one new name, anyway, as a result of a franchise transfer which was completed last night.

As a result of the deal, the Victory Motor franchise, held by Bob McHenry, goes to Ted Ganas, of the American Billiard Parlors, Sixth street, and the club will start the season under the name of the American Billiards.

Ed McVeigh, who was lined up with the Motors the past season, will manage the club, it was announced today.

McVeigh has called a meeting of all players to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the American pool room.

Ganas, it is understood, originally planned to back an independent team for Saturday, Sunday and holiday games, but with the acquisition of the City League club, will drop this venture.

Reds Back Home.

CINCINNATI, O., April 9. — Their home-coming marred by rain, which caused the only cancellation on the six-week training schedule, the Reds were back today, prepared for a clash this afternoon with the Cleveland Indians here. Manager Hendricks planned to start three pitchers—Donohue, Eppa Rixey and Carl Mays—against the Clevelanders, and his league opening selection will depend upon their showings.

Fannie Ward, Popular Actress of the American Stage writes:

"Being looked upon as a sort of female Ponce de Leon, I have to guard not only my appearance against oncoming years, but all those other things that cruel Father Time preys upon—especially the voice. When women ask me which cigarette will not age the voice, or irritate the throat, I open my little cigarette case and show them the one I smoke—'The Lucky Strike.'"

Fannie Ward

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection

When in New York you are cordially invited to see how Lucky Strikes are made at our exhibit, corner Broadway and 45th Street.

WHAT'S THIS BOUT ALL ABOUT?

The reward of Paolino Uzcudin, Spanish heavy, for whipping Tom Heeney of Australia the other night is a crack at Jack Delaney, French Canadian. But the last named was defeated by Jimmy Maloney of Massachusetts earlier in Tex Rickard's so-called heavyweight tourney. So the gent from the Pyrenees will be progressing backwards. But it ought to be a nice fight.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

TO digress from the main topic of the day — baseball—for a moment.

Our distinguished visitor, Edvin Wide, Sweden's star distance runner, plans to exhibit his heels in one more indoor meet this spring and then depart for home.

His trip is heralded as somewhat of a disappointment by athletic followers and this, I believe, is an injustice to Wide.

Wide was in no sense Paavo Nurmi, as Nurmi was when the announcement was made that the former planned a trip to this country. The Swedish school teacher is one of the best distance men his country has produced in years, but he is not a "wonder man," as was Nurmi — fleetest man ever to flash a pair of spiked shoes over the longer distances abroad.

Wide was in no sense a Charley Hoff—a phenominal pole vaulter and one of those rare individuals born to athletics once in a hundred years.

Wide has been soundly beaten twice since his arrival. But there can be no disgrace in losing to an opponent who flies over the boards in world's record time to do it.

There has always been much keen rivalry between New York and Chicago in an athletic sense. The staging of the annual army-navy game in the Illinois metropolis last winter marked the culmination of a long struggle to share such an honor with the eastern rival.

Which brings us to the point involved—that the Windy City has just suffered its most humiliating experience in having "the finals" of the Bud Taylor-Tony Canzoneri fight apparently lifted to New York.

The two boys met at Chicago the other night in a battle that was to decide the logical successor to the bantamweight title left on the doorstep by Phil Rosenberg. Jim Mullen, the promoter, hung up a nice studded belt, with the studs all shined up.

Then the battle ended in a draw.

And before Mullen had put the disgrace paper back on his belt word came from New York that the two men probably would be matched for a return bout there—to settle the title dispute.

Oh death, where is thy uppercut?

Training Camps

Sox in Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., April 9.—Ray Schalk and his globe-trotting White Sox were in Toledo today for a two-game series. The first will be played today. The Sox fought a ten-inning draw with Louisville yesterday, the game ending ing a 4-4 tie.

Rain Stops Cubs.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—The Cubs were beginning to show signs of restlessness today under their enforced idleness. Rain of the past two days has not only washed away the series with the Kansas City Blues, but made it impossible for the Cubs to limber up in practice.

BLOUGH UNDER DENTIST'S CARE

WOOSTER, O., April 9.—Both the Wooster college track and baseball squads are now down to hard work in preparation for the spring schedules. The track season opens with two relay teams entered in the C. A. C. relays at Cleveland, April 16. Another game has been added to the baseball schedule and now for an opener Wooster plays Hiram at Hiram, April 22.

With track prospects better than the average this season, under the direction of Coaches Swigart and Munson, Wooster runners are rapidly rounding into form. The Wooster mentors will select the one and two mile teams for the meet at Cleveland the first of next week. Captain Crothers is certain to run on both teams.

"Pete" Blough, captain-elect in football for next fall and hurler on the baseball team, has been unable to report for baseball so far this spring. Pete got some teeth broken in a basketball game and is now under the dentist's care. He is expected to report for baseball in a few days.

Nearly 2,000,000 American bathing caps were donned in foreign lands last year.

UPAN ADAM

"No big league manager tries to make his hurling staff a financial success. The best pitching goes into the hands of the receiver."

SCHLEITER'S
OUR MOTTO IS TO PLEASE

WHAT'S THIS BOUT ALL ABOUT?

The reward of Paolino Uzcudin, Spanish heavy, for whipping Tom Heeney of Australia the other night is a crack at Jack Delaney, French Canadian. But the last named was defeated by Jimmy Maloney of Massachusetts earlier in Tex Rickard's so-called heavyweight tourney. So the gent from the Pyrenees will be progressing backwards. But it ought to be a nice fight.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

TO digress from the main topic of the day — baseball—for a moment.

Our distinguished visitor, Edvin Wide, Sweden's star distance runner, plans to exhibit his heels in one more indoor meet this spring and then depart for home.

His trip is heralded as somewhat of a disappointment by athletic followers and this, I believe, is an injustice to Wide.

Wide was in no sense Paavo Nurmi, as Nurmi was when the announcement was made that the former planned a trip to this country. The Swedish school teacher is one of the best distance men his country has produced in years, but he is not a "wonder man," as was Nurmi — fleetest man ever to flash a pair of spiked shoes over the longer distances abroad.

Wide was in no sense a Charley Hoff—a phenominal pole vaulter and one of those rare individuals born to athletics once in a hundred years.

Wide has been soundly beaten twice since his arrival. But there can be no disgrace in losing to an opponent who flies over the boards in world's record time to do it.

There has always been much keen rivalry between New York and Chicago in an athletic sense. The staging of the annual army-navy game in the Illinois metropolis last winter marked the culmination of a long struggle to share such an honor with the eastern rival.

Which brings us to the point involved—that the Windy City has just suffered its most humiliating experience in having "the finals" of the Bud Taylor-Tony Canzoneri fight apparently lifted to New York.

The two boys met at Chicago the other night in a battle that was to decide the logical successor to the bantamweight title left on the doorstep by Phil Rosenberg. Jim Mullen, the promoter, hung up a nice studded belt, with the studs all shined up.

Then the battle ended in a draw.

And before Mullen had put the disue paper back on his belt word came from New York that the two men probably would be matched for a return bout there—to settle the title dispute.

Oh death, where is thy uppercut?

Training Camps

Sox in Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., April 9.—Ray Schalk and his globe-trotting White Sox were in Toledo today for a two-game series. The first will be played today. The Sox fought a ten-inning draw with Louisville yesterday, the game ending ing a 4-4 tie.

Rain Stops Cubs.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—The Cubs were beginning to show signs of restlessness today under their enforced idleness. Rain of the past two days has not only washed away the series with the Kansas City Blues, but made it impossible for the Cubs to limber up in practice.

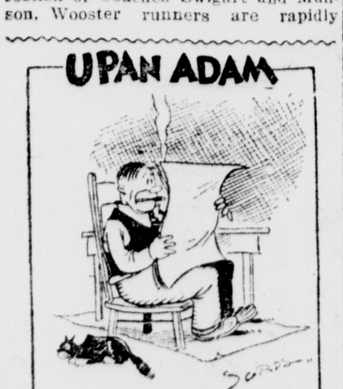

BLOUGH UNDER DENTIST'S CARE

WOOSTER, O., April 9.—Both the Wooster college track and baseball squads are now down to hard work in preparation for the spring schedules. The track season opens with two relay teams entered in the C. A. C. relays at Cleveland, April 16. Another game has been added to the baseball schedule and now for an opener Wooster plays Hiram at Hiram, April 22.

With track prospects better than the average this season, under the direction of Coaches Swigart and Munson, Wooster runners are rapidly rounding into form. The Wooster mentors will select the one and two mile teams for the meet at Cleveland the first of next week. Captain Crothers is certain to run on both teams.

"Pete" Blough, captain-elect in football for next fall and hurler on the baseball team, has been unable to report for baseball so far this spring Pete got some teeth broken in a basketball game and is now under the dentist's care. He is expected to report for baseball in a few days.

Nearly 2,000,000 American bathing caps were donned in foreign lands last year.

"No big league manager tries to make his hurling staff a financial success. The best pitching goes into the hands of the receiver."

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mail ing room comes to call. Her name is LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director, DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister, ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together. A dark little girl comes to Hattie's dressing room, saying it used to be hers. De Brissac wants Hattie to go away for a week with him on his yacht. The little dark girl comes to his office while Hattie is there and tries to throw acid on her, but De Brissac prevents her, although his hand is burned. Hattie tries to tell Alice that she can't go back to De Brissac's studio to work, but her sister tells her they need more money and that she must stick to her contract. She refuses to go to De Brissac's office again after work and meets O'Malley and goes to dinner with him.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN.

Henry seemed very nice when he tucked the robe about her knees and settled comfortably behind the steering wheel. She wondered, as he turned south on Santa Monica Boulevard where he was taking her. Then he said—

"A little ride'll do you good before we eat, Hattie."

A new bold thought came. She rested her hand on his sleeve. "Henry."

"Yes, child."

"Take me into L. A."

He gave her a glance.

"We might—have dinner at the Alexandria."

"But—"

"I'm sick of hiding around."

He thought this over. Then, at a crossing, swung the car about and headed toward the city.

She glanced up at him. She was cuddled close against him. He seemed, more than ever before, a protector.

"You're not afraid, Henry, that he . . . I don't care myself but . . ."

"I'm glad you don't Hattie. As a matter of fact, I picked up a pretty interesting bit of news this afternoon. I don't think we'll have to be afraid of him. If there's a man in Beverly that shaking in his shoes tonight—and you can bet there's a hundred—it's Armand de Brissac."

He clamped his lips shut on that and drove on.

After checking their coats he went down to the washroom, and she moved circumspectly across the lobby of the hotel to the newstand. Her pulse was racing. The evening papers were all spread out there. Quickly her gaze roved over the headlines. . . Not a word! Only the usual murders and holdups and a society divorce here in the city. But they didn't attack all society because of its continual scandals any more than they attacked other institutions because of occasional personal troubles. Back in the mailing room she had heard frightful stories about certain powerful bankers and business men. The girls whispered them greedily. But the papers never attacked banks and business because of that. . . This was the mental attitude she had picked up on the lot. It had become part of her nervous fibre.

"Oh, you're over here! I lost you."

She asked herself, as she walked at Henry's side across the lobby and into the big, beautiful dining room, if he hadn't looked rather sharply at her. Why had he so abruptly stopped speaking of de Brissac? What had he heard? What was he thinking? At least he seemed still fond of her. With this reassuring thought she moved nearer so that her arm brushed his.

It was pleasant to be bowed to so deferentially by the head waiters. She had never before in her life been in such a room, though she had peeped into them. She wondered a little at her boldness in suggesting the place. . . . Henry seemed, as he seated her and took up the bewilderingly large menu card, magnificent. He knew just how to pick out a dinner from the confusion of print there. With a hot little uprush of jealousy she wondered how he had learned. He must have ordered dinner for lots of girls.

When the waiter had gone he leaned forward on the table and gazed soberly at her. He had nice brown eyes.

"Here's the de Brissac story. And I think I've got it straight. Lemsol's new secretary told Jimmy Wilson. They're going together." Jimmy Wilson was another of de Brissac's men. "His hand wasn't burned in the laboratory, but right in his own office. A girl threw carbolic at him. Rachael Rand. She was in the last picture he made out here—The Tempest. She isn't more than 18 now. They're keeping her quiet somewhere until he finishes up this week. Cost 'em something, too—holding up the work on her set."

Hattie couldn't move her eyes from his face.

"It hasn't got into the papers. Hushing it up. You see the police aren't in. But wouldn't you know Hell would begin to pop just when they're trying so hard to clean up. There's some other stories just waiting to break. . . Mr. Zeeck's on his way out from New York. I know he's worried. Even if he can hold his control in the business. You see, de Brissac's a big man—he's a wonderful man—but he's got foreign ideas. Hard to handle. Rachael isn't the first young girl in his story. There's always one of 'em around wherever he's working. I don't mind telling you, Hattie, I haven't felt so easy seeing you working with him. Even if he hasn't seemed to be rushing you."

He didn't know! . . .

"You see, de Brissac isn't so young, and he's not a Wally Reid for looks, but he's interesting. Women like him. You'll probably feel that I haven't any right to ask this, but—does he expect you to go on with him after this picture?"

Slowly, moodily, Hattie nodded.

"How long?"

"Three years."

He compressed his lips on that, and thoughtfully shook his head.

"You musn't, Hattie."

"What can I do?"

"Who signed your contract?"

"I did, and my sister."

"Is she your legal guardian?"

"Why—I suppose so."

"How old are you?"

"Seventeen last October."

"Look here—there's always a lot of legal technicalities in these contracts with minors. A good lawyer can shoot any one of 'em full of holes. I've got a friend, a lawyer here, who's handled a lot of such cases. He could break that contract."

"But—I don't quite see—"

"You could go into another studio. I don't know what they pay you, but it wouldn't surprise me a bit if we could do better for you."

"I get a hundred a week, this year."

"That's not enough. De Brissac's leading girl? Not enough."

"More next year."

"Not enough, Hattie" — his color was rising and his voice taking on a husky sound—"probably you'll think it's funny my going into your personal affairs like this, but you see I—oh, I'm crazy about you, Hattie! I can't bear to think of your sticking with de Brissac. Oh, he'll be good for a little while after this row. He doesn't want that kind of publicity now, any more than Zeeck or the big stars. But just the same it isn't safe. Sooner or later he'd get you. You mustn't mind my saying that! It doesn't make any difference that you're innocent and have sweet thoughts and natural character. You don't know what a skillful man can be. He hasn't any scruples. Really, I don't think he'd understand our kind. He isn't wholesome. I can't leave you there with him. I tell you, I'm crazy about you. Can't get you out of my thoughts."

Her own color was rising. She lowered her eyes.

Her name is LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director, DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister, ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together. A dark little girl comes to Hattie's dressing room, saying it used to be hers. De Brissac wants Hattie to go away for a week with him on his yacht. The little dark girl comes to his office while Hattie is there and tries to throw acid on her, but De Brissac prevents her, although his hand is burned. Hattie tries to tell Alice that she can't go back to De Brissac's studio to work, but her sister tells her they need more money and that she must stick to her contract. She refuses to go to De Brissac's office again after work and meets O'Malley and goes to dinner with him.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN.

Henry seemed very nice when he tucked the robe about her knees and settled comfortably behind the steering wheel. She wondered, as he turned south on Santa Monica Boulevard where he was taking her. Then he said—

"A little ride'll do you good before we eat, Hattie."

A new bold thought came. She rested her hand on his sleeve. "Henry."

"Yes, child."

"Take me into L. A."

He gave her a glance.

"We might—have dinner at the Alexandria."

"But—"

"I'm sick of hiding around."

He thought this over. Then, at a crossing, swung the car about and headed toward the city.

She glanced up at him. She was cuddled close against him. He seemed, more than ever before, a protector.

"You're not afraid, Henry, that he . . . I don't care myself but . . ."

"I'm glad you don't Hattie. As a matter of fact, I picked up a pretty interesting bit of news this afternoon. I don't think we'll have to be afraid of him. If there's a man in Beverly that shaking in his shoes tonight—and you can bet there's a hundred—it's Armand de Brissac."

He clamped his lips shut on that and drove on.

After checking their coats he went down to the washroom, and she moved circumspectly across the lobby of the hotel to the newstand. Her pulse was racing. The evening papers were all spread out there. Quickly her gaze roved over the headlines. . . Not a word! Only the usual murders and holdups and a society divorce here in the city. But they didn't attack all society because of its continual scandals any more than they attacked other institutions because of occasional personal troubles. Back in the mail ing room she had heard frightful stories about certain powerful bankers and business men. The girls whispered them greedily. But the papers never attacked banks and business because of that. . . This was the mental attitude she had picked up on the lot. It had become part of her nervous fibre.

"Oh, you're over here! I lost you."

She asked herself, as she walked at Henry's side across the lobby and into the big, beautiful dining room, if he hadn't looked rather sharply at her. Why had he so abruptly stopped speaking of de Brissac? What had he heard? What was he thinking? At least he seemed still fond of her. With this reassuring thought she moved nearer so that her arm brushed his.

It was pleasant to be bowed to so deferentially by the head waiters. She had never before in her life been in such a room, though she had peeped into them. She wondered a little at her boldness in suggesting the place. . . . Henry seemed, as he seated her and took up the bewilderingly large menu card, magnificent. He knew just how to pick out a dinner from the confusion of print there. With a hot little uprush of jealousy she wondered how he had learned. He must have ordered dinner for lots of girls.

When the waiter had gone he leaned forward on the table and gazed soberly at her. He had nice brown eyes.

"Here's the de Brissac story. And I think I've got it straight. Lemsol's new secretary told Jimmy Wilson. They're going together." Jimmy Wilson was another of de Brissac's men. "His hand wasn't burned in the laboratory, but right in his own office. A girl threw carbolic at him. Rachael Rand. She was in the last picture he made out here—The Tempest. She isn't more than 18 now. They're keeping her quiet somewhere until he finishes up this week. Cost 'em something, too—holding up the work on her set."

Hattie couldn't move her eyes from his face.

"It hasn't got into the papers. Hushing it up. You see the police aren't in. But wouldn't you know Hell would begin to pop just when they're trying so hard to clean up. There's some other stories just waiting to break. . . Mr. Zeeck's on his way out from New York. I know he's worried. Even if he can hold his control in the business. You see, de Brissac's a big man—he's a wonderful man—but he's got foreign ideas. Hard to handle. Rachael isn't the first young girl in his story. There's always one of 'em around wherever he's working. I don't mind telling you, Hattie, I haven't felt so easy seeing you working with him. Even if he hasn't seemed to be rushing you."

He didn't know! . . .

"You see, de Brissac isn't so young, and he's not a Wally Reid for looks, but he's interesting. Women like him. You'll probably feel that I haven't any right to ask this, but—does he expect you to go on with him after this picture?"

Slowly, moodily, Hattie nodded.

"How long?"

"Three years."

He compressed his lips on that, and thoughtfully shook his head.

"You musn't, Hattie."

"What can I do?"

"Who signed your contract?"

"I did, and my sister."

"Is she your legal guardian?"

"Why—I suppose so."

"How old are you?"

"Seventeen last October."

"Look here—there's always a lot of legal technicalities in these contracts with minors. A good lawyer can shoot any one of 'em full of holes. I've got a friend, a lawyer here, who's handled a lot of such cases. He could break that contract."

"But—I don't quite see—"

"You could go into another studio. I don't know what they pay you, but it wouldn't surprise me a bit if we could do better for you."

"I get a hundred a week, this year."

"That's not enough. De Brissac's leading girl? Not enough."

"More next year."

"Not enough. Hattie" — his color was rising and his voice taking on a husky sound—"probably you'll think it's funny my going into your personal affairs like this, but you see I—oh, I'm crazy about you, Hattie! I can't bear to think of your sticking with de Brissac. Oh, he'll be good for a little while after this row. He doesn't want that kind of publicity now, any more than Zeeck or the big stars. But just the same it isn't safe. Sooner or later he'd get you. You mustn't mind my saying that! It doesn't make any difference that you're innocent and have sweet thoughts and natural character. You don't know what a skillful man can be. He hasn't any scruples. Really, I don't think he'd understand our kind. He isn't wholesome. I can't leave you there with him. I tell you, I'm crazy about you. Can't get you out of my thoughts."

Her own color was rising. She lowered her eyes.

Today

Quite a Melon.
95% Brains and Labor.
Warning Coolidge.
They Hunt Heads. We Also.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

THE Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad will present to its stockholders a handsome "melon"—otherwise $92,000,000 cash. It is a good melon and due largely to good management.

Many farmers wish somebody would present some such melon to them. Perhaps President Coolidge will think out something almost as good between now and fall. He certainly would like to do it.

THERE is much prosperity in this country, and, fortunately for us, it is not all based on "natural resources"—oil, iron, coal, forests, good soil, etc. Most of it comes from inside the national skull. Sir Ernest Penn observes that American prosperity is, in many cases, 5 per cent natural resources, 95 per cent work intelligently organized. If natural resources alone counted, "Brazil, Liberia and Iceland would be the world's most prosperous countries."

Our automobiles, typewriters, elevators, radio instruments and other things in which we lead are 95 per cent brains and mechanical skill.

Sir Ernest says "Britain should introduce into this country a small percentage of American mentality and mix it with all the charm of the English point of view." Not a bad idea, but why "a small percentage?" Help yourself.

ANOTHER good Britisher, Sir George Palsh, "economist and publisher," calls on President Coolidge to tell him that he really must, and so must Uncle Sam, do something about changing our tariff. In fact, he "warns Coolidge" that Europe faces a serious situation because European countries cannot trade in this country as freely as they would like to."

THAT is too bad and it will interest the president. Also it will make him glad that the United States has a tariff. He likes Europe and would make reasonable concessions, no doubt, but unlike some others he hasn't forgotten that he is hired and paid by the United States, not by Europe.

A STRANGE, hitherto unknown tribe is found in Boreon, having for joy in life and principal sport, "head hunting," which means collecting heads of other savages. The old gentleman, in his declining years, sitting before his hut in the sunshine, with his large collection of heads piled one on another, is much admired. You say, "This is horrible." It is, but it persists to some extent among ourselves.

Review-Tribune Offers Booklet About Mexico

Why not be well informed about Mexico, one of the greatest questions of the day? Why not be able to state accurate facts instead of idle theories when Mexico is discussed? Why not be able to understand the news dispatches from Mexico?

Our Washington Information Bureau has prepared a plain, fact booklet about the republic to the south of us, giving a brief history of Mexico, and setting forth facts about the population, states, areas, railroads, mineral wealth, American interest, form of government, and other basic conditions of Mexico.

Every up-to-date American ought to know at least as much about Mexico as this booklet tells. Very few know one-tenth of it. Your copy may be secured through using the coupon below.

RAIN-SWOLLEN RIVERS SWEEP OKLAHOMA AND KANSAS AREAS

Heavy Toll of Property Destruction Reported.

DIKES BREAK

Business and Residential Sections are Under Water.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—Floods—the worst since 1903—were sweeping widespread areas in Kansas and Oklahoma today, leaving a heavy toll of loss of life and property destruction. At least 25 persons are dead today in the two states, according to reports here.

14 Drowned in One Town.

Torrential rains, at some places reaching waterspout proportions, have swollen streams in southern Kansas and Oklahoma and dikes are breaking in lowland areas and inundating business and residence sections.

The heaviest death toll occurred at Rockyford, Okla., where 14 Mexicans were drowned when the Washita river overflowed its banks and sent a wall of water to six feet deep roaring through the lowlands. Two Mexican families at Rockyford were also drowned.

According to reports to the weather bureau here, flood warnings have been issued along the following rivers in Kansas and Oklahoma:

Grand river, Washita, South Canadian, Canadian, Walnut, Verdigris, and Arkansas.

Torrential rains were still falling today in southern Kansas and parts of northern Oklahoma.

Railroad tracks in southeastern Kansas were flooded and along the Frisco and M-K-T roads miles of track at a stretch were inundated.

22 Reported Dead in Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 9.—Swirling waters of the Canadian and Washita rivers have reached a higher stage today in a flood that already has taken a toll of 22 lives in this state.

South of Rockyford, where 14 Mexicans were drowned, a wall of water was inundating thousands of acres of farm land and residents were moving to higher ground in the Washita valley.

Farm homes were swept away and railroad bridges were imperiled.

At Bartlesville on the Caney river, water was creeping into basements and driving hundreds from their homes. Warnings were issued to residents along the rivers to move to higher ground.

Mrs. Ella Stone, Former Resident Of Midland, Dies

Mrs. Ella Stone, 49, wife of A. G. Stone, former resident of Midland, Pa., died today in her home, 1229 Pennsylvania avenue, East End.

Besides her husband she leaves three sons: Howard, Carl and Emerson; one brother, Charles Dailey, and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Green, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, in charge of Rev. George C. Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Oak Grove cemetery, near Industry, Pa.

Friends may view the body tomorrow night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

ARMED OUTLAWS BIND GUARDS AT ELGIN, ILL., WATCH COMPANY PLANT

After Gagging Three Watchmen, Robbers Rig up Acetylene Torches and Burn Their Way Into Vaults, Working Leisurely for Three Hours Without Interruption.

ONE CUSTODIAN FORCED TO MAKE CALL-BOX ROUNDS DURING HOLD-UP

Loading Their Loot of Gold Plate and Other Materials in Bags, Gangsters Drive Away in Automobiles, Heading, it is Believed, Toward Chicago.

ELGIN, Ill., April 9.—Fifteen bandits, armed with machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and rifles, early today tied up three watchmen at the Illinois Watch Case company plant here and looted the huge vaults of gold plate and other materials valued roughly at $100,000.

The bandits surprised the watchmen shortly after midnight. After binding and gagging the three custodians, the bandits rigged up acetylene torches and burned their way into the company's vaults. They worked leisurely for three hours, without interruption.

After loading their loot in bags, the bandit crew drove away in four automobiles. It is believed they headed for Chicago. The robbery was reported a half hour later by a guard who freed himself.

A fourth watchman was taken prisoner, but he was not trussed up. One of the bandits kept him covered with a revolver and forced him to make the usual call-box rounds, reporting "All is well." This watchman was taken along in one of the bandit machines when the gang drove away.

Posses Take Up Trail.

The watchman who wiggled himself free, without waiting to liberate his companions, phoned Elgin police. News of the robbery was flashed to Chicago and all towns along the hard roads leading out of Elgin. Posses, quickly organized, took up the trail.

The watchman who reported the robbery said the bandits mounted a machine gun in a commanding spot overlooking the company's front gate. He said the bandit chieftain put a "gunner" in charge and told him to shoot down any who tried to enter. While this gunner stood watch, the others looted the vaults.

Every vault in the plant, which is one of the largest in Chicago district, was entered. While the exact value of the loot is not known, Eight officials said it would probably be in excess of $100,000.

Three cars roaring along at better than 60 miles an hour were later reported seen at Dundee, Ill., and Fort Atkinson, Wis., causing authorities to believe the bandits might have headed for Minneapolis.

The men were evidently familiar with the plant according to the watchmen. Several of the bandits addressed the captives by their nick-names

SACCO AND VANZETTI HEAR FATE SEALED IN SHOE FACTORY CRIME

"You Know We Are Innocent," Sacco Cries Out Dramatically as Dedham Judge Pronounces Sentence.

EXECUTIONS SET FOR JULY 10

Men Convicted of Slaying Paymaster and Guard in 1920 Will Pay Penalty in Electric Chair.

DEDHAM, Mass., April 9.—Nicola Sacco and Bortolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of slaying a South Braintree shoe factory paymaster and his guard in 1920, were sentenced today to die in the electric chair during the week of July 10.

As sentence was pronounced Sacco cried out dramatically: "You know we are innocent."

Judge Webster Thayer continued with the sentencing.

One Man Attempts to Speak.

Vanzetti, the second called for sentencing attempted to speak in broken English as Judge Thayer began pronouncing sentence.

Vanzetti apparently wished to speak to defense counsel, William G. Thompson.

"I believe I will continue with sentencing," broke in Judge Thayer and sentence was then pronounced.

After sentence had been pronounced both Sacco and Vanzetti were given permission to address the court in the usual order of procedure.

"I Never Kill," Shouts Prisoner

Both stated they were innocent.

"I am innocent, not only of the South Braintree murder but of the Bridgewater robbery," said Vanzetti in broken English. He has been serving a term in state's prison for the Bridgewater robbery.

Raising his voice to a high key, Vanzetti fairly shouted:

"I never in all my life kill or spill blood. I have struggled all my life since I began to reason to eliminate crime."

Pays Tribute to Debs.

Vanzetti stated that if some of the people who had stood behind him would come to the witness stand and tell what they know things would be changed.

Then, Vanzetti turned to Judge Thayer, stating: "You, Judge Thayer, and I am sorry to say this because you are an old man, should be sitting here with us.

"You see me not trembling, not in fear but looking you in the eye."

Then Vanzetti paid a sincere tribute to the late Eugene Debs, who Vanzetti said, was "prosecuted and slandered from boyhood upward for the principles he upheld."

Vanzetti went on: "The flower of mankind of Europe has pleaded in our favor. The scientists, the people of the nation and others (pointing to Mrs. Glendower Evans, prominent Boston social worker, who was in the courtroom) are for us."

BRITISH SHIP SHELLS FORT AT CHINKIANG

Destroyer Silences Guns of Chinese Fort.

CRISIS IS NEAR

Two Americans Released From Custody by Peking Police.

LONDON, April 9.—The British destroyer Veteran shelled a Chinese fort near Chinkiang today after being attacked by gunfire from the Chinese within the fort, according to a Shanghai dispatch. The Veteran was struck while silencing the Chinese guns, but no casualties were reported.

The reports to the admiralty stated that the Veteran replied to the Chinese fire with her full armament of four guns and fired 80 rounds before the Chinese were effectually silenced.

Chiang Goes to Nanking

SHANGHAI, April 9.—The departure of Chiang Kai-Shek, military leader of the nationalists, for Nanking was accepted here today as indicative of the approach of a decisive crisis in the struggle for supremacy in the Nationalist movement.

Next week a conference between Chiang and the Extremist members of the Nationalist party is scheduled to be held in Nanking and this conference should determine whether the two branches of the Nationalists are to cooperate further or whether there is to be an open breach.

Although announcement has been made here that the radical element has agreed to participate in this conference, there were reports current today that the Communists will not send delegates and will ignore Chiang.

RINI AND GIRL AWAIT GRAND JURY VOTE IN ANANIA DEATH

East Liverpool Man's Indictment for Murder Sought.

CRIME DENIED

April Term of Court Opens on Monday.

Charges of murder filed against Salvatore Rini, 27, this city, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, Minneapolis, who are held in the death of Pasquale Anania, 25, Wellsville, in a Walnut street apartment house on March 22, will be investigated by the Columbiana county grand jury, meeting for the April term of court in Lisbon on Monday.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes is expected to seek a first degree indictment against Rini, action against the woman is problematical.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas are in the county jail. The man was denied bond, while Mrs. Chorgas, his sister-in-law, is being held in default of $20,000 bond, $10,000 upon the murder charge and $10,000 as a material witness.

The grand jury will probably remain in session three or four days. Nearly 100 witnesses, 25 of whom will appear on Monday, have been subpoenaed. Thirty-five others have been summoned to appear on Tuesday and the remainder on Wednesday or Thursday.

Charges of petit larceny, automobile stealing, obtaining money under false pretenses and issuing fraudulent checks, as well as the Anania case.

The grand jury will meet in court room No 2. W. H. Frazier will act as court constable.

Mrs. Margaret Shea, 63, Widow, Dies; Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Margaret Shea, 63, widow of John Shea, died today in her home, 240 West Fourth street, as a result of a paralytic stroke.

Mrs. Shea was born in Salineville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Maher. She had been a resident of East Liverpool for 49 years.

She is survived by three sons and four daughters: Michael, Cleveland; Frank, New York; Edward and Mrs A. J. Barry, East Liverpool, and Helen, at home.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Aloysius Catholic church. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Joseph Langfitt, 39, Driller, Falls Dead in Smithfield

Joseph Langfitt, 39, oil well driller, residing five miles east of New Cumberland, fell dead of heart disease while at work near Smithfield, Jefferson county at 12 o'clock last night.

He is survived by his widow, nee Pearl Warwick, four children, Kenneth, Gladys, Alma and Dean; his mother, Mrs. Martha Langfitt, and one sister, Mrs. Warren Wylie, all near New Cumberland.

The body was removed to the Ridgely undertaking establishment at Smithfield and will be brought to his home tonight.

Steubenville Jury Probes Slaying of Mrs. Goldie Boley

The Jefferson county grand jury in session at Steubenville began its investigation yesterday into the death of Mrs. Goldie Boley, former East Liverpool woman, for which her husband, Theodore Boley, 27, Glen Robin mill worker, is being held on a murder charge.

Boley has filed a petition in the Jefferson county common pleas court, asking that a lunacy commission be called to determine his sanity.

Boley choked his wife to death during a quarrel, police say.

Coolidge-Dawes, Smith-Donahey, Fess' Prediction

CLEVELAND, April 9.—Addressing a reunion banquet of Scottish Rite Masons here, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio has predicted the following presidential ticket in 1928:

Republican.

For president—Calvin Coolidge, Massachusetts.

For vice president — Charles G. Dawes, Illinois.

Democrat.

For president — Al Smith, New York.

For vice president—A. V. Donahey, Ohio.

"Nothing can stop Coolidge if he decides to be a candidate," said Fess, "and Smith will be nominated as surely as the sun rises in the morning."

Rural Lane Man Admits Possession of Liquor.

Philip Wingrove, Rural lane, paid a fine of $500 and costs today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley. He was represented by Attorney Frank Grosshans.

Wingrove was arrested after Captain Conley and Patrolmen Lister and McFarland raided his home Wednesday night. Police, who battered in the back door of the house, claimed that Wingrove was caught in the act of dumping a pitcher of whisky in the sewer. About half a pint of the liquor was saved as evidence.

Police said this is Wingrove's third liquor violation since Judge Hanley took office. He was fined $100 on the first offense and, about two months ago, paid $200 for his second offense. Wingrove's was the second $500 fine to be assessed by Judge Hanley for a liquor violation this week.

POLITICAL PAGES TURNED BACK TO LINCOLN'S TIME AS SENATOR BORAH AND DR. BUTLER DEBATE

BOSTON, April 9.—Dreams of leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties to have their organizations sit securely on the fence and watch the prohibition issue sweep by were shattered today, according to opinion in many political quarters, following the debate in crowded Symphony hall last evening between United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, on the dry issue.

The question under debate was: "Should the Republican national platform of 1928 advocate the repeal of the 18th amendment?"

Observers Call it "Draw."

While President Butler argued for the repeal of the amendment and Senator Borah, in a fiery reply, asserted that the amendment could be enforced and should not be disturbed, both speakers seemed agreed that prohibition is an issue to be reckoned with.

Robert M. Washburn, president of the Roosevelt club, sponsor of the debate, declared the "lesson of the meeting" was "That the constitution shall be enforced as written or as amended and that the present situation should cease."

The question of who won the debate was a much-discussed matter today. Some observers said it was "a draw." Others declared that the applause showed Senator Borah a victor. Still others asserted that Dr. Butler had won. Nine men, all prominent citizens, selected by a local newspaper as "Unofficial Judges" stood: Borah 6; Butler 3.

Outstanding today, however, above the question under debate was what political observers declared to be the turning back of political pages to the days of federalism, Jackson Democracy and the time before the Civil war—the return of public discussion by debates between champions of each side in a verbal battle royal.

Each speaker last evening presented his cause with brilliance. Dr. Butler declared the 18th amendment "a stupendous error," that public opinion forever prevents its enforcement, that the matter of prohibition should be left to states, that crime and corruption have followed in the wake of the prohibition law, and that government control, as in Quebec, is a possible solution.

"No aspirant for public office can

MUSKRATS PROTECTED ON "FORTIFIED" FARM

To protect from 5,000 to 8,000 muskrats being raised, a farm at Wauseon, O., is virtually fortified. Five acres are enclosed by an electrified fence and a tower, with a searchlight, overlooks the farm. Photos show (top) one of the muskrats; lower left, the tower; lower right, the farm; with insets of Dr. R. O. Buck and his father, O. H. Buck, who, with Frank Bartlett, own this unique farm. Muskrats are used for food and fur.

BASEBALL CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Mayor Frank H. Riley Re-elected Manager of League Team.

Officials and players of the Chester team of the Industrial baseball league met last night in the municipal building when plans were discussed for the coming season.

The following officers were elected: Manager, Frank H. Riley; secretary-treasurer, Virgil Hasson; board of directors, William White, Earl Milby, Elmer Allison and Alfred Idahl.

First practice session will be held Monday, April 18. The grounds will be put into condition before the opening of the season.

It was announced that Paul Bennett, student at Wabash college, would join the club about June 14.

Players of the club will be insured against accidents during the playing season.

BURT DECLINES ROAD POSITION

Wheeling Man Refuses Tender of Governor Howard M. Gore.

A. Burt, of Wheeling, chairman of the commission appointed by the 1925 legislature to draft a workable tax law for West Virginia, last night declined the appointment as state road commissioner tendered him by Governor Howard M. Gore.

Announcement of Mr. Burt's rejection of the affair was made following a conference he had with the governor. Governor Gore had offered Mr. Burt the vacancy on the road commission created by the resignation of Charles E. Hiner, who had charge of the automobile division of the highway department.

In connection with his announcement declining the appointment, Mr. Burt issuing the following statement:

"It is a source of sincere regret to me that committments and obligations of a personal nature, which cannot immediately be adjusted, make it impossible for me to accept membership on the state road commision, as tendered by the governor. I have given serious thought to these obligations and the potential consequences of their abandonment and it is with reluctance that I decline this unusual opportunity for public service.

"The exacting work of the state tax commission has occupied a large share of my time in the last 18 months and this fact makes it doubly necessary for me to give needful attention to obligations and committments made by me prior to the tender of the honor conferred upon me and the confidence expressed by the governor and desire to give public expression to that fact."

To Install Elders.

Elders elected at a recent congregational meeting will be ordained and installed at the services tomorrow morning in the First Presbyterian church.

Kaynee Wash Suits FOR BOYS

A year's time brings a surprising growth to boys from 2 to 8 years. No doubt your son has outgrown his last year's wash suits and needs a new supply for the coming Spring. Of course every Mother is looking for serviceability in boys' washtogs. A healthy, sturdy boy needs to give vent to his energy and play instincts and his clothes must allow him free play.

You will will find the Kaynee Washtogs entirely satisfactory in the respect of durability. Made of the best of fabrics, they stand an enormous amount of wear. Every seam is double stitched. No chance is taken with the buttons—they are on to stay. Every detail is finished in a way that puts to shame even women's garments.

Not only are they durable, but they combine smartness and style with their serviceability. They are well tailored, manly little models with plenty of pockets to hold a boy's dear possessions.

We are now showing our new Spring display of these well-known washtogs. Among them are the button-on styles and the very popular belted Flapper suits. The latter are particularly in favor now.

These Kaynee washtogs come in all the gay new colors—shades of tan, blue, orange, green, etc., and keep their colors too, after many launderings.

There are broadcloths, linens, ginghams and suitings. Some are all of one color—others have plain color pants and dotted or striped waists. White collars and cuffs—embroidered motifs and other trimming features.

Sizes 2 to 8. Priced frof $1.95 to $5.75.

Boys' Kaynee Blouses - 79c.

Group of boys' Kaynee blouses—sizes 7 to 13. In neat percale prints and stripes on white backround. Well made—will withstand much wear and tear.

Mississippi River Traffic Increased By Six New Barges

MOLINE, Ill.—Six of the steel barges to be placed in service on the Mississippi river, between St. Louis and as far north of Moline as the river will permit, now are completed and will be placed in operation soon.

These boats, built at Dubuque, Ia., will be operated in conjunction with the Federal barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans. Additional barges will be constructed, if the traffic warrants.

These barges are of an advanced type and capable of operating when the water is at low stage, carrying 250 tons at a 4 foot depth and 500 tons when the water is higher.

It is hoped that eventually traffic will be such that fifteen or more of the boats will be operated.

Bob and Shingle Saves Lives.

That the bob and the shingle has saved many lives in England is the opinion gained in a symposium gathered recently. Alderman Ben Turner, of Batley, Yorkshire, president of the National Union of Textile Workers, said: "Bobbed hair has been one of the greatest blessings to women factory workers as regards safety, health, and cleanliness. Not for two years have we had a case of a woman's hair being caught in the machinery, whereas such accidents used to be rather frequent.' Dr. J. H. Wilkinson, Medical Officer of Health for Oldham, remarked: "The bobbed or shingled head has manifest advantages in the matter of cleanliness, especially where girls work among the fluff and dust of the cotton processes." "The Eton crop is perhaps best of all for cleanliness," said Dr. Buchan, Medical Officer of Health for Bradford.

WILLYS KNIGHT

After 43,000 miles

"SMOOTH AS EVER"

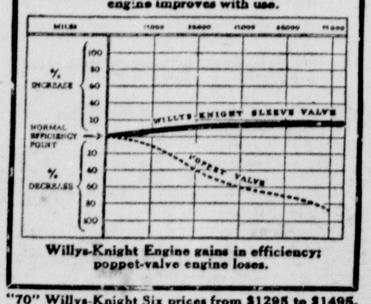

"After driving my Willys-Knight 43,000 miles, the motor ran as smoothly as when I bought it." From one of many enthusiastic owners.

The Willys-Knight engine is the only type of engine that improves with use—constantly gaining in smoothness, power, economy.

In addition, the Willys-Knight offers these important advantages:

Belflex shackles for chassis silence · Positive, mechanical 4-wheel brakes · Skinner oil rectifier prevents crankcase dilution · 7-bearing crankshaft · Narrow front posts for greater vision · Light control at steering wheel · Adjustable front seat · 8 Timken bearings in front axle · New-type air cleaner · Thermostatic temperature control of cooling system

Smoother, quieter, more powerful—the engine improves with use.

Willys-Knight Engine gains in efficiency; poppet-valve engine loses.

"70" Willys-Knight Six prices from $1295 to $1495. Willys-Knight Great Six, "for those who want the finest," $1850 to $2295. Prices f. o. b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice. Purchases may be arranged on convenient terms. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.

Pullman Car Debaters

According to some Pullman car conversations, the nation is practically torn apart by vicious disagreement on the wet and dry question. There is no better place to hear exaggerated conversati- than in the smoking compartment. It is an exaggeration to say that the wet and dry, or the enforcement policies of the Coolidge administration, are subject to doubt. Fortunately, we Americans are practically unanimous in favoring law enforcement on the ground of general decency.

So the Pullman car debaters may take the appointment of Roy Haynes by President Coolidge as an answer to all the exaggerated conjectures as to this and that angle of administration policy and settle down to a realization that Mr. Coolidge is attempting to secure the very best assistance in enforcing the prohibition law.

Roy Haynes may be kidded by the wet followers. He may be jibed by those who feel the Anti-Saloon league is a professional reformer. But the president knows him to be a sincere and consistent dry who believes in law enforcement. So do all good, substantial Americans whether they vote wet or dry. And therefore the appointment of Roy Haynes is decidedly a forward step in the national administration's prohibition policy.

Unclipped Coupons

A whole lot of people in this prosperous land bought Liberty bonds during the war, put them away in safe places and apparently proceeded to forget them and the nice little coupons which may be clipped twice a year and turned into ready cash.

The treasury department reports that tens of millions invested in these war bonds are untouched. None of their interest coupons have ever been cashed. This idle sum amounts to $35,000,000. If it were reinvested at only 3 1-2 per cent interest, it would net more than $1,000,000 a year.

There are other government securities which matured years ago but which are ignored by their owners. They are worth more than $40,000,000.

Americans may be as money-mad as some of their critics assert, but they are also amazingly simple or careless in some of their financial actions. Quite a number of things could be purchased with those neglected coupons—even the smallest of them would pay for a couple of movies or a good show, and the larger ones or the sum of a number of small ones would pay for more important things.

Understanding The News

A youngster in New York who will be graduated from high school next January has just won $70 in the World's "Biggest News of the Week" competition. One prize of $20 was the regular weekly award for the best essay on the biggest news. The other $50 was a bonus given for level-headedness and calm analysis of news.

The subject that this pupil chose was news from China. Many other pupils also picked that out as the most important, but they were biased in their discussion by the general confusion. They gave space to unverified reports and editorial assertions. The winner somehow overcame the handicap of public excitement. He says he studied the news in two daily papers and different viewpoints, comparing the reports in each and reviewing all the news at the end of the week. Thus he observed that there was considerable rumor and hearsay mixed among the verifiable facts.

That high school boy sets a shining example for adult newspaper readers and for adult writers on the Chinese or any other situation. May the lad who got $50 for being sane and open-minded retain that attitude as he grows up. He'll be a valuable citizen if he does.

Don't Be Sudden

"There is one bit of advice," says a big automobile man," "which if generally applied would prevent most of the automobile accidents:

"Don't do anything suddenly.

"Apply that to starting, stopping, backing, changing directions, turning, crossing railroads, entering intersections, etc., and nearly all the causes of accident are eliminated."

This is sound, worth thinking over and taking to heart. It is usually the man who does something quickly, different from what he was doing the instant before, who causes a mix-up or accident.

It is not a universal rule, however, as the giver realizes. For there are occasions when a person has to act suddenly in order to meet a sudden emergency caused by his own oversight or someone else's carelessness.

Perhaps the rule could be amended thus:

"Be careful about suddenly changing your speed or direction."

Will Rogers may be all right in his way, but he'd never make a real estate man. He says "a place looks better before it gets houses on it than it does afterwards."

China has one big advantage in dealing with the western powers. She can drive them out by simply refusing to have anything to do with them.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE STILL SMALL VOICE OF PRIDE.

To me, there is, along with the humor of this yarn, an underlying note of pathos, which as it should be. Comedy inevitably takes on added power when it actually is contrasted with tragedy. The story has an English setting, but the type it depicts is common in our country, too.

An elderly unmarried lady is the central figure of it. She was gently reared and all her life, until financial misfortune came to her, had been in comfortable circumstances. Now, though, she was much put to it for a means of livelihood.

Luckily, she owned a few hens and in the newly risen emergency she decided that it was incumbent upon her to swallow her pride and go forth in the highways and byways and peddle eggs.

But she did not altogether succeed in swallowing it, as the sequel will show.

With a basket on her arm she walked along the sidewalk of a bystreet in her native town saying, over and over again in an agonized whisper:

"Eggs, tuppence. Eggs, tuppence. I hope to Heaven no one hears me! I hope on one sees me! Eggs tuppence."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 9.—I was recently present at the denouement of one of those polite society thieves. He was a slick young rascal who knew all the answers and tossed nickels around like he might heroic statues in bronze.

He came as such pilferers do from nowhere in particular and in the careless Manhattan manner was accepted. He had the polish often acquired in living by one's wits. His talk was casually sprinkled with references to Mayfair and the Bois.

His selected victim was a young widow to whom he had been very properly introduced and to whom he had extended an invitation to dinner and the theater. At his first call on her he had secured a wax impression of the key to her apartment.

In the theater he begged to be excused to receive a long distance phone call and rushed with his confederates to strip her apartments of valuables. He was gone only a short time and after a midnight supper they arrived at her apartment around 2 o'clock to discover the loss.

He was the first to telephone the police and question employes of the building and his concern was so grave that not once was he suspected. The next day at luncheon she invited him among others. An old friend and world traveler was also present.

The young man talked glibly of out-of-the way corners of the world. The old friend listened and by a few adroit questions convinced himself the youth was a romantic liar. He jockeyed the talk back to the subject of robbery.

"I am greatly distressed," said the thief, "because Mrs. Blank was with me when it happened." After a silence the old friend remarked with steady calm, "If you are so distressed, why not return the valuables? I am convinced you are the thief." Deftly, he had uncorked a past that left a dramatic stain.

The young man arose haughtily and declared he had been so grossly insulted he would leave and see his accuser later. He was told a policeman awaited him in the foyer. He blanched and said: "I did it." His criminal record occupied two typewritten sheets. The loot was retrieved from confederates.

Not being satisfied with blending perfumes to personality, an intrepid idealist on Madison Avenue offers "a henna rinse to match the iris."

On top of this the well dressed man faces a new worry. Fashion decrees that sea green flannel suits will be the amoeba's ankles this summer.

Broadway Romeos find night wooing a fertile field for ardent wooing. Under the stimulating night life influence, lonely ladies are more inclined to accept flirtatious advances and in this mood they are often induced to joy ride to Connecticut for one of those early morning marriages. Thus inspiring such a gay tabloid headline as "Hooch Inspires Altar Romp."

A beauty parlor press agent slides down his brass pole to mimeograph the following: "One coating of our secret paste left on over night will make your face glow with wondrous light and your eyes sparkle like diamonds." One wonders the effect achieved by two coatings. But with Byron gone there is no one to describe it.

Thin, capsuled mustaches are disappearing and the youngsters who wore them have turned to Valentino burnsides. It gives the callow a sophisticated worldliness—which is, of course, the grand idea.

The most perfect set of burnsides in town are worn by Andreas De Segurola, the opera singer. They're just grand.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Neighborhood Plagrounds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—That playgrounds are an important factor in making good citizens of the growing generation has been a recognized fact for some time. There have been for a number of years organized playgrounds associated with the schools, and within the past few years many municipal recreation centers, both for grownups and children, have been established.

The Playground and Recreation association of American has now begun a nation-wide education campaign having two objects. The first is to interest real estate dealers in setting aside a part of each new subdivision for a playground and the second is to inform the general public so that they will demand a neighborhood playground when buying a home.

It is pointed out that the plan of setting aside a certain block of land for a neighborhood playground when planning a new subdivision, has advantages for all concerned. The realtor loses nothing by setting aside such a tract since the value of the land will automatically adjust itself to this factor, just as it does to the fact that space for streets must be subtracted from the subdivision. Since many people when purchasing homesites add to their list of questions about schools, car lines, water supply, and churches, that of, "Is there a playground near?" the lots would become more salable if there were a neighborhood playground.

While the buyer may get a little less ground for his money, or pay a bit more for his land, this is more than offset by the advantages of the playground. The mere fact that there is a place where the child may have supervised play and not be in constant danger of being struck by automobiles is worth the small additional expense to his parents.

William E. Harmon, of the Harmon Real Estate Corporation of New York City, was a pioneer in the movement of incorporating a playground in the plans for a new subdivision. He says that the success and practicability of the plan has been demonstrated. "The children now do their playing in enclosed and protected areas. Every resident is part owner in the playground movement and control and is actively interested. Risk of life and limb is eliminated. It has cost the subdivider nothing and his been a drawing card of great value. It has cost the residents very little and has paid enormous dividends in health and happiness to them and their children."

Realtors Assist.

As a part of its educational campaign the Playground and Recreation association of America has distributed among the realtors of America a pamphlet setting forth recreation fundamentals in real estate development. Persons to whom these are sent are asked to sign and return the coupon on the back if they approve these ten fundamentals, and already 243 leading realtors, city planners, and others have complied with this request.

Among other things these fundamentals say, "Upon real estate men more than upon any other leaders depends the extent to which the growing parts of our cities shall be real homes for the men, women and children living in them."

That realtors in many sections of the country are not only concurring verbally with the plan of setting aside playground areas, but are actually doing this, is shown by reports from various places. In Los Angeles County a new subdivision known as Palos Verdes States, with an area of some 3,000 acres is now being developed. It is estimated that the population of this section will ultimately be about 30,000. As a part of the general plan slightly more than 25 per cent of the entire property, or one acre in every four, has been dedicated for public parks, playgrounds, and other recreation features. Seven of those adjoin public school buildings.

There is a large recreation field of forty acres and an excellent eighteen hole golf course which is available to all property owners and residents without membership or other fees. All of these parks and recreation tracts are under the control of the Palos Verdes Homes association. They are fully developed by the subdivider, maintained by taxpayers, and deeded in perpetuity to the association for recreation purposes only.

Other Cities Follow.

In Hutchinson, Kansas, a new subdivision of 30 acres, an area of four acres has been set aside by the subdivider for park and playground purposes. This land has been deeded to the city which will be responsible for its development, maintenance, and operation.

In Shreveport, Louisiana, a new section of 1,400 acres, with an expected population of 12,000 business and professional people, has six areas for recreation. These include a golf courseo f 135 acres and parks and children's playgrounds totaling 110 acres. At Flint, Michigan, areas for

He emerged from the dining room of the fashionable hotel and went to the cloak room, where he nonchalantly proceeded to crush one silk top-hat after the other.

The attendant, surprised at his behavior, demanded the reason for his action, whereupon the other replied:

"I'm looking for my own. It's a collapsible, you know. None of these here seem to be it."

Her Error.

He had found himself paired with an extraordinarily active partner in a Charleston competition.

"I have never competed in one of these tournaments before," she said, while pausing to recover breath.

"Then perhaps you didn't know I was your partner?" he remarked bitterly, rubbing his ankle.

"Good gracious, no—I thought we were drawn as opponents."

Turning the tables, matrimonially speaking, is the basis of Warner Brothers' latest production "Don't Tell the Wife," starring Irene Rich and directed by Paul Stein.

Miss Rich and Huntly Gordon are seen as the Cartiers of Paris, well-to-do, devoted, just arrived at the end of their seventh year of married life. It is at their anniversary party, that Suzanne, a dazzling blonde, blows in. Hubby succumbs to her charms in spite of himself, and the lovely Madame Cartier, decides that she may help to avert further trouble by begining a flirtation with Roy, fiance of Suzanne—thus angering both that lady and Monsieur Cartier.

Madame's well-laid plan only causes the furious jealousy of her husband, and makes him determine to divorce her and marry the sort that gentlemen prefer. A friend intervenes with the usual disastrous results.

"Don't Tell the Wife," the gayest, Frenchiest, frothiest offering since "So This is Paris," comes to the Strand theatre Monday.

Following a romance that started in their adjoining yards in childhood, a couple, each 74 years old, were married at Walton, England, recently.

FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL TRIAL CLOSES ITS FOURTH WEEK

DEFENSE HITS CHICAGOAN ON IDAHO RECORD

Cooperative Failure Dark Spot Against Wheat King.

REED JUBILANT

Plaintiff Will Resume Witness Stand Monday.

DETROIT, April 9.—One glaring example of a cooperative failure stood in the records of the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today as a dark spot against the record of Aaron Sapiro, so-called cooperative king.

The story of the failure of this cooperative—the Idaho Potato Growers' association—struck a heavy blow at Sapiro in his suit to collect $1,000,000 from Henry Ford because the auto king charged him with exploiting American farmers. This cooperative died, according to evidence, after Sapiro sued for fees and collected them over the pleading protests of the farmer-members.

Sapiro will have an opportunity later to tell his side of the story as the failure was described to the jury while he was under cross-examination. The Ford forces, led by Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel, were jubilant over the way the story was unfolded. They believed it substantiated Ford's charges that Sapiro took up the cooperative movement for his own profit and not for the benefit of American agriculture.

End Not in Sight.

The trial closed its fourth week yesterday and there were indications it will last at least another four weeks. Sapiro will resume the stand Monday for further cross-examination. Later he will be called to explain his own story of the cooperatives on redirect examination to be followed by further cross-examination. At that point, Henry Ford, now recovering from injuries suffered in an auto crash two weeks ago, is expected to take the witness stand.

The story of the Idaho Potato association was the high spot in the Ford defense. It was shown that Sapiro created the association by arranging to finance it during its formative state. He secured $4,000 in loans for the association from Weyl and Zuckerman, Los Angeles commission men, whom he later helped to get employment as the cooperative's selling agency. Sapiro himself was employed as general counsel.

The cooperative's troubles began at once and Reed placed an undenied statement in the record that Weyl and Zuckerman got a contract for handling potatoes at $37.50 a carload while other commission men were being paid $10 to $12 less a car. Members of the association complained against the commission men.

One Side of Story.

With the organization in financial difficulties, Sapiro was discharged. Through a clerk he brought suit for his fees, refusing a settlement at a reduced figure. The clerk collected even while officers of the association pleaded with Sapiro for leniency, saying the suit would wreck the association. Sapiro turned a deaf ear to the plea.

All this was placed in the record through the introduction of telegrams and letters between Sapiro and the Idaho growers. Sapiro denied none of the essential facts.

This was but one side of the story. Sapiro will have an oportunity later to tell his own. The picture that was drawn, however, made a deep impression on the jury.

Buckeyes Victors, 25 to 13, in Tourney At Washington, Pa.

The East Liverpool Buckeyes, an entry in the Tri-State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament under way today at Washington, Pa., came out on top in their first game, defeating the Washington Little City five, 25 to 13.

The Buckeyes are competing in the junior division. Two other East Liverpool squads, the Centrals and the Bulgers, are scheduled to get into action this afternoon.

Bandits Make Raid

and authorities immediately began a check-up of former employes.

The gang first grabbed Fred Peters, a watchman, forced him to lead them to where four firemen attended the furnaces and then bound and thrust the men into a rear room.

"Five of them jumped on me at once," said Peters. "Then I was led to the second floor where from suitcases they took a steel-burning outfit and commenced to operate on our main vault. I think one of the boys was a former employe. They called me by my nickname, 'Red,' and seemed to know just what they were doing."

For three hours the bandits labored over the massive safe, cutting around the combination and time lock. In the meantime two of the robbers, evidently appointed as guardians over the watchman, led Peters about his rounds, forcing him at the point of a pistol to give the "all's well" signal to the Central Protective agency located downtown.

$40,000 BLAZE IN OHIO TOWN

MT. VERNON, O., April 9.—Damage estimated at $40,000 to $50,000 was done to the business section of the village of Martinsburg, south of here, early today, before a fire of undetermined origin was brought under control.

The buildings wrecked or damaged included J. M. Hancock, general store, where the fire originated; a business block owned by Miss Cora Clark; home of Lee Norris, home of Mrs. Etta Russell, Allen's barbershop, home of Mrs. Josephine Giller, the D. C. Harmon Cafe, and Odd Fellow's hall.

Calls for assistance were sent to several surrounding towns, but fire departments were not sent as Martinsburg is without a water supply and fire apparatus would have been useless, it was said.

Stepdaughter Shot By Enraged Man at Fremont May Die

FREMONT, April 9.—Dorothy Smith, 16, whose right arm was shattered by a shotgun charge, fired by her stepfather, Charles Brandall, 38, here Thursday night, after he had first shot and killed her sister Audrey, 19, is still in a critical condition at Memorial hospital today. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Brandall, who was clubbed over the head with the shotgun by Brandall after the girls were shot, is rapidly recovering, following a blood transfusion operation to which she submitted in an effort to save Dorothy's life.

Physicians say the crisis will come in Dorothy's case today.

Funeral services for Brandall, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, seven hours after he killed Audrey, will be held at Bellevue Sunday.

Audrey's funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Waiter Arrested After Shooting in Lorain Restaurant

LORAIN, O., April 9.—A shooting affray in the California restaurant here today resulted in the serious wounding of one man and the arrest of a second.

Gomacinda Gomez, the wounded man, is in St. Joseph's hospital where it is expected he will recover. Raymond Lorenzo, a waiter in the restaurant, is held by police.

Lorenzo says that Gomez came into the restaurant and began forcing his attentions upon Stella Mechnak, pretty 17-year-old waitress. Lorenzo drew a pistol and fired three times, one of the bullets entering Gomez's jaw and coming out his neck.

Gomez ran into the street and dropped unconscious a block from the restaurant.

Lisbon Bank Opens Bids for Erection Of New Building

The Boldt Construction company, Cleveland, was the low bidder for a new building costing $60,000, which will be erected by the People's State bank at the corner of North Market and Park Way, Lisbon, it was announced today.

Seven bids were opened last night.

The present two-story brick building on the bank site will be razed beginning May 1 to make room for the new building which will be two stories high and extend to the postoffice quarters. The bank will occupy temporary quarters in the Ackley building while the new structure is under way.

Commissioners Call For Names of All Deceased War Vets

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the board of Columbiana county commissioners, Lisbon, today requested Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of the county to furnish the names and units of soldiers buried in Columbiana county cemeteries in order to arrange for grave markers.

Orders for these markers must be placed not later than April 18, in order to insure delivery before memorial Day.

TWO MEN FINED $50 AND COSTS

Truman Cain and Peter Price, arrested yesterday upon charges of intoxication, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Cain was arrested in Second street by Patrolman William Lister at 5:40 o'clock last night. Price was taken into custody, also by Lister, in the Diamond shortly before midnight.

Ben L. Bennett Will Lecture in West End Church

Attorney Ben L. Bennett will lecture on the subject "Religion of a Four Leaf Clover" in the Curry Memorial church, West Eighth street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the West End Civic association.

Woman Killed When She Falls While Washing Windows

YOUNGSTOWN, April 9.—While washing windows here today, Mrs. Rose Viganni, 41, was killed when she fell from a stepladder, and fractured her skull.

TWO SLAYERS, ONE WITH OATH ON LIPS, DIE

James Lyon and George Thoma Pay Extreme Penalty.

THOMA CONTRITE

Havana Man Vents Last Oath Upon Accuser.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Two coffins left the Ohio state penitentiary here today bearing the bodies of George Thoma, 23, Mansfield, and James Lyon, 27, Havana, Huron county. The men last night paid the murderer's penalty in the electric chair — Thoma with tears of contrition, Lyon with a curse on his lips.

Lyon was the first to enter the death chamber. He was pronounced dead at 8:44 o'clock, while Thoma's life went out at 8:53.

Lyon's death ended a series of encounters with the law, culminating with his shooting of Frank McGrath, American railway express detective who visited the home of Lyon's mother to arrest him for robbery. Seated in the electric chair Lyon espied Frank Adelman who was with McGrath at the time of the shooting, and whose testimony was an important factor in the trial. It was upon Adelman that Lyon vented his last oath and words.

Mansfield Youth Leaves Note.

Thoma was the self-confessed slayer of the foster parents of his sweetheart, Bonetta Sherman. They had objected to his attentions. He was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Benjamin Greenwald.

The young Mansfield truck driver left a note with Chaplain Reed. In this letter he made little reference to himself or the crime for which he was executed, but declared that Lyon was a misunderstood chap and who hid his true friendly feeling behind a mask.

"I will tell the truth," Thoma's note concluded. "I never was near God on the outside, but it seemed to me I was only fooling myself until I was cornered in my cell, then I realized where I was standing. It was not solid ground, but on the brink of falling into the fire."

Lyon Plotted Suicide.

Warden Thomas this morning revealed that Lyon had plotted to take his own life with a knife, and Thursday had pleaded with his brother Leonard to bring him a knife.

Leonard is serving a life sentence for his participation in the killing of McGrath.

A dictaphone in the death house, the warden said, warned officials that Lyon pleaded with Leonard to bring him his mess knife of a piece of sharp steel from the power plant where he is employed. This Leonard refused to do, Thomas said, pointing out that the fine screen which separates the death house prisoners from their interviewers would have prevented such action.

Salem Motorist Sued for $10,450 After Fatal Crash

Thomas Cadwallader, head of a Salem discount company, was named defendant in a suit for $10,450 damages filed in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday, after he had been fined $20 and costs by Mayor George Russell, Salem, upon a traffic charge, in connection with the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, formerly of East Liverpool.

Conviction of Cadwallader, who was charged with having exceeded the speed limit at the time of the accident, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, according to his attorney, Everett L. Lyon, East Palestine.

The suit for damages was filed by Byron Williams, Lisbon, son of the victim who asks for $450 funeral expenses and $10,000 for the death of his mother.

County Medical Society Meeting to Be Held in Lisbon

Spring meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society will be held in the dining room of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Denison, Cleveland physician, will discuss "Health Education and Medical Publicity." Business matters, which will come before the 81st annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association, will be considered.

Dr. Harry Bookwalter, Columbiana, is president; Dr. Stanton Heck, Lisbon, vice president, and Dr. T. T. Church of Salem, secretary of the society.

S. P. Ankrim Leases Cafeteria Room For Five Years

For a consideration of $21,000, S. P. Ankrim has taken a five-year lease on the old Methodist Protestant church property, now known as the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street, according to a contract filed today in the county recorder's office at Lisbon.

The building is owned by Samuel Reiner and others of Steubenville.

The annual rental is $4,200 or $350 per month.

HORNSBY AGREES TO SELL STOCK

NEW YORK, April 9. — Rogers Hornsby and the National league finally have come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the stock of the St. Louis club which Hornsby held, President Heydler of the league announced here this afternoon.

"The agreement was reached," said Heydler, "and a price set for the stock which was satisfactory to all parties. Concessions were made by Hornsby, by the National league, and by the New York and St. Louis clubs. The stock reverts to Sam Breadon, to the benefit of the St. Louis club, and the whole situation is therefore cleared up, and Hornsby may play with the Giants without any hindrance from anyone."

week, were today turned over to Consul Berger and immediately released.

The Chinese police were unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant a consular trial of the two Americans.

Mrs. Mitchell is leaving for Tientsin and Shanghai and Burton will leave tomorrow.

Situation Growing More Critical.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The situation in China is regarded by Washington officialdom as steadily growing more critical.

The 1,500 marines, comprising the hastily recruited Third regiment, now being mobilized and moved across the continent to San Diego, will sail for China aboard the Dollar liner President Grant within ten days. This is but one indication of how seriously the government considers the present state of affairs in China.

The government has chartered the President Grant from the Dollar lines for an indefinite period, and she will be used as a transport.

Every incoming dispatch from Admirals Williams and Hough, as well as from Minister MacMurray at Pekin, emphasizes the growing seriousness of conditions in China, and extreme pressure is being brought to bear upon Americans in interior points to evacuate to either Shanghai or Tien-Tsin, where there are American forces sufficient for their protection.

At Hankow, seat of the Nationalist government, conditions "are steadily growing worse," Admiral Hough reported to the navy. Clashes between coolie mobs and foreigners are growing more frequent.

Radical Coup Feared.

SHANGHAI, April 9. — Despite claims of the Cantonese administration at Hankow that the breach between the communist group and conservatives has been healed there were indications today that it has widened.

Influential Chinese have appealed to Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, conservative leader of the Cantonese army in Shanghai, to cancel his plans for attending the military council at Nanking next week, for fear the radicals will attempt a coup in his absence.

Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is still master of the situation here in spite of efforts to depose him and despite the fact that he has only an army of about 11,000 men under him in the Shanghai zone.

Japanese warships have landed about 800 additional marines because of persistent sniping against Japanese guards along the north Szechuan road.

Soviet Investigates Raids.

MOSCOW, April 9. — "Russia will not be rushed into precipitate action," it was stated today by foreign office officials when comment was asked as to the action to be taken by the Soviets as the result of the raids on the Peking legation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 9.—The railroad stocks and the high-priced industrials and specialties moved forward impressively at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of the rally which closed Friday's active session.

Business news at the week-end was somewhat mixed. The cold weather prevailing in some sections of the country has retarded retail trade, and held up important agricultural activities. On the other hand, the big industrial producers report a satisfactory influx of new business, and their leaders are confident of a good volume of spring trade. Dupont's new 10 point gain, in the first half-hour of active trading, brought the price of the stock up 22 points from yesterday's close. General Motors topped 185 in the aggressive forward movement which has been one of the big sensations of a long and sustained market rise in speculative stocks. This movement is now well into its third year, and has accounted for price gains extending from 20 to 200 points in active stock.

The motor stocks wrested the leadership of the bull movement today from the railroad stocks, while the oils were again under selling pressure. After an early "demonstration" the railroad stocks, which have been making market history in the last few weeks, dropped back into secondary position, while the motors and specialties took the lead. General Motors, Hudson, Studebaker, Packard and other well known shares, combined with such specialties as Freeport Texas and Eureka Vacuum to make a moderately active and buoyant movement.

The week-end commodity markets were generally steady, with cotton, wheat and corn making fractional gains, while new buying of sugar, rubber and textiles was negligible. A reflection of the better textile market is seen in the new advance of the stocks of the textile companies. New equipment buying by the railroad companies was reported in large volume, with many new items in sight for the next month or two. Trading in United States Steel stock slowed down in anticipation of a slight decrease in the March total of unfilled orders, to be reported after the close of the market today.

YOUNGSTOWN BOY DIES OF BURNS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9—George Best, 6, is dead here today, another victim of that dangerous practice of children—"playing with matches."

Firemen arrived too late to save him from a burning loft, where he and his brother had been lighting the matches. The brother escaped by jumping.

Eckert to Rebuild Gasoline Station Destroyed by Fire

Gasoline filling station, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eckert, located in Harvey avenue near the state line, destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, will be rebuilt, the owners announced today.

The loss, according to Mrs. Eckert, was approximately $2,800, including a $400 electric plant, and is partially covered by insurance. The blaze is believed to have started from a cooking stove in one room adjoining the station.

Lowellville Couple, Married 44 Years, Granted Divorce

LOWELLVILLE, O., April 9.—William and Sarah Smith, married 44 years, and parents of six children, were divorced by Judge Frank Baldwin. Smith left home four years ago and his wife claimed desertion. He claimed he was ejected. Smith is 65 and his wife 62.

Senator Borah demanded obedience to the law, which, he said, was a fundamental principal of government. He said the 18th amendment would never be repealed, that it had not been given a fair trial, that modification would mean a return to the saloon, that the Quebec plan has failed to prevent bootlegging in Canada and that right-thinking people would never consider putting Uncle Sam into the liquor business.

C. O. P. LEADER HITS DONAHEY ON GAMBLING

Marion Man Answers Recent Tirade of Governor.

COURTS UPHELD

Reference Made to Relationship With Track Gamblers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"If there are any gambling devices being operated in any Ohio municipality, it is the result of tolerance, or cooperation, on the part of the municipal executives, based upon the same friendly relationship that exists between our present governor and the race track gamblers," reads a statement issued here by Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"Never before have I been so much surprised at an unwarranted attack, made not only upon the state legislature, but upon our courts as well, as was made in the recent tirade of our governor," said Warner, referring to the charge, voiced by Governor Vic Donahey, that the Ohio senate was being controlled by a slot machine lobby in the same manner that it was formerly alleged to have been controlled by a public utilities lobby.

The governor's accusation was made immediately following the action of the senate which, last Thursday, defeated the De Armond bill, said to have been approved by the governor, which sought to "put teeth" in the state law prohibiting operation of slot machines and other devices for gambling purposes.

"Personally, I am unable to understand the peculiar distraction pertaining to the operation of slot machines that seem to exist," continued Warner. "Owing to the fact that the officers of our city have been able to prevent the use of any kind of slot machines in our city, there has not been a slot machine operated in the city of Marion for more than 15 years, and the present laws are amply adequate to prevent the operation of any gambling device.

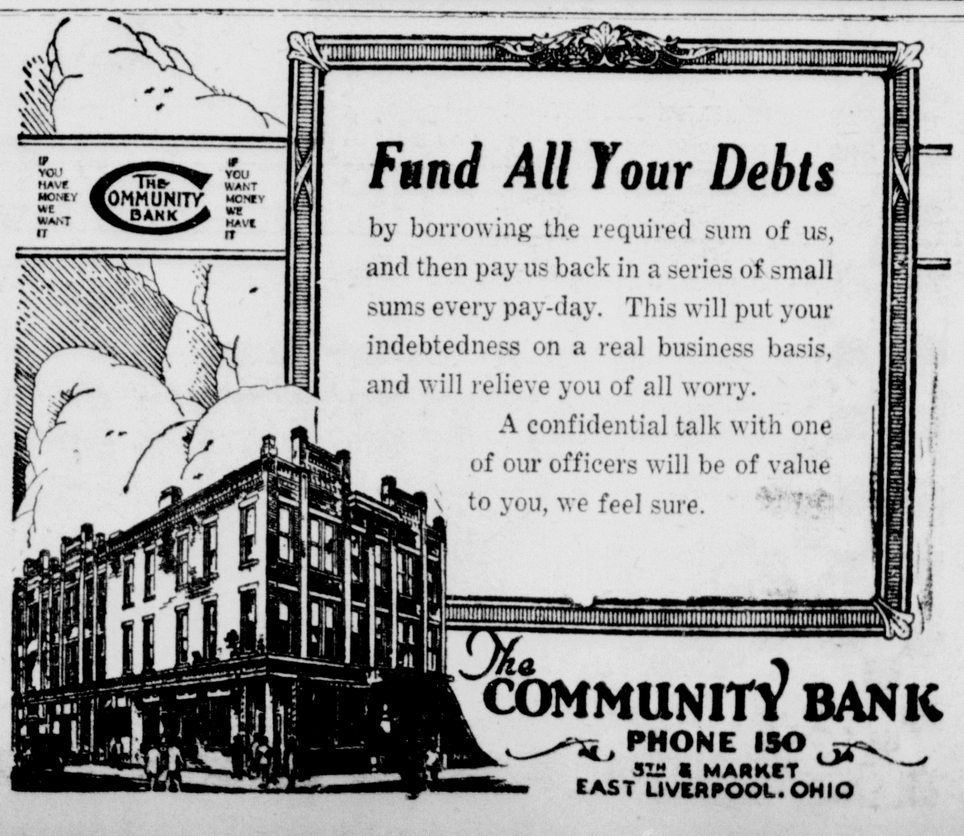

"What we need is not false teeth in our criminal laws, but honest backbone in our executive office," declared Warner. "The bill introduced by Senator De Armand, and which, he says, is the pet measure of Governor Donahey, seeks to prescribe what is and what is not, a gambling device. We are willing to have real teeth put in any law pertaining to the protection of our citizens, but we most seriously object to having any quack artist put in false teeth where good ones now exist."

Cutters Comb Sea Off Jersey Coast For Wrecked Plane

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A group of seaplanes and coast guard cutters were ordered dispatched from the Cape May, N. J., coast guard station today to look for an airplane reported to have fallen in the sea off the Jersey coast.

Coast guard officials announced here that all their planes were accounted for, and expressed the belief that the fallan plane either was a commercial ship, or one employed by rum runners.

BOY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR WELLSVILLE

RICHARD HAUGH CAR STRUCK BY STOLEN SEDAN

Unidentified Men Escape After Wreck North of City.

GIRL IS UNHURT

Thieves Abandon Machine Owned by East Liverpool Man.

Richard Haugh, high school youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haugh, of Seventh street, Wellsville, escaped with slight bruises when the Ford coupe he was driving in the Wellsville-Lisbon road, north of the city, last night, was struck by a Chevrolet sedan, driven by unidentified motor car thieves, who escaped following the crash.

The sedan was stolen from West Fifth street, East Liverpool, near the Elks' club last night, according to Edward Runyon, the owner.

The thieves, apparently, drove north in Lincoln highway and turned south again in the Wellsville road, at the West Point intersection.

Young Haugh and a girl companion, on a short trip to West Point, observed the car approaching and Haugh kept to the right side of the road.

The Chevrolet, apparently, was not under control, and crashed almost head-on with Haugh's machine which was knocked over an embankment.

The Chevrolet crashed against a rock at the roadside.

Two thieves, it is said, leaped from the car and disappeared in the woods along the roadway.

Haugh hailed a passing motorist to obtain transportation back to Wellsville. About an hour later the sheriff's office was notified.

Both machines badly wrecked, were taken to the Brennan garage.

MASONS STAGE DANCE PARTY

A large number of local and visiting Masons attended the dance held under auspices of Wellsville lodge, No. 180, F. & A. M., last evening in the Masonic temple, Main street.

Music was provided by DeMar Miller's orchestra. Refreshments were served by members of the local Eastern Star chapter.

The Masons will conclude their series of dance with a May party on May 6.

CONGREGATIONAL MEET WEDNESDAY

The annual congregational meeting of the First United Presbyterian church will be held on Wednesday evening.

Reports of all congregational organizations will be given, followed by the election of elders and trustees whose terms of office have expired.

Special services for Easter are being planned, including an early morning prayer service for Easter morning.

USES REVOLVER TO SHOOT OFF CANCER ON SIDE

Aged Costonia Man Taken to County Infirmary.

Denies he Wielded Weapon With Suicidal Intent.

Thomas Huff, 77 years old, resident of Costonia, near Toronto, is recovering from a bullet wound sustained yesterday, when, it is said, he attempted to "shoot a cancer" off his left side.

Huff, according to people who knew him, lived alone in the rural district of Costonia.

Yesterday he obtained possession of a revolver and turned it against himself.

The bullet, hitting his body sideways, is said to have glanced off one of his ribs, failing to inflict serious injury.

Huff, questioned after neighbors had discovered his condition, denied that he had shot himself with suicidal intent.

He was taken to the Jefferson county infirmary.

P. T. A. TO HOLD FATHER'S NIGHT

Seek Large Attendance of Parents at Monday Session.

"Father's Night" will be observed at Monday night's meeting of the Central school building Parent-Teachers' association when an effort will be made to promote the attendance of parents of every student who is enrolled at Central.

The meeting will be held under chairmanship of W. R. MacDonald.

Every boy and girl attending classes at Central will be asked to have his or her father and mother attend the session and in order to stimulate the attendance, an individual prize will be awarded to the pupils of the grade who are successful in having the greatest number of adults present.

A program of speaking and music has been arranged for the meeting, including talks by Superintendent S. E. Daw, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church; selections by the Kiwanis club quartet and the boys' glee club, directed by Donald Hoover, public school supervisor of music.

Mrs. Eva Snediker will sing, "The Palms," by Faure, and Miss Beatty will sing the offertory solo.

A mass meeting for men and boys will be held at 2:30 p. m. with a talk by Dr. Birney on the subject, "The Devil's Workshop."

Miss Mary Morgan will be in charge of the Epworth League meeting at 6 p. m.

"The Tragedy of the Eleventh Hour" will be Dr. Birney's topic for the evening meeting at 7:30. A duet by Mrs. E. A. Turner and Mrs. Eva McCombs will be a feature of the musical program.

IRONDALE

The school will present "The Last Frontier" as the next of its programs of feature pictures at the school gym next Monday afternoon and evening. This is an epical story of western Kansas in 1867 when savage Indians resisted the white settlers, attacking wagon trains and committing frightful atrocies. The heroine is a brave girl, whose parents are slain by the Indians and who falls into the hands of a scroundrelly trader, who poisons her mind against a government scout whom she loves, to the end that he may win her. Then follows a series of thrilling scenes, including a great buffalo stampede, Indian raids, capture of the renegades, daring deeds by Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill and a beautiful climax. The story is from the novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is historically correct in every detail. Marguerite DeLamotte and William Boyd have the leading roles while J. Farrell Macdonald is seen as Wild Bill and Jack Hoxie as Buffalo Bill.

A social will be held by the school in the gym Saturday evening. All kinds of eatables will be on sale. Proceeds from the social will be used to complete payment of the lights which were installed in the high school building. A similar social held last fall netted approximately $60 for the light fund.

Jasper Dalrymple, of Black Fork, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Dalrymple.

Jenkins' lodge, No. 401, F. & A. M. held their regular meeting in the Masonic Temple, Thursday evening. The M. M. degree was conferred.

C. F. Snyder, of Canton, transacted business here Wednesday.

Mrs. Hannah Johnson has returned to her home here after spending several weeks with relatives in Salineville.

Mrs. W. R. Lawson Hostess.

Mrs. W. R. Lawson entertained informally Thursday afternoon at her home in Main street. Approximately 20 guests were present. Needlework was the chief diversion. Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Lawson.

Widen Salineville Road.

Contractor G. B. Patterson has begun work on the widening of the Wellsville-Salineville highway, between the end of the concrete and the city limits. The width of the road will be increased six feet. Slag and limestone will be used in the work.

Entertains at Bridge.

Mrs. C. F. McCafferty, of Aten avenue, entertained members of her bridge club last evening at Maple Villa. Two tables were in play during the evening. Refreshments were served.

Snowball Gave Boy Start.

That a snowball was the cause of Benjamin Evans' good fortune through life was revealed recently following his death, at 85, at Llandvgwydd, Wales. On a wintry morning 75 years ago a group of boys were playing snowball in the village of Llechryd. Approaching them was a Mr. Buck, of Glynmarthen and Stradmore, a landed squire, who on observing young Evans with a snowball in his hand, said: "What are you going to do with that snowball, my boy?" Quick came the retort, "Hit you, sir." "Hit me, then," was the reply, and the snowball followed. He afterwards sent for the boy and engaged him as a page. He took a great deal of interest in the lad, encouraged him to continue his school education by coaching him in his own room, and when Buck died in 1882 Evans found himself in comfortable circumstances.

FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL TRIAL CLOSES ITS FOURTH WEEK

DEFENSE HITS CHICAGOAN ON IDAHO RECORD

Cooperative Failure Dark Spot Against Wheat King.

REED JUBILANT

Plaintiff Will Resume Witness Stand Monday.

DETROIT, April 9.—One glaring example of a cooperative failure stood in the records of the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today as a dark spot against the record of Aaron Sapiro, so-called co-operative king.

The story of the failure of this co-operative—the Idaho Potato Growers' association—struck a heavy blow at Sapiro in his suit to collect $1,000,000 from Henry Ford because the auto king charged him with exploiting American farmers. This cooperative died, according to evidence, after Sapiro sued for fees and collected them over the pleading protests of the farmer-members.

Sapiro will have an opportunity later to tell his side of the story as the failure was described to the jury while he was under cross-examination. The Ford forces, led by Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel, were jubilant over the way the story was unfolded. They believed it substantiated Ford's charges that Sapiro took up the co-operative movement for his own profit and not for the benefit of American agriculture.

End Not in Sight.

The trial closed its fourth week yesterday and there were indications it will last at least another four weeks. Sapiro will resume the stand Monday for further cross-examination. Later he will be called to explain his own story of the cooperatives on redirect examination to be followed by further cross-examination. At that point, Henry Ford, now recovering from injuries suffered in an auto crash two weeks ago, is expected to take the witness stand.

The story of the Idaho Potato association was the high spot in the Ford defense. It was shown that Sapiro created the association by arranging to finance it during its formative state. He secured $4,000 in loans for the association from Weyl and Zuckerman, Los Angeles commission men, whom he later helped to get employment as the cooperative's selling agency. Sapiro himself was employed as general counsel.

The cooperative's troubles began at once and Reed placed an undenied statement in the record that Weyl and Zuckerman got a contract for handling potatoes at $37.50 a carload while other commission men were being paid $10 to $12 less a car. Members of the association complained against the commission men.

One Side of Story.

With the organization in financial difficulties, Sapiro was discharged. Through a clerk he brought suit for his fees, refusing a settlement at a reduced figure. The clerk collected even while officers of the association pleaded with Sapiro for leniency, saying the suit would wreck the association. Sapiro turned a deaf ear to the plea.

All this was placed in the record through the introduction of telegrams and letters between Sapiro and the Idaho growers. Sapiro denied none of the essential facts.

This was but one side of the story. Sapiro will have an oportunity later to tell his own. The picture that was drawn, however, made a deep impression on the jury.

Buckeyes Victors, 25 to 13, in Tourney At Washington, Pa.

The East Liverpool Buckeyes, an entry in the Tri-State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament under way today at Washington, Pa., came out on top in their first game, defeating the Washington Little City five, 25 to 13.

The Buckeyes are competing in the junior division. Two other East Liverpool squads, the Centrals and the Bulgers, are scheduled to get into action this afternoon.

Bandits Make Raid

and authorities immediately began a check-up of former employes.

The gang first grabbed Fred Peters, a watchman, forced him to lead them to where four firemen attended the furnaces and then bound and thrust the men into a rear room.

"Five of them jumped on me at once," said Peters. "Then I was led to the second floor where from suitcases they took a steel-burning outfit and commenced to operate on our main vault. I think one of the boys was a former employe. They called me by my nickname, 'Red,' and seemed to know just what they were doing."

For three hours the bandits labored over the massive safe, cutting around the combination and time lock. In the meantime two of the robbers, evidently appointed as guardians over the watchman, led Peters about his rounds, forcing him at the point of a pistol to give the "all's well" signal to the Central Protective agency located downtown.

$40,000 BLAZE IN OHIO TOWN

MT. VERNON, O., April 9.—Damage estimated at $40,000 to $50,000 was done to the business section of the village of Martinsburg, south of here, early today, before a fire of undetermined origin was brought under control.

The buildings wrecked or damaged included J. M. Hancock, general store, where the fire originated; a business block owned by Miss Cora Clark; home of Lee Norris, home of Mrs. Etta Russell, Allen's barbershop, home of Mrs. Josephine Giller, the D. C. Harmon Cafe, and Odd Fellow's hall.

Calls for assistance were sent to several surrounding towns, but fire departments were not sent as Martinsburg is without a water supply and fire apparatus would have been useless, it was said.

Stepdaughter Shot By Enraged Man at Fremont May Die

FREMONT, April 9.—Dorothy Smith, 16, whose right arm was shattered by a shotgun charge, fired by her stepfather, Charles Brandall, 38, here Thursday night, after he had first shot and killed her sister Audrey, 19, is still in a critical condition at Memorial hospital today. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Brandall, who was clubbed over the head with the shotgun by Brandall after the girls were shot, is rapidly recovering, following a blood transfusion operation to which she submitted in an effort to save Dorothy's life.

Physicians say the crisis will come in Dorothy's case today.

Funeral services for Brandall, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, seven hours after he killed Audrey, will be held at Bellevue Sunday.

Audrey's funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Waiter Arrested After Shooting in Lorain Restaurant

LORAIN, O., April 9.—A shooting affray in the California restaurant here today resulted in the serious wounding of one man and the arrest of a second.

Gomacinda Gomez, the wounded man, is in St. Joseph's hospital where it is expected he will recover. Raymond Lorenzo, a waiter in the restaurant, is held by police.

Lorenzo says that Gomez came into the restaurant and began forcing his attentions upon Stella Mechnak, pretty 17-year-old waitress. Lorenzo drew a pistol and fired three times, one of the bullets entering Gomez's jaw and coming out his neck.

Gomez ran into the street and dropped unconscious a block from the restaurant.

Lisbon Bank Opens Bids for Erection Of New Building

The Boldt Construction company, Cleveland, was the low bidder for a new building costing $60,000, which will be erected by the People's State bank at the corner of North Market and Park Way, Lisbon, it was announced today.

Seven bids were opened last night.

The present two-story brick building on the bank site will be razed beginning May 1 to make room for the new building which will be two stories high and extend to the postoffice quarters. The bank will occupy temporary quarters in the Ackley building while the new structure is under way.

Commissioners Call For Names of All Deceased War Vets

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the board of Columbiana county commissioners, Lisbon, today requested Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of the county to furnish the names and units of soldiers buried in Columbiana county cemeteries in order to arrange for grave markers.

Orders for these markers must be placed not later than April 18, in order to insure delivery before memorial Day.

TWO MEN FINED $50 AND COSTS

Truman Cain and Peter Price, arrested yesterday upon charges of intoxication, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Cain was arrested in Second street by Patrolman William Lister at 5:40 o'clock last night. Price was taken into custody, also by Lister, in the Diamond shortly before midnight.

Ben L. Bennett Will Lecture in West End Church

Attorney Ben L. Bennett will lecture on the subject "Religion of a Four Leaf Clover" in the Curry Memorial church, West Eighth street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening under the auspices of the West End Civic association.

Woman Killed When She Falls While Washing Windows

YOUNGSTOWN, April 9.—While washing windows here today, Mrs. Rose Viganni, 41, was killed when she fell from a stepladder, and fractured her skull.

TWO SLAYERS, ONE WITH OATH ON LIPS, DIE

James Lyon and George Thoma Pay Extreme Penalty.

THOMA CONTRITE

Havana Man Vents Last Oath Upon Accuser.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Two coffins left the Ohio state penitentiary here today bearing the bodies of George Thoma, 23, Mansfield, and James Lyon, 27, Havana, Huron county. The men last night paid the murderer's penalty in the electric chair — Thoma with tears of contrition, Lyon with a curse on his lips.

Lyon was the first to enter the death chamber. He was pronounced dead at 8:44 o'clock, while Thoma's life went out at 8:53.

Lyon's death ended a series of encounters with the law, culminating with his shooting of Frank McGrath, American railway express detective who visited the home of Lyon's mother to arrest him for robbery. Seated in the electric chair Lyon espied Frank Adelman who was with McGrath at the time of the shooting, and whose testimony was an important factor in the trial. It was upon Adelman that Lyon vented his last oath and words.

Mansfield Youth Leaves Note.

Thoma was the self-confessed slayer of the foster parents of his sweetheart, Bonetta Sherman. They had objected to his attentions. He was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Benjamin Greenwald.

The young Mansfield truck driver left a note with Chaplain Reed. In this letter he made little reference to himself or the crime for which he was executed, but declared that Lyon was a misunderstood chap and who hid his true friendly feeling behind a mask.

"I will tell the truth," Thoma's note concluded. "I never was near God on the outside, but it seemed to me I was only fooling myself until I was cornered in my cell, then I realized where I was standing. It was not solid ground, but on the brink of falling into the fire."

Lyon Plotted Suicide.

Warden Thomas this morning revealed that Lyon had plotted to take his own life with a knife, and Thursday had pleaded with his brother Leonard to bring him a knife.

Leonard is serving a life sentence for his participation in the killing of McGrath.

A dictaphone in the death house, the warden said, warned officials that Lyon pleaded with Leonard to bring him his mess knife of a piece of sharp steel from the power plant where he is employed. This Leonard refused to do, Thomas said, pointing out that the fine screen which separates the death house prisoners from their interviewers would have prevented such action.

Salem Motorist Sued for $10,450 After Fatal Crash

Thomas Cadwallader, head of a Salem discount company, was named defendant in a suit for $10,450 damages filed in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday, after he had been fined $20 and costs by Mayor George Russell, Salem, upon a traffic charge, in connection with the death of Mrs. Cora Williams, formerly of East Liverpool.

Conviction of Cadwallader, who was charged with having exceeded the speed limit at the time of the accident, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, according to his attorney, Everett L. Lyon, East Palestine.

The suit for damages was filed by Byron Williams, Lisbon, son of the victim who asks for $450 funeral expenses and $10,000 for the death of his mother.

County Medical Society Meeting to Be Held in Lisbon

Spring meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society will be held in the dining room of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Denison, Cleveland physician, will discuss "Health Education and Medical Publicity." Business matters, which will come before the 81st annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association, will be considered.

Dr. Harry Bookwalter, Columbiana, is president; Dr. Stanton Heck, Lisbon, vice president, and Dr. T. T. Church of Salem, secretary of the society.

S. P. Ankrim Leases Cafeteria Room For Five Years

For a consideration of $21,000, S. P. Ankrim has taken a five-year lease on the old Methodist Protestant church property, now known as the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street, according to a contract filed today in the county recorder's office at Lisbon.

The building is owned by Samuel Reiner and others of Steubenville.

The annual rental is $4,200 or $350 per month.

HORNSBY AGREES TO SELL STOCK

NEW YORK, April 9. — Rogers Hornsby and the National league finally have come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the stock of the St. Louis club which Hornsby held, President Heydler of the league announced here this afternoon.

"The agreement was reached," said Heydler, "and a price set for the stock which was satisfactory to all parties. Concessions were made by Hornsby, by the National league, and by the New York and St. Louis clubs. The stock reverts to Sam Breadon, to the benefit of the St. Louis club, and the whole situation is therefore cleared up, and Hornsby may play with the Giants without any hindrance from anyone."

MAYOR ON SAFE DRIVER LIST

week, were today turned over to Consul Berger and immediately released.

The Chinese police were unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant a consular trial of the two Americans.

Mrs. Mitchell is leaving for Tientsin and Shanghai and Burton will leave tomorrow.

Situation Growing More Critical.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The situation in China is regarded by Washington officialdom as steadily growing more critical.

The 1,500 marines, comprising the hastily recruited Third regiment, now being mobilized and moved across the continent to San Diego, will sail for China aboard the Dollar liner President Grant within ten days. This is but one indication of how seriously the government considers the present state of affairs in China.

The government has chartered the President Grant from the Dollar lines for an indefinite period, and she will be used as a transport.

Every incoming dispatch from Admirals Williams and Hough, as well as from Minister MacMurray at Pekin, emphasizes the growing seriousness of conditions in China, and extreme pressure is being brought to bear upon Americans in interior points to evacuate to either Shanghai or Tien-Tsin, where there are American forces sufficient for their protection.

At Hankow, seat of the Nationalist government, conditions "are steadily growing worse," Admiral Hough reported to the navy. Clashes between coolie mobs and foreigners are growing more frequent.

Radical Coup Feared.

SHANGHAI, April 9. — Despite claims of the Cantonese administration at Hankow that the breach between the communist group and conservatives has been healed there were indications today that it has widened.

Influential Chinese have appealed to Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, conservative leader of the Cantonese army in Shanghai, to cancel his plans for attending the military council at Nanking next week, for fear the radicals will attempt a coup in his absence.

Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is still master of the situation here in spite of efforts to depose him and despite the fact that he has only an army of about 11,000 men under him in the Shanghai zone.

Japanese warships have landed about 800 additional marines because of persistent sniping against Japanese guards along the north Szechuan road.

Soviet Investigates Raids.

MOSCOW, April 9. — "Russia will not be rushed into precipitate action," it was stated today by foreign office officials when comment was asked as to the action to be taken by the Soviets as the result of the raids on the Peking legation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 9.—The railroad stocks and the high-priced industrials and specialties moved forward impressively at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of the rally which closed Friday's active session.

Business news at the week-end was somewhat mixed. The cold weather prevailing in some sections of the country has retarded retail trade, and held up important agricultural activities. On the other hand, the big industrial producers report a satisfactory influx of new business, and their leaders are confident of a good volume of spring trade. Dupont's new 10 point gain, in the first half-hour of active trading, brought the price of the stock up 22 points from yesterday's close. General Motors topped 185 in the aggressive forward movement which has been one of the big sensations of a long and sustained market rise in speculative stocks. This movement is now well into its third year, and has accounted for price gains extending from 20 to 200 points in active stock.

The motor stocks wrested the leadership of the bull movement today from the railroad stocks, while the oils were again under selling pressure. After an early "demonstration" the railroad stocks, which have been making market history in the last few weeks, dropped back into secondary position, while the motors and specialties took the lead. General Motors, Hudson, Studebaker, Packard and other well known shares, combined with such specialties as Freeport Texas and Eureka Vacuum to make a moderately active and buoyant movement.

The week-end commodity markets were generally steady, with cotton, wheat and corn making fractional gains, while new buying of sugar, rubber and textiles was negligible. A reflection of the better textile market is seen in the new advance of the stocks of the textile companies. New equipment buying by the railroad companies was reported in large volume, with many new items in sight for the next month or two. Trading in United States Steel stock slowed down in anticipation of a slight decrease in the March total of unfilled orders, to be reported after the close of the market today.

YOUNGSTOWN BOY DIES OF BURNS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9—George Best, 6, is dead here today, another victim of that dangerous practice of children—"playing with matches."

Firemen arrived too late to save him from a burning loft, where he and his brother had been lighting the matches. The brother escaped by jumping.

Eckert to Rebuild Gasoline Station Destroyed by Fire

Gasoline filling station, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eckert, located in Harvey avenue near the state line, destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, will be rebuilt, the owners announced today.

The loss, according to Mrs. Eckert, was approximately $2,800, including a $400 electric plant, and is partially covered by insurance. The blaze is believed to have started from a cooking stove in one room adjoining the station.

Lowellville Couple, Married 44 Years, Granted Divorce

LOWELLVILLE, O., April 9.—William and Sarah Smith, married 44 years, and parents of six children, were divorced by Judge Frank Baldwin. Smith left home four years ago and his wife claimed desertion. He claimed he was ejected. Smith is 65 and his wife 62.

shield himself behind the papier mache fortification of law enforcement," he declared.

Quebec Plan Scored.

Senator Borah demanded obedience to the law, which, he said, was a fundamental principal of government. He said the 18th amendment would never be repealed, that it had not been given a fair trial, that modification would mean a return to the saloon, that the Quebec plan has failed to prevent bootlegging in Canada and that right-thinking people would never consider putting Uncle Sam into the liquor business.

"The people have a way of making issues—and the people are not going to sidestep this issue," he declared.

G. O. P. LEADER HITS DONAHEY ON GAMBLING

Marion Man Answers Recent Tirade of Governor.

COURTS UPHELD

Reference Made to Relationship With Track Gamblers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"If there are any gambling devices being operated in any Ohio municipality, it is the result of tolerance, or cooperation, on the part of the municipal executives, based upon the same friendly relationship that exists between our present governor and the race track gamblers," reads a statement issued here by Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"Never before have I been so much surprised at an unwarranted attack, made not only upon the state legislature, but upon our courts as well, as was made in the recent tirade of our governor," said Warner, referring to the charge, voiced by Governor Vic Donahey, that the Ohio senate was being controlled by a slot machine lobby in the same manner that it was formerly alleged to have been controlled by a public utilities lobby.

The governor's accusation was made immediately following the action of the senate which, last Thursday, defeated the De Armond bill, said to have been approved by the governor, which sought to "put teeth" in the state law prohibiting operation of slot machines and other devices for gambling purposes.

"Personally, I am unable to understand the peculiar distraction pertaining to the operation of slot machines that seem to exist," continued Warner. "Owing to the fact that the officers of our city have been able to prevent the use of any kind of slot machines in our city, there has not been a slot machine operated in the city of Marion for more than 15 years, and the present laws are amply adequate to prevent the operation of any gambling device.

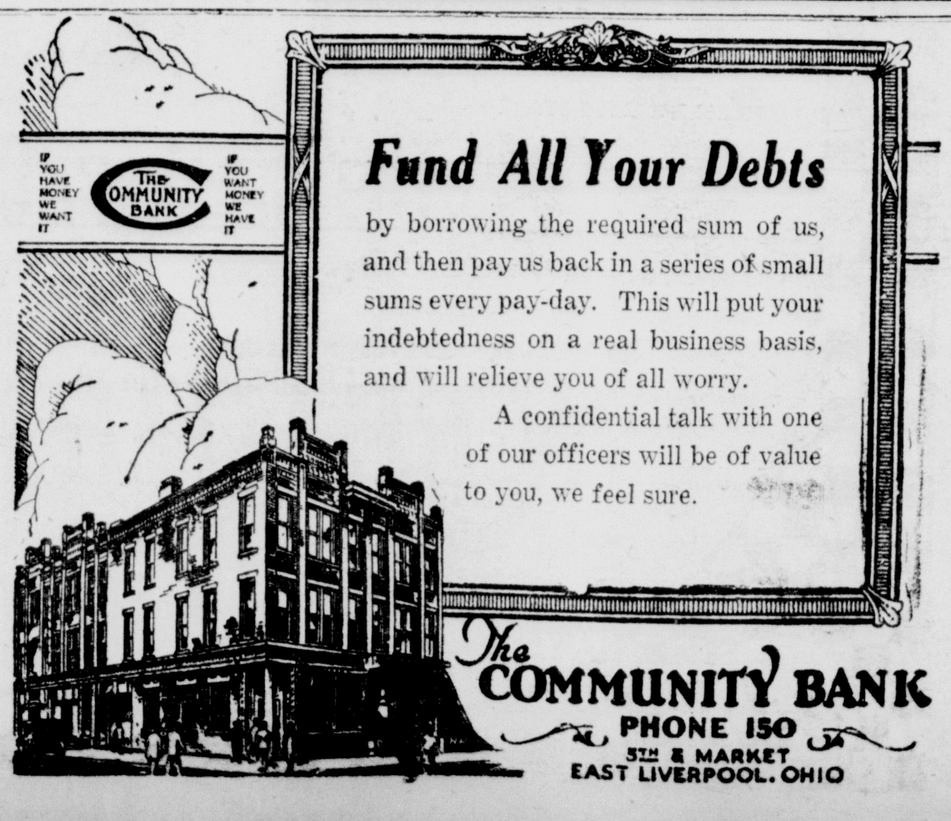

"What we need is not false teeth in our criminal laws, but honest backbone in our executive office," declared Warner. "The bill introduced by Senator De Armand, and which, he says, is the pet measure of Governor Donahey, seeks to prescribe what is and what is not, a gambling device. We are willing to have real teeth put in any law pertaining to the protection of our citizens, but we most seriously object to having any quack artist put in false teeth where good ones now exist."

Cutters Comb Sea Off Jersey Coast For Wrecked Plane

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A group of seaplanes and coast guard cutters were ordered dispatched from the Cape May, N. J., coast guard station today to look for an airplane reported to have fallen in the sea off the Jersey coast.

Coast guard officials announced here that all their planes were accounted for, and expressed the belief that the fallan plane either was a commercial ship, or one employed by rum runners.

BOY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR WELLSVILLE

RICHARD HAUGH CAR STRUCK BY STOLEN SEDAN

Unidentified Men Escape After Wreck North of City.

GIRL IS UNHURT

Thieves Abandon Machine Owned by East Liverpool Man.

Richard Haugh, high school youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haugh, of Seventh street, Wellsville, escaped with slight bruises when the Ford coupe he was driving in the Wellsville-Lisbon road, north of the city, last night, was struck by a Chevrolet sedan, driven by unidentified motor car thieves, who escaped following the crash.

The sedan was stolen from West Fifth street, East Liverpool, near the Elks' club last night, according to Edward Runyon, the owner.

The thieves, apparently, drove north in Lincoln highway and turned south again in the Wellsville road, at the West Point intersection..

Young Haugh and a girl companion, on a short trip to West Point, observed the car approaching and Haugh kept to the right side of the road.

The Chevrolet, apparently, was not under control, and crashed almost head-on with Haugh's machine which was knocked over an embankment.

The Chevrolet crashed against a rock at the roadside.

Two thieves, it is said, leaped from the car and disappeared in the woods along the roadway.

Haugh hailed a passing motorist to obtain transportation back to Wellsville. About an hour later the sheriff's office was notified.

Both machines badly wrecked, were taken to the Brennan garage.

MASONS STAGE DANCE PARTY

A large number of local and visiting Masons attended the dance held under auspices of Wellsville lodge, No. 180, F. & A. M., last evening in the Masonic temple, Main street.

Music was provided by DeMar Miller's orchestra. Refreshments were served by members of the local Eastern Star chapter.

The Masons will conclude their series of dance with a May party on May 6.

USES REVOLVER TO SHOOT OFF CANCER ON SIDE

Aged Costonia Man Taken to County Infirmary.

Denies he Wielded Weapon With Suicidal Intent.

Thomas Huff, 77 years old, resident of Costonia, near Toronto, is recovering from a bullet wound sustained yesterday, when, it is said, he attempted to "shoot a cancer" off his left side.

Huff, according to people who knew him, lived alone in the rural district of Costonia.

Yesterday he obtained possession of a revolver and turned it against himself.

The bullet, hitting his body sideways, is said to have glanced off one of his ribs, failing to inflict serious injury.

Huff, questioned after neighbors had discovered his condition, denied that he had shot himself with suicidal intent.

He was taken to the Jefferson county infirmary.

P. T. A. TO HOLD FATHER'S NIGHT

Seek Large Attendance of Parents at Monday Session.

"Father's Night" will be observed at Monday night's meeting of the Central school building Parent-Teachers' association when an effort will be made to promote the attendance of parents of every student who is enrolled at Central.

The meeting will be held under chairmanship of W. R. MacDonald.

Every boy and girl attending classes at Central will be asked to have his or her father and mother attend the session and in order to stimulate the attendance, an individual prize will be awarded to the pupils of the grade who are successful in having the greatest number of adults present.

A program of speaking and music has been arranged for the meeting, including talks by Superintendent S. E. Daw, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church; selections by the Kiwanis club quartet and the boys' glee club, directed by Donald Hoover, public school supervisor of music.

"The Tragedy of the Eleventh Hour" will be Dr. Birney's topic for the evening meeting at 7:30. A duet by Mrs. E. A. Turner and Mrs. Eva McCombs will be a feature of the musical program.

IRONDALE

The school will present "The Last Frontier" as the next of its programs of feature pictures at the school gym next Monday afternoon and evening. This is an epical story of western Kansas in 1867 when savage Indians resisted the white settlers, attacking wagon trains and committing frightful atrocies. The heroine is a brave girl, whose parents are slain by the Indians and who falls into the hands of a scroundrelly trader, who poisons her mind against a government scout whom she loves, to the end that he may win her. Then follows a series of thrilling scenes, including a great buffalo stampede, Indian raids, capture of the renegades, daring deeds by Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill and a beautiful climax. The story is from the novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is historically correct in every detail. Marguerite DeLamotte and William Boyd have the leading roles while J. Farrell Macdonald is seen as Wild Bill and Jack Hoxie as Buffalo Bill.

A social will be held by the school in the gym Saturday evening. All kinds of eatables will be on sale. Proceeds from the social will be used to complete payment of the lights which were installed in the high school building. A similar social held last fall netted approximately $60 for the light fund.

Snowball Gave Boy Start.

That a snowball was the cause of Benjamin Evans' good fortune through life was revealed recently following his death, at 85, at Llandvgwydd, Wales. On a wintry morning 75 years ago a group of boys were playing snowball in the village of Llechryd. Approaching them was a Mr. Buck, of Glynmarthen and Stradmore, a landed squire, who on observing young Evans with a snowball in his hand, said: "What are you going to do with that snowball, my boy?" Quick came the retort, "Hit you, sir." "Hit me, then," was the reply, and the snowball followed. He afterwards sent for the boy and engaged him as a page. He took a great deal of interest in the lad, encouraged him to continue his school education by coaching him in his own room, and when Buck died in 1882 Evans found himself in comfortable circumstances.

BE IN CHURCH SUNDAY

"RESURRECTION, TEST AND PROOF OF CHRISTIANITY," SAYS PASTOR

Sermon by Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of Second Presbyterian Church.

By Rev. F. A. Dean.

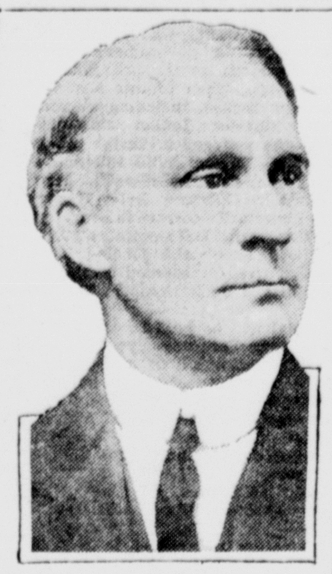

I.

Jesus Exercised Miracle Power as the Supreme Test of His Deity.

From the first grand sign, the turning of water into wine at Cana, Jesus began a series of miracles, signs and wonders, supernatural transactions, continuing to the moment in the garden when He said, "I am He," and the soldiers went backward and fell to the ground. These miracles were wrought by the special fiats of His own Deity tottest and prove that He was God.

Throughout His mission He used supremely supernatural evidence to attest His Deity. His miracle power never failed, always more than equal to every emergency, instantaneous, victorious. His word, His look, His will was as the lightning flash. Every miracle fully attested His Deity; test, proof, demonstration were complete. Instantly He withstood any power or force brought against Him or His kingdom by demon, man or nature.

With a flash of His will He could restore the rotting corpse to life, loathsome diseases disfiguring the human body disappear at His command. Tempests drop to a calm at the mere exercise of His wish; He created the bread in His fingers to feed a hungry multitude, and all things visible and invisible, whether they were thrones or dominions of principalities or powers, all things were under the immediate control of His Deity.

This constant exercise of unlimited miracle power of Jesus created in the minds and hearts of the disciples the absolute and full belief that Jesus was the King, the Messiah long foretold. It was His miracle power displayed on all occasions with such majesty and glory of execution, each miracle having in itself the stamp of His divine nature, that made them absolutely certain that He was God, the Son of God, the Messiah. This faith in His Deity continued unshakable until Jesus actually died on the cross.

The tremendous miracle power Jesus constantly wielded also filled the minds of the disciples with the overwhelming conviction that the spiritual kingdom with all its majesty and grandeur was to be immediately established. Such hopes aroused them to the uttermost and swept over them like a holy passion so that they failed utterly to understand the glorious spiritual doctrines which he was teaching them.

Then came the strange last days—the day in the garden, the day of the trial, the supreme day of the cross. Then came Jesus to the garden with its awful agonies, its terrible anguish, Peter, James and John being with Him. This is a new, strange side of Diety, the sacrificial agony of Deity. They never beheld the suffering, the sacrificial sorrow of Jesus Christ. These manifestations of Deity in suffering for the sins of the world, the omnipotent Lamb being led as a sheep to the slaughter, as a sheep before his shearers is dumb. No one ever before beheld the suffering of the Lamb the Son of God. Only three disciples were allowed within the hallowed spot to behold the Son pouring out His soul for the sins of the whole world. The majesty and Glory of Deity was being poured out in sacrificial anguish, and became, as it were, great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

The three disciples stagger in utter amazement. They are struck dumb. What is that miracle power? What change, what transformation is this? Who is this Being agonizing and sweating bloody sweat? Where is the Omnipotent Lord? Where is He Who claimed to be Deity? Is this the Holy One Whose word quieted the sea, raised the rotting corpse of Lazarus, healed instantly all manner of diseases, all manner of sicknesses? And did all other things which Deity may of right do? Where is His authority which He exercised over all things? What strange cry is this as His form bent low to the ground, He cries for help from heaven? This is a new disclosure; is it human or is it divine.

How can Deity call for help when surrounded by enemies they picked up stones to stone Him, they could not harm Him. He was God. He made the stones fall harmless from their hands. Men with murder and malice in their hearts were helpless in His presence. Then the disciples saw a sickening and benumbing sight; saw Jesus, omnipotent at every crisis, Jesus Whom they had worshipped as Deity, Who had accepted their worship, who had accepted the challenge of the Jews that being man He had made Himself God; had seen Him on all occasions endowed with all omnipotence, now arrested, in the hands of His enemies, led away, unresisting, His miracle power absolutely nothing, not even showing the power of a strong man. Led away as a common felon.

What does it all mean? They saw cruel indignities heaped upon Him more than upon any man, saw His enemies smite Him, buffet Him, saw Him taunted as a pretender and a deceiver, saw Him mocked as King of the Jews, saw His body lacerated by the bloody thongs, saw Him actually delivered by Pilate to be executed, weak, exhausted, fainting, led away to be crucified, saw Him nailed to the cross, left to die a condemned felon, a spectacle to the jeering mass; ah, Him Who had exercised miracle power, demonstrated He was Deity, now a crucified felon in utter shame and ignominy—what does this the strangest of all earth's enigmas mean?

II.

The Silence of God and Miracle Power at the Cross.

The agony of the cross continued six hours. The scoffs and taunts of the priests and chief priests that Jesus was destitute of miracle power, and that He was not Deity, not the son of God, continued unabated. The enemies challenged Jesus and even Jehovah Himself, to stop the execution if Jesus were the Son of God. His enemies scorned His miracle power and His claim to be King and Messiah.

Jesus made His supernatural power the supreme test of His Godhead and divine nature. He ignored the challenge, did not work a miracle and come down from the cross. This was a matter of great wonder to the apostles. God did not accept the dare and some down and deliver Jesus from the anguish and shame of the cross. Amazement filled the minds of the disciples at this silence of God. He Who was omnipotent is now cruelly killed by His enemies. Apparently the only conclusion His disciples could reach was that He did not deliver Himself, because He could not; the only reason why God did not deliver Him was because He was a deceiver and not God's Son.

Tragic questions filled the minds of the disciples. Jesus had proclaimed Himself Deity, and had accepted worship as God. If Jesus were a mere man He was guilty of blasphemy the penalty being death. He had been tried in the court of the Jews, found guilty, and death was the penalty. If Jesus was merely man the penalty was deserved. But if Jesus was the Son of God, the Messiah of Holy Scripture, if God was His Father, then God the Father was there and fully aware of the awful scene when the rulers uttered the taunting words "He trusted in God, let God deliver Him now if He will have Him," for He said, "I am the Son of God." The challenge was to God, Jehovah Himself. Therefore those who condemned Jesus and executed Him were putting themselves on trial before God on the issue that Jesus was not the Christ, but an imposter and guilty of blasphemy. When the question of the true God was an issue in Old Testament times, God answered the issue overwhelmingly crushing miracles. Notice the whole series of miracles at the Exodus when they were performed to demonstrate that Jehovah is the only true God.

Miracles were used also as severe and drastic punishment upon Pharoah for his impious challenge when he said: "Who is the Lord that I should obey His voice?" The most impious of all challenges was here at the cross, to wit: the Jesus was not the Christ, the Son of God, the Messiah of prophesy; that if He were, God, the Messiah of prophesy; that if He were, God would surely deliver Him from the cross. If on the other hand, Jesus was not a mere man, was Deity, as He had continually professed Himself to be, then His accusers were committing a crime entirely without parallel in the history of the world, even murdering the God-man, the Son of God.

The question of his Diety, Jesus declared openly to the world. The Jews denied the claim and appealed to Jesus' miracle power to prove it, or to the omnipotence of Jehovah to own Him as Son, with high-wrought feeling the disciples watched to see how God would answer.

Horror of horrors, God did not deliver Him, did not interfere a jot or tittle, on the contrary permitted the condemnation of Jesus as a malefactor to stand and the decree of death to be carried out.

All this was enough to convince the disciples that the rulers in their challenge were right, that Jesus was wrong, that He was not Deity, not the Son of God, but a mere man, a Jew. The awful agony in the garden, the fainting and weakness, God's complete silence as to Jesus, God refusing to own Him and deliver Him as His Son, all this, and Jesus' own piteous cry, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" seemed the dying confession of Jesus that God had forsaken Him. Jesus is dead. His kingdom is collapsed, He came not from God, God has not owned Him, He and the Father were not One as He said, the disciples were driven to believe that Jesus was mistaken in Himself; claimed too much; an innocent, gentle enthusiast Who met an awful death.

III.

Only the Resurrection of Jesus in the Identical Body in which He suffered, Could Have Restored the Faith of the Apostles and Perpetuated Christianity.

The apostles' faith was gone, the terrible ordeal through which they had passed, all they have seen and felt, the fiery tests in the garden and at the cross, the challenge made to God as Father which had brought no miracle: the challenge to His own Deity which brought no miracle power into exercise, left them in desolation and despair. They could not be deceived as to His Deity, but here at the supreme crisis of Deity, all the majesty and power of the Godhead should display itself: if ever Deity power showed itself in Jesus' life, above every other crisis His miracle power is needed to demonstrate His Deity. Not a jot or title of miracle power is exercised. Jesus is not God; Jesus is mere man.

Without the physical resurrection of Jesus from Joseph's tomb, Christianity could not have survived His death on the cross. Despair, helplessness, homelessness, mourning and sorrow filled the minds of the disciples at the death of Jesus. The apostles are struck dumb at the awful tragedy, the utter impotence of their adored Lord so completely benumbed that they did not think of honoring the body of Jesus. They were wholly crushed at the failure of Jesus to exercise miracle power at the crucifixion and save Himself. Faith in Jesus and His miracle power totally collapsed. So only the supreme miracle of the bodily resurrection of Jesus could have aroused the apostles and restored to them the old faith in His Deity and divine Sonship. They must see the same body afresh, the nail marks in the hands and feet, the spear-thrust in the side, the print of the thorns on the brow; they must see the identical body in which He had suffered on the cross: He must exercise that grand miracle power as before His death: He must show Himself Deity manifest in the flesh, the fullness of the Godhead body.

The Lord foresaw the deadly stupor which fell upon the disciples as they experienced the crushing agonies of the cross. The perogatives of God, Jesus immediately exercised for He commands the angel of the Lord who came and rolled away the stone from the door of the sepulchre and sat upon it to tarry there and inform the first ones to the tomb, not only that Jesus was risen, to carry quickly to Jesus' disciples notice that He would go before them into Gallilee. "There shall ye see Him." "And when they saw Him they worshiped Him." He resumed His miracle power. He raised Himself from the tomb by His own inherent majesty, He assumes a spiritual body with added supernatural faculties and powers.

The bodily resurrection of Jesus radically transformed the disciples. They must identify the same physical body they had known in life with the added marks of the crucifixion. Jesus produced His own living body, the same body in which His eternal spirit had lived and in which He had wrought His miracles in which He had taught the wondrous truths of His kingdom, so that the resurrected body was absolutely identified with the dead body that was taken from the cross. Thomas, without knowing it, asked for and applied the scientific method which is the appeal to evidence, proof and demonstration. Thomas called for the exact evidence and Jesus complied with the demand; the actual physical inspection of the physical body as that of Jesus, by seeing with the eyes, feeling with the fingers, the nail prints in the hands and the spear wound in the side in order to determine beyond a doubt the identity of such living body with the mutilated body of Jesus taken from the cross.

This identification was absolute and complete. The transcendant miracle of the resurrection of Jesus from death on the cross was absolute truth. Thomas, with his opinion totally reversed cried out in deepest passion, "my Lord and my God." Judge Francis J. Lamb in "Miracle and Science" says: "Tested by the standards and ordeals of jural science by which questions of fact are ascertained and demonstrated in contested questions of right and between man and man in courts of justice, the resurrection of Jesus stands a demonstrated fact."

The bodily resurrection of Jesus transformed the disciples; the tremendous miracle of Pentecost, gloriously equipped them for their triumphant work throughout the whole world. The physical resurrection of Jesus is the sublimest historic fact in the history of man.

AMERICAN'S EXPERIENCES ON STORM-TOSSED LAKE OF GALILEE

Recollections That Illuminate Adventures of Disciples When Venturesome Peter Trod Waves.

Life for me has held many adventures. One that often recurs to mind is an experience of a storm on the Lake of Galilee. I have known worse storms on many seas; and have been in far greater peril of death, especially on the Yellow Sea and on the Black Sea; but the hours spent in a baffled boat in the midst of the Lake of Galilee, while winds raged and night gathered, are golden beads on memory's string. During this storm I may have seemed to be watching my dusky boatmen battle with the waves that threatened us; whereas in reality I was seeing other boatmen, fishermen disciples of Jesus, in a similar craft and amidst a like storm on the same body of water, nearly two thousand years ago.

"Over and over it comes to me,
The thought of Christ on the stormy sea."

Accompanied by my son, and three boatmen, we had set out in the late afternoon from Tiberias, to visit the ruins of Tell Hum, at the head of the lake, expecting to return to our hotel in time for dinner. Weather conditions were propitious and we anticipated a smooth, swift ride. While we were out in the middle of the lake one of the sudden storms for which Galilee is famous arose, and the winds and piled-up waves battered our bow to beat us back. The boatmen were all for returning, and eloquently portrayed their helplessness. They could not understand why the two Americans persisted in trying to continue the voyage, little comprehending the thoughts that filled our minds.

For hours the rowers struggled. Darkness fell. A distant Bedouin grain field, up near Magdala, caught fire, and the flames were quickly spread before the lashing wind. Slowly we progressed. The pitching of the boat, the roar of the elements, only ministered to the thrill of the experience. Extra "backsheesh" would compensate the boatmen for their added labors; and we were in the midst of an adventure identical with that so often undergone by Jesus and His friends. About nine o'clock the storm abated, and we reached our destination; returning to Tiberias about midnight, hungry and weary and cold, having slept part of the homeward way on the rough ribs of our boat. But what a priceless fellowship we had enjoyed with our Master, Jesus, the out-of-doors Man of Galilee! No prosy books of commentary or exegesis are necessary to help me understand this lesson of Jesus and His friends amidst a storm on the Lake of Galilee.

The Man Who Escaped Storms.

On the surface of the story lies the familiar admonition that to be strong, lives must experience stress. In a Florida hotel, a few years ago, I met a handsome, gracious, wealthy, and elderly man who was a new sort of specimen to me. Except for a few summer months in his mansion on the Hudson river, he spends his years in a round of first-class resort hotels, where he is sure his comfort will be served in every possible way. He is unmarried, and has no close human ties or obligations or interests. His days are devoted to the pursuit of ease. In all of his experience he has never known hardship, peril or discomfort. His life has been a voyage on stormless and placid waters. And I pitied him from the depths of my heart: for the poor parasite has never really lived. Even the pampered tabby-cat, with occasional furtive back-fence adventures, is better off than this man to whom life means nothing, and who means nothing to life. I never met a less enviable person in all my travels.

Storms show the stuff of which souls are made.

"Then welcome each rebuff,
That turns earth's smoothness rough."

Troubles prove character. Only the disciples amidst a perilous storm hear the voice, "Be of good cheer; it is I: be not afraid." All of life's greatest Lessons are learned in the school of adversity. Travelers in Palestine glimpse something of the ruggedness and adventure of the life that wayfaring Christ lived. He is the comprehending Comrade of all who dare and endure and achieve.

That is the second obvious message of the Lesson. The Master does come to His friends when they are in trouble. Peter later wrote, "Casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you." Christ cares: no burden that chafes the soul of even the least of His friends is too small to receive His easing attention. So familiar is the statement of the personal interest of the Saviour in man that we usually fail to perceive its stupendousness. The most wonderful truth about God is that He does concern Himself in human affairs. Jesus, striding across the rough waters to the relief of His storm-tossed friends, embodies the dearest characteristic of the Creator.

"Our God is an eternal Christ,
Unchangeable, unchanged,
His love is still as warm and true
As when life's common way He ranged
Beneath the Syrian blue.

"Our God is an eternal Christ,
All tender, wise and true;
As once He was to those of old,
So is He now to me and you,
Till all the tale is told.

"As Christ was then, so God is now,
A wise and loving friend;
No feeble cry will He deny,
But of His best will surely send,
And that right instantly."

Better Than Best Friends Know

When we have toiled until we can toil no longer; when arms and back ache to the uttermost, and our hearts fail; when it seems as if our ship must go down—then it is that Jesus marvellously appears to end our trials. The mysterious ways in which God has intervened to save us from disaster, as a myriad readers of these lines can testify, seem quite as miraculous as His appearance amidst the storm, walking on the waves, to His companions in the Galilee boat.

Is it not an everyday experience of countless Christians that Christ is greater than His best friends know? He is more than your expectations. His friendship is a succession of surprises. These disciple-fishermen thought they saw a ghost when Jesus came walking toward them; despite all that they knew of Him, they could not credit the wonder. They were of the faint-hearted followers who say, "It is too good to be true"—as if anything could be too good to be true in a world where God rules! Most of us have been in the same boat with the disciples, who were troubled over what turned out to be their Deliverer. God's providences come in strange guises; and we often fear that which is our best help.

The Man Who Dared

Talk privately with any good schoolmaster, and he will tell you that the boys of whose future he expects the most are not the prim, mark-pursuing, inoffensive book-worms; but the youngsters with personality and initiative and the spirit of adventure. He may have to discipline these unconventional characters, but in his heart he knows them for the ones of whom he is likeliest to be proud in days to come. Our friend Peter had this quality of audacity. He was always the disciple who dared. So, when Jesus

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

618. What is meant in Isaiah 35:10 When it is said: "The ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion?"

Answer: It means that "the ransomed of the Lord ("all"—I. Timothy 2:5, 6) shall (not only) return (some at the point of "going down to the pit"—the grave (Job 33:24) and other from the grave (John 5:28, 29) but shall (also) come to Zion."

619. What does Zion mean?

Answer: Zion means "a monumental or guiding pillar"—"as a permanent capital." (Strong) It was the name of the higher part of the city of Jerusalem and was often called the city of David. David was a type of Christ. Zion, therefore, means the higher or heavenly part of the kingdom of Christ. "For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem."—Isaiah 2:3.

620. What does it mean to "come to Zion?"

Answer: It means to come to the Lord and walk up "the way of holiness" (Isaiah 35:8)—the way of entire consecration—to walk in the Lord's way; that is, to do the will of "the King of kings and Lord of lords."

621. Will those who come to the Lord at that time be very happy?

Answer: Yes, indeed; for "they shall come to Zion with songs, and everlasting joy shall be upon their heads."—Verse 10.

622. What is meant by "everlasting joy?"

Answer: It means just what is says that the joy shall last forever and sorrow and sighing shall flee away"—shall be no more. (Verse 10). See also Revelation 21:4; Isaiah 25:8.

623. What are some of the reasons for "joy and gladness?"

Answer: "The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."—Isaiah 35:1.

624. From what word is "Solitary" translated in the foregoing passage, and what does that Hebrew word mean?

Answer: The word is TSIYAH, and means a dry place.

WHAT SHOULD WE DO

In these days when the vividness of Gethsemane, Golgotha and the suffering of the Son of Man rise before our vision we cannot live as though they were not.

What should we do? Fast? Yea, more than fast! As we approach the week of Passion, let every soul who has felt the uplift of the suffering of the Man or Sorrows renew his faith and with deeper devotion to the Church of Our Lord pledge himself anew to make his life count for good, if it takes a cross to demonstrate the truth we believe.

FIELD SERVICE WORK PLANNED

Farm Bureau Activities Will be Handled by District Men.

Field service of the farm bureau organization and all its affiliated groups in Ohio is to be handled through 11 district men during the coming year, says an announcement received at the office of the Columbiana county farm bureau from M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio farm bureau federation. Each of the 11 men will work with local farm bureau officials of seven or more counties which constitute the district. This county and neighboring counties will have the assistance of S. O. Walker of Carrollton under this arrangement.

Under the new plan all the field service of the organization will be correlated through these men who will help local county organizations with their efforts to cooperatively market wool, live stock and other farm commodities, to use co-operative insurance to co-operatively distribute a few commodities and to solve membership and organization problems, according to word received by local farm bureau officials. They will replace special men who have been used by various branches of the organized agricultural program in the past.

Mr. Lincoln says that the plan was adopted by directors of the federation following the need shown by the work of four field service men used by the organization last year and along lines used in other industries. It is believed by leaders of the organization that the entire program of the organization will be speeded up by having men in the field who can report wishes and needs of farmers to state headquarters and distribute suggestions from county to county throughout the state.

PROGRAM GIVEN AT GRANGE MEET

A special entertainment feature of the meeting of West Point grange Friday evening was the playlet, "As It Will Be." Other features during the lecture hour included a penny march, a vocal solo by Samuel Parkes and a reading by Margaret McLaughlin. The Berghant orchestra played several popular numbers, and Howard Ketcham gave a reading. Helen Custer rendered a piano solo and Mrs. Elizabeth Eells led a discussion.

At a recent meeting six applications for membership were voted upon, and six proposals for membership were received. The lecture hour program for both meetings was in charge of Mrs. Ora Chamberlain.

KIWANIS DISTRICT MEET SCHEDULED

A district meeting of Kiwanis clubs will be held at Lisbon the evening of May 4, it was announced today. The district includes those clubs located in this county, also those at Toronto, Steubenville, Mingo Junction and Cadiz. In all 11 clubs will be represented at this gathering.

Five committees on arrangements have been selected, the chairman of the different committees being President Homer Deemer, James Elliott, John H. Hassler, County Recorder Paul H. Smith and William M. Morgan.

The meeting is to be held in the Lisbon Presbyterian church, and arrangements are being made to seat at least 400 visitors. Several state officers of the Kiwanis organization are to be included as guests.

SUIT TO RECOVER $7,350 FILED

Suit to recover $7,350.25 has been filed in common pleas court by J. M. Neville, through his counsel, W. E. Warren, of Leetonia, against J. H. Hinchliffe and others, the amount being claimed to be due on a note for $6,000 given by the defendant to the plaintiff March 10, 1924.

The petition asks that James R. Hinchliffe of Cleveland, Sarah Robinson, Sam Moranz of Lisbon, the Firestone bank, People's Savings & Loan company, B. F. Goodrich Rubber company and Mary Rump set up their interest in this case, and who have been made parties defendant. The note was secured by a mortgage given on lot 143 in the original addition to Lisbon.

S. P. OF MEXICO OPENS NEW LINE ACROSS BORDER

Through Passenger and Freight Service This Month.

GAP IS CLOSED

Road Was Started More Than Three Years Ago.

NOGALES, Ariz.—Less than a month remains until the Southern Pacific of Mexico opens its line to Mexico City giving through freight and passenger connections between the Pacific Coast of the United States and the interior of Mexico.

But little work remains to be done on the Sal-si-peudes viaduct, America's highest bridge which when completed will end the building of the 'revolutionary' gap of the Southern Pacific of Mexico. This gap, four years ago, a hundred and nine miles in length and extending from Tepic, Nayarit, Mexico to La Quemada, Jalisco, is termed the 'revolutionary' gap due to its having been in the possession of contending revolutionary factions several times. It has been the bone of contention of trouble along the West Coast of Mexico. The gap has now been brought to but a remaining 689 feet; the length of the Sal-si puedes bridge.

The through line to Mexico City is considered by engineers to be the most stupendous engineering feat to be undertaken in this age of massive spectacular building, for railway engineers have not only had to solve difficult problems of excessive grades, cuts through large mountains, overcome landslides in Nayarit's volcanic formation but to act as soldiers as well and combat the incipient revolutionary and constant banditry.

The Work Started.

The line was first started on March 3, 1923. When two crews of several hundred workmen started from Tepic at the North, and La Quemada at the South to work their way toward the objective, the immense canyon of Sal-si-peudes, they were fought at virtually every step by the people.

With the putting in place of the last span in the Sal-si-puedes viaduct a new main trunk line will be opened on the continent affording the public oe of the world's most scenic trips; a fast changing ever new panorama of rugged beauty, rolling plains, deep canyons and tangled tropical forests. The opening of the through line represents not only the four years of manual labor but months of toil over excursion plans, the bringing together of captains of industries and high governmental officials of Mexico and the United States.

The latest statement secured from President H. B. Titcomb as to the effect that provisional mixed freight and passenger service will be put into effect as soon after the completion as the department of communications and public works, of Mexico would give its approval. Further announcement was made that a contract has been entered into between the Southern Pacific of Mexico and the National lines of Mexico for the operation of the Espee trains in the depot of the latter's line in Guatalajara, Jalisco. Freight trains will operate in the yards of the National lines under the same agreement.

Cost to Date.

The estimated cost of the work on the hundred and nine mile gap was set at $14,000,000 but it has exceeded that sum according to reliable information given out by contractors. Another two million have been spent in addition to this sum in improvements on the line in the states of Sonora and Sinaloa. The distance from this city to Guadalajara over the new line is 1101 miles, twenty miles of which where graded, tressled and railed at a cost of $7,000,000 or $350,000 per mile. There are 31 tunnels on the gap with a total length of 24,000 feet from which four million yards of earth was removed and installed at a cost of over two million dollars.

The Mexican government has expended about $12,000,000 in the building of the gap.

When the work on the through line started it was President Alvaro Obregon who turned the first shovel of earth. It is the plan to have this same dignitary, now farming at his home in Sonora, drive the golden spike that will connect West with East, directly.

HENRY L. STIMSON

Henry L. Stimson of New York, former secretary of war, appointed a special representative of President Coolidge to investigate the Nicaraguan situation, is expected to propose a compromise peace between opposing Nicaraguan factions and to work out a formula by which special rights of the United States for an interoceanic canal will be protected.

The new Welland Canal in Canada will be spanned this year by 21 bridges, of which 12 will be vertical lift, seven jackknife and two of the large swing type, according to reports.

ALL-STAR CAST AT AMERICAN

'Fourth Commandment' Opens Engagement on Monday.

"The Fourth Commandment" the first of Emory Johnson's productions under his new contract with Universal will be shown at the American theatre for four days, commencing Monday.

Famed for his production of such pictures as "The Mail Man," "The Third Alarm," "In the Name of the Law," and "The Westbound Limited," Emory Johnson has eclipsed his former directorial accomplishments in this, his latest effort.

"The Fourth Commandment" hailed as an epic of mother love brings Belle Bennett, star of "Stella Dallas" to the screen in another great mother role.

Crowded with sensational crises and seething with the drama of real uncolored life, it carries a message that smashes home.

Americans Experience

appeared on the water, Peter impulsively volunteered to go to Him— a needless adventure, but an act of faith that warmed the Master's heart. So He bade him come.

Peter belonged to that large company of persons who are better at beginning than at completing—the sort who commence to build houses which never wear a roof. He had faith to start, but not faith enough to carry on. A large enterprise seemed to him less formidable than incidental difficulties. Peter set out to walk the water, but the wind-whipped waves scared him, and he began to sink, crying, "Lord, save me!"

Of course Jesus reached out a hand to him; we do not have to be perfect to get the Lord's help. But we may imagine the disapointment in the Master's face as He said, "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

Would not Jesus say that same word to every disciple, in this day of doubt? We cannot forget that His final test is to be, "When the Son of Man cometh, shall He find faith in the earth?" It is lack of faith that underlies all other evils in the Church and the world today. Doubt has become fashionable; scepticism is the vogue in certain "intellectual" circles. Faith in God has been supplanted by faith in psychology and in "scholarship." Our times have forgotten the wise, sound apothegm, "Believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts." We reverse that prescription nowadays. Yet nothing else than a rebirth of faith—simple, trustful, childlike faith—is going to give us back the disappearing sweetness of life and the complete conquest of the Gospel, in the realm of character as well as in the world of affairs. The Master's word to Peter is also the word of words for these times: "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

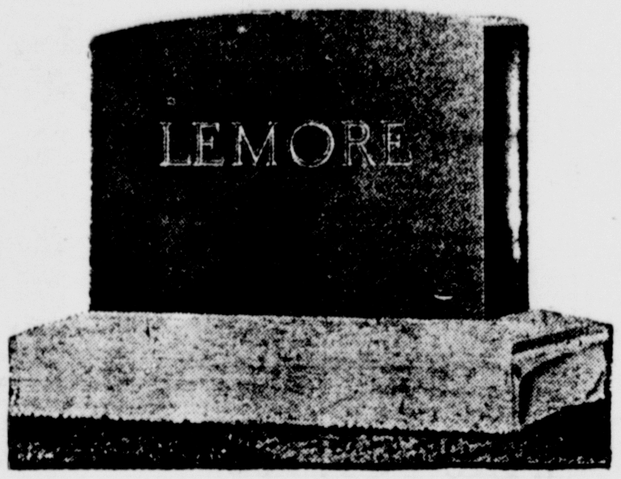

England has a poster stamp craze.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

STATE DEPARTMENT HAS FEARS OF TROUBLE IN NORTHERN CHINA

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 9. — China has been so much the uppermost topic in Washington governmental circles lately that its hard to discover what's doing elsewhere.

Oriental dope is getting monotonous, certainly, but there isn't any other.

One of these days somebody will think to inquire, "What become of Mexico and Nicaragua?" Then, probably, it will come out that their little affairs have been settled entirely, under cover of the Chinese excitement.

FOR one thing, the state department's afraid of worse trouble for foreigners, now that fighting's threatened in northern China, than they've had south of the Yangtze river.

There may be something in this.

The western powers haven't been any too well suited with Chiang Kai-Shek, the southern leader. Still, he's an enlightened man, with an occidental education, who negotiates politely, if unsatisfactorily.

Shang Tso-lin, northern war lord, who'll begin to be heard from henceforward, was a plain bandit until he graduated into his war lordship. He's as scrappy as Chiang and less polished about it.

COMPLAINTS are coming through from American business men in Shanghai that Washington isn't "firm enough in dealing with the Chinese crisis."

State department records show that there seldom has been a similar crisis anywhere whence such complaints didn't emanate.

It's considered natural, too, for an American business man in a troubled foreign area, with his trade shot full of holes, to take a less dispassionate view of the situation than Washington takes.

WHEN England needs America's help, as she does now to protect British interested in China, it's surprising how systematically the news—received through English channels — always leads up to the conclusion that America can't creditably get out of it.

British gunboat takes off American missionaries.

American flag trampled by Chinese nationalists—British marines to the rescue.

British forces save lone American leatherneck attacked by Chinese rioters.

'S funny the American correspondents miss all these incidents. They invariably get here by way of London.

JUST to show what ridiculous wage demands the revolutionary Chinese are making, the following schedule, submitted to foreigners in Hangchow, is published in Washington:

Workers receiving $1 to $10 monthly wants a $15 increase.

Those paid $11 to $20 ask $12 more.

On everything above $20 monthly, a $10 advance is called for.

The explanation, according to Chinese here, is that the revolutionists are trying to wipe out $1-a-month incomes; and they don't consider $20 monthly—which really is fancy pay for a Chinese workingman—enough to support a family on, even in China.

It's to be borne in mind that $1, in China, means $1 "Mex," which is 40 cents gold, or thereabout.

EVEN boys think they ought to earn enough to keep their families, complainant saith.

Which is true enough.

Only any Chinese servant of the sterner sex is known as a "boy," no matter how old he is.

THE Shanghai Club, swellest thing of its kind in the orient, and strictly foreign, of course, has the longest bar in the world, and they don't serve one-half of 1 per cent drinks at it, either.

WINS PRIZE AS BOYISH TYPE

Beauty specialists of the Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul Minn., have chosen Miss Dorothy Fleu of St. Paul out of 317 contestants as the most perfect example of the "boyish type" at a recent convention. She was awarded a $100 prize.

"BEAU GESTE" WINS CRITICS

French Legion Picture Closes Engagement Tonight.

"Beau Geste," Herbert Brenon's mystery-melodrama of the French Foreign Legion, closes its engagement at the Ceramic theatre tonight.

The continued large sales of Major Percival Christopher Wren's novel from which the picture was made, together with the unparalleled amount of word of mouth advertising and discussions pro and con of the story, have undoubtedly had a lot to do with the large attendance.

This story of the love of three brothers which proved stronger than their fear of death is a motif, which, up to the time of the production of "Beau Geste," had never been used on the screen as a primary theme. As shown here it is a marvelously beautiful thing.

Ronald Colman, Ralph Forbes and Neil Hamilton as the three brothers, have created characters in this film that will be long remembered. Colman has added to his ever-abundant popularity and Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes, previously not as well known as Colman, have been signed to play stellar roles in several forthcoming productions as a result of their work in "Beau Geste."

Other prominent parts in this swashbuckling adventure story are played by Noah Beery, Alice Joyce, Norman Trevor, William Powell, Mary Brian, Victor MacLaglan and Paul Stewart.

Bucharest Officials Place Strongest Ban On Darkened Cinemas

BUCHAREST.—Darkened cinemas are a menace to public morals in the eyes of the city government which has recently issued orders regulating the operation of the theatres.

Women owners are considered most negligible in looking after the welfare of their patrons, and in the future only men will be allowed licenses. Further the theatres must be well lighted and the seats must be at least a foot apart in each row.

Scores of men have been arrested in Bucharest during the last six months charged with creating disturbances in cinemas.

College girls have better weight, strength and height than the averages of girls employed in factories, according to recent measurements.

Paisley now claims to be the best lighted town in Scotland since its meanest alleys have been equipped with electric lights.

A rake having three rows of forks placed 120 degrees apart on a drum which revolves around the axle of the machine, has appeared in France.

Q. Was Frances E. Willard the first president of the W. C. T. U.?

A. Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer was the first president of the national society. Miss Frances E. Willard succeeded her in 1879. She held the position until her death in 1898.

Q. What kind of a magnifying glass is used to detect invisible ink or stains? J. J F.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that there are invisible inks and stains, but a magnifying glass is not used to detect them. A colored glass is employed for this purpose.

Q. Is it true that one of a pair of twins is not capable of bearing children? W. F.

A. There is no scientific basis for the idea that in human twins one is likely to be sterile. Among cattle a female born twin to a male is as a rule a sterile or intersexual individual called a freemartin. There is no reason to believe that this condition exists in human kind.

Q. When did the Mark Honkins, associated with C. P. Huntington in the west, die? W. T. K.

A. Mark Honkins, the real estate magnate, was born in Henderson, N. Y., September 1, 1813. He went to California in 1849 and died in 1878.

Q. Can one see Ireland from England? N. McR.

A. It is possible to see the shores of Ireland from England on a clear day across the narrower parts of the Irish Sea.

Q. What parts of the United States were originally palatinates? C. M.

A. Maryland and South Carolina were originally instituted as palatinates.

Q. How did the canning industry originate? N. B.

A. In the year 1795, France was in revolution and at war with nearly all Europe. The French government needed some way of supplying fresh provisions to its sailors. For this reason they announced that a large sum of money would be given to anybody who could find a way of supplying fresh provisions to its sailors. The successful inventor must also describe his process in a book. This prize of twelve thousand francs—equal to approximately five thousand dollars—was paid by the great Napoleon to Nicolas Appert. He did not use tins but wide-mouthed glass bottles and made stoppers of cork. Appert discovered that food in air-tight packages could be sterilized with heat so that it would keep. With his prize money he started a canning business that is still maintained in France by his descendants.

Q. When were the gates placed on Pennsylvania Avenue and Jackson Place, between the White House and State, War, and Navy Building? N. P.

A. The Office of Public Buildings and Grounds says that the gates on Pennsylvania avenue, at Jackson Place, State, War and Navy Building, were put there during Grant's administration between 1870 and 1874. This land was originally part of the White House grounds. When it was first opened the gates were placed there to shut off that road as a public thoroughfare at night.

A Good Thing—Don't Overlook It.

From Jas. Edwards, Montgomery, Ala., comes this letter which contains a valuable suggestion: "I feel like a new man since taking Foley's Honey and Tar. I can now sleep all night, soreness in chest and the bad cough entirely gone. My whole family use it—for coughs, colds and croup, and it always helps." Stops tickling throat, nervous hacking cough, puts a healing, soothing coating on an inflamed throat. Sold and recommended everywhere. Ask for it.

Samuel Swabey, who collapsed and died while unloading a steamer at Devonport, England, recently, had a heart weighing 35 ounces, about 14 ounces above the normal.

Slowing Up?

Waste Impurities In The Blood Make One Languid and Inefficient

OVERWORK, worry and lack of rest, all tend to fill the blood with impurities, beyond the ordinary ability of the kidneys to immediately eliminate them.

These unfiltered body poisons are apt to make one lanquid, tired and achy, with dull headaches, dizziness, and often a nagging backache. A common symptom of imperfect kidney function is scanty or burning excretions.

Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic, assist the kidneys in their eliminative work. Doan's act on the kidneys only. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Gust Green, 1933 E. Walnut St., Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I was miserable with backache and knew my kidneys weren't acting right, as the excretions were scanty and burned in passing. A friend recommended Doan's Pills and they helped me promptly. Continued use corrected the trouble and I have since told hundreds about Doan's".

Carl W. Bartz, 526 Pine St., Owosso, Mich., says: "I had reason to believe my kidneys weren't acting right because the secretions didn't pass often enough. Headaches were annoying. I was tired and without ambition and was bothered by a nagging backache. I tried Doan's Pills and they were prompt in helping me. It wasn't long before I felt like myself again."

four parks and one playground have been set aside.

In Bayonne, New Jersey, a group of apartment buildings has carried out this recreation center idea. These apartments are intended to house 149 families, most of whom are employees of the Standard Oil company. There is a children's playground with an area of 1,176 square feet at one end of the plot. This yields twenty square feet of playing space per child on the basis of approximately sixty children occupying the playground at a given time. This ground is open from the first of May to the first of November, and a leader is provided. The inner courts extending the full length of the development are devoted to lawns with shrubs and flowers. In all 6,516 square feet of space has been set aside for rest and recreation courts, comprising a little over 22 per cent of the entire area.

In New York City where the congestion is such that the children of the poorer localities have great difficulty in finding some place to play, a block of houses on the west side of Avenue A between 65th and 66th streets, known as the Garden Tenements, is provided with a play space. These buildings were erected with Rockefeller funds, and are designed to house eighty-two families. The entire area is 100x200 feet. There is an interior garden, 31x100 feet, extending to the rear yard by an opening some 41x23 feet. In this opening and extending into the yard there is a sunken playground for the small children.

Realtors, both individually and as organizations, are being sold on this idea of providing play and recreation space when laying out a new development and are lending their support to it. Last year at the City Planning Conference called by the California Real Estate association at Los Angeles, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved . . . that means be undertaken to secure further recognition on the part of subdividers that subdivision is a process in community building and that subdividers should provide public open spaces and public recreational areas as part of the subdivision plans, particularly in cases where subdivisions contain areas naturally suited for such purposes.

"Resolved . . . that California Real Estate association cooperate in the establishment of a definite recreation policy and program in the state of California."

The Playground and Recreation association of America is anxious that the doctrine shall be still further spread so that the time will come when no new real estate development will be planned without taking as a matter of course the provision for public playground and recreation spaces.

If you have Reason to Suspect Your Kidneys, Read This

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had kidney trouble for years and Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets overcame it. I could not sleep, my back hurt and I could not get up when I was down. Was disturbed many times in a night. At last I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and before I had taken three bottles my back was well and I could sleep all night. It is the best medicine I ever found for weak kidneys."—Sylvester Crouse, 203 S. Kilmer St.

Anuric, a new stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, was originated at the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., by Dr. Pierce, Pres., after observation and treatment of thousands of kidney cases. Get Anuric at any drug store or send 10c to Dr. Pierce at above address for a trial package and write for free advice.

Elks At Peak Strength For Clash With Rauhs Here Tonight

Ray Wilde May Work Awhile At Pivot Job; Fast Prelim Booked

Dave Shupe at Forward, Along With Nate Lippe Who Will be Battling County League Team Mates; Anderson, McConville at Guards; Brian Clothiers and Peacocks Tangle in Opener.

Out of the game for a couple of weeks or so as a result of injuries sustained in the initial clash of the Midland series, Ray Wilde, Elks' center, may be able tonight to flash some of his speed and tricks against the Enoch Rauh club of the Allegheny county league, billed as a special attraction at the high school gymnasium.

Wilde's ankle is getting along famously, with good care and rest, and while still a trifle weak, will probably be usable, the Chester star believes, for a short time at least.

Big Tony Paulsey of course will bear the brunt of the battle at center against the second place club of the western Pennsylvania loop, but when Wilde says the word he'll be sent in to work a while with his old mates.

The entire Elks, club will be on hand for the engagement, with Nate Lippe and Dave Shupe at the forwards, Paulsey at center and McConville and Anderson at the guards.

Lippe probably will have a tougher time against the Rauhs than the ordinary team, because his team mates are acquainted with his style and will leave nothing undone to put a crimp in it—if they can. Lippe earned most valuable player honors and the Gazette Times cup for his work with the Rauhs this season against county league foes, including the Lafayettes, who copped a couple from the Antlers.

The Rauhs won two and lost two in four games with the Lafayettes during the county league season, which should guarantee plenty of opposition for Powell's passers.

The clash between the Elks and the Rauhs will start at 9 o'clock, the regular Saturday night starting hour.

Another real preliminary joust is forecast with the booking of the Brian Clothiers and the Peacock Selects. The Brians triumhed over the Peacocks by a point or two in their last preliminary battle here and the latter will be out to even it up.

The prelim will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Anna Belle's Aim

Crooksville, O., may not get much space on the maps but the town boasts of Miss Anna Belle Stought, claimant of the scoring honors of the country for 1926-27 with a record of 92 field goals and 24 fouls for a total of 208 points for the season. She has played with the Crooksville high school team four

Kearns and Mullins Hold Conference

CHICAGO, April 9.—Fistiana's gossip mills were grinding out championship fights faster than they could be tabulated today following a long conference here between Jack Kearns and Promoter Jim Mullen.

Before returning to New York, Kearns tossed two bits of information to the hungering fans, to wit:

"Walker may be matched this summer against Dave Shade in a middleweight championship bout."

"Walker may be matched this summer against Tommy Milligan, middleweight champion of Great Britain, in a world's championship bout."

HORNSBY DEAL IS DEADLOCKED

Neither Player Nor Breadon Willing to Compromise.

PITTSBURGH, April 9. — Compromise? No! That was the attitude today of Rogers Hornsby, stockholder in the St. Louis Cardinals and second baseman of the New York Giants on the moot point as to whether the National league would care to make an issue of his dual allegiance.

Compromise? Impossible! That was the opinion of Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, who had made his bid for Hornsby's stock and felt that he was all washed up.

Hornsby said he had been offered $87,000 for his stock and would sell it at that price if the New York and St. Louis clubs and the National league would contribute a gratuity of $12,000 each. This, he explained, would net him the $123,000 he asks for the stock.

Breadon and the other club owners rejected this proposal. Breadon left for St. Louis well satisfied that Hornsby must abide by President John A. Heydler's edict or sell or forfeit his right to appear for the Giants at the National league opening in Philadelphia on Tuesday.

That Hornsby will lose little time in applying for an injunction restraining the National league from interfering with his ball playing seemed to be one of the inevitable aftermaths of the special National league meeting yesterday at which Hornsby and the club owners agreed to disagree. As matters finally stood Hornsby was offered $100,000 for his 1,167 shares by the National league, but declined to accept the offer.

So no compromise was the word. L. J. Bondy, attorney of the New York Giants, promised to take an injunction that would allow Hornsby to start the season as a player of the Giants in spite of the fact that he owned stock in the St. Louis Cardinals.

The injunction, Bondy explained today, would be answerable in five days and in the event that the injunction was not obeyed Bondy promised that definite action on a charge of contempt of court would be started as soon as the interested parties reached New York.

In brief it looks as though Hornsby and the National league had reached a parting of the ways. The last thing his attorney, William Fahey, said last night was that the player would go into court with his case and meantime would appear for the opening game of the 1927 season in Philadelphia and every day thereafter in an effort to earn his $30,000 contract with the Giants to whom he was traded last winter only a few months after he had won the pennant and world's title as a player manager of the Cardinals.

TROPHY CUP FOR LEAGUE CHAMPS

Review-Tribune to Make Award to Soft Ball Winners.

WITH seven clubs definitely on the roster, preliminary organization work on the Review-Tribune Recreation league was well along toward completion today.

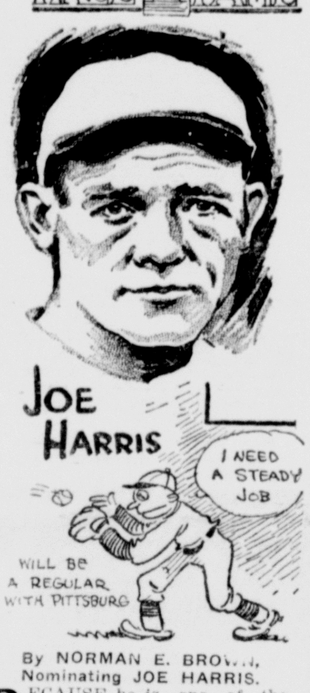

The latest clubs to sign on the dotted line are the C. W. Davis Heimies and the H. L. Smith company's "Smith News" nines.

In order to stimulate the race, which, judging from interest already evidenced in the new soft ball circuit here will not need a great deal of promotion, the Review-Tribune, sponsors of the loop, will award a handsome silver trophy cup to the winners at the end of the season.

Rules, schedule, playing lots, eligibility lists and other details will be discussed at a meeting which will be held in the near future.

The league roster now includes: Bulger Drugs, Printers, Homer Laughlin, High School Teachers, Y. M. C. A., Heimies and Smith News.

The Sports Hall of Fame

By NORMAN E. BROWN, Nominating JOE HARRIS.

BECAUSE he is one of the baseball Harrises.

Because he was "an uncertainty" as a major league player eight or nine years ago, because of his fielding.

Because the Cleveland Indians let him go some eight years ago, because they didn't want to take a chance on his legs, injured in the World war, and pay him what he asked to play first base.

Because he helped bat the Washington Senators to a pennant or two and one world's series victory some six years later.

Because the Senators decided last winter that he was through again and let him go to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Because he's scheduled to play regularly with the Pittsburgh team this year, provided he can get a little neuritis out of his carcass.

And because he travels under the startling moniker of "Moon."

Gotham Clubs Get Shivery Welcome

NEW YORK, April 9.—Greater New York gave its three big league teams a shivering welcome today. The Giants who have won eight games from Washington this spring, entertain the Senators at the Polo grounds while the Yankees play Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews in Brooklyn.

Dutch Henry, Giants' southpaw, is expected to be used frequently hereafter as a result of his brilliant 4 to 1 victory over the Senators in Washington yesterday.

Weissmuller Wins Tank Meet Honors

CHICAGO, April 9.—Johnny Weissmuller, Illinois A. C. aquatic star, today was in possession of the A. A. U., individual medal awarded for high point score in the four-day national A. A. U., senior championship meet which closed here last night. Weissmuller gathered sixteen points, while Walter Spence, of the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., his closest rival, finished second with 13.

In his last appearance, Weissmuller shattered the world's record for the 500-yard free style event, by clipping four seconds from the time made by Arne Borg last year while competing for the I. A. C. At the outset of the race Weissmuller led, and in the last swish down the tank he left ten years behind, Henry Clancy, of Philadelphia, who finished second.

The team cup was copped by the Illinois A. C., with a total of 42 points. Far in the rear, tied for second place with 22 points, were the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., and the Chicago A. M. The New York A. C. with 15 points, rested in fourth position.

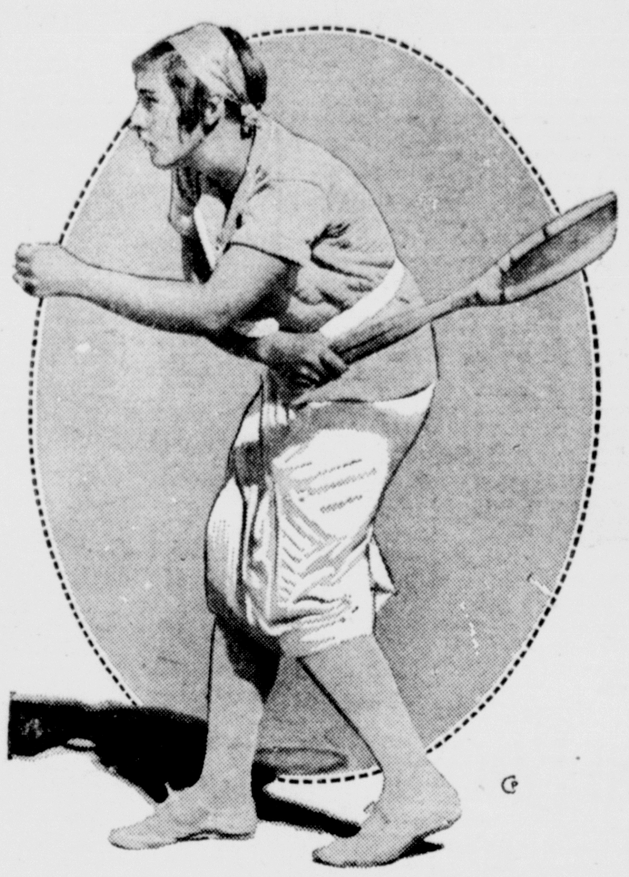

Fight Results

AT PHILADELPHIA—Joey Williams, won decision over Young Freddy Welsh, of Atlantic City, 8 rounds.

AT CHICAGO:—Henry Lenard, Chicago, featherweight, defeated Frankie Monroe, of California, 10 rounds.

Harry Forbes, of Columbus, Ohio, won decision over Tommy Ryan, of McKeesport, Pa.

FUTURE RIVAL FOR SUZANNE

Eleanor Zink, thirteen-year-old school girl of Steubenville, O., is the winner of the singles in the Women's Open Tennis Championships at Ormond Beach, Fla. Swift on the court and with a strong, sure drive Eleanor is looked upon as a possible future rival for Suzanne Lenglen.

CHESTER HIGH NINE WINNER

In their initial clash of the season, outside of their own school league, Chester high trimmed Newell high baseballers yesterday afternoon by a count of 17 to 2.

Simcox was on the mound for the Chesterites with DeLong behind the bat.

Leonard Wins 10-Rounder.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Henry Lenard, Chicago featherweight, defeated Frankie Monroe of California, in the ten round main event at Ashland auditorium last night. Harry Forbes of Columbus, O., was awarded teh decision over Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., in the semi-windup.

M'HENRY DROPS FROM RANKS OF LOOP MAGNATES

Club Will be Managed This Season by Ed McVeigh.

The City Industrial Baseball League will launch its 1927 campaign with at least one new club, or one new name, anyway, as a result of a franchise transfer which was completed last night.

As a result of the deal, the Victory Motor franchise, held by Bob McHenry, goes to Ted Ganas, of the American Billiard Parlors, Sixth street, and the club will start the season under the name of the American Billiards.

Ed McVeigh, who was lined up with the Motors the past season, will manage the club, it was announced today.

McVeigh has called a meeting of all players to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the American pool room.

Ganas, it is understood, originally planned to back an independent team for Saturday, Sunday and holiday games, but with the acquisition of the City League club, will drop this venture.

Reds Back Home.

CINCINNATI, O., April 9. — Their home-coming marred by rain, which caused the only cancellation on the six-week training schedule, the Reds were back today, prepared for a clash this afternoon with the Cleveland Indians here. Manager Hendricks planned to start three pitchers—Donohue, Eppa Rixey and Carl Mays—against the Clevelanders, and his league opening selection will depend upon their showings.

Fannie Ward, Popular Actress of the American Stage writes:

"Being looked upon as a sort of female Ponce de Leon, I have to guard not only my appearance against oncoming years, but all those other things that cruel Father Time preys upon—especially the voice. When women ask me which cigarette will not age the voice, or irritate the throat, I open my little cigarette case and show them the one I smoke—'The Lucky Strike.'"

Fannie Ward

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

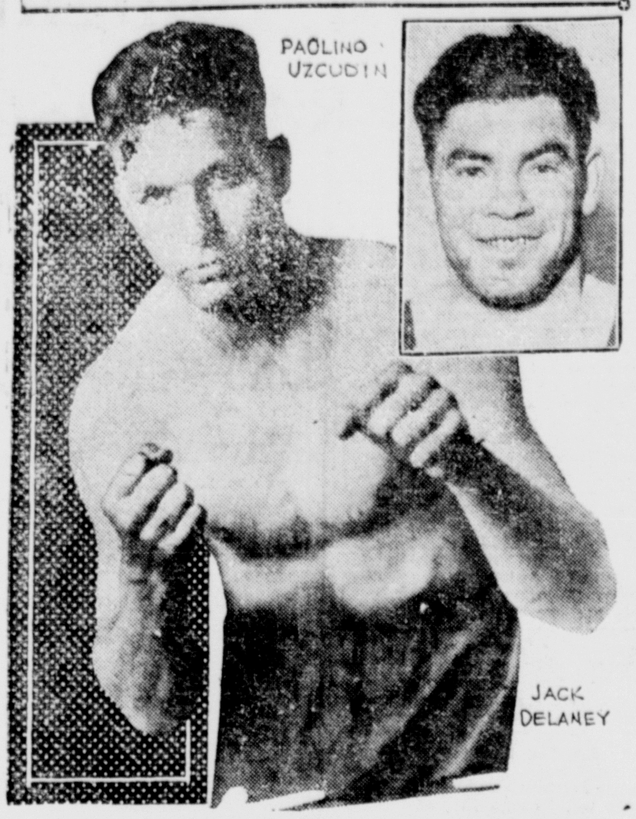

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection

When in New York you are cordially invited to see how Lucky Strikes are made at our exhibit, corner Broadway and 45th Street.

WHAT'S THIS BOUT ALL ABOUT?

The reward of Paolino Uzcudin, Spanish heavy, for whipping Tom Heeney of Australia the other night is a crack at Jack Delaney, French Canadian. But the last named was defeated by Jimmy Maloney of Massachusetts earlier in Tex Rickard's so-called heavyweight tourney. So the gent from the Pyrenees will be progressing backwards. But it ought to be a nice fight.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

TO digress from the main topic of the day — baseball—for a moment.

Our distinguished visitor, Edvin Wide, Sweden's star distance runner, plans to exhibit his heels in one more indoor meet this spring and then depart for home.

His trip is heralded as somewhat of a disappointment by athletic followers and this, I believe, is an injustice to Wide.

Wide was in no sense Paavo Nurmi, as Nurmi was when the announcement was made that the former planned a trip to this country. The Swedish school teacher is one of the best distance men his country has produced in years, but he is not a "wonder man," as was Nurmi — fleetest man ever to flash a pair of spiked shoes over the longer distances abroad.

Wide was in no sense a Charley Hoff—a phenominal pole vaulter and one of those rare individuals born to athletics once in a hundred years.

Wide has been soundly beaten twice since his arrival. But there can be no disgrace in losing to an opponent who flies over the boards in world's record time to do it.

There has always been much keen rivalry between New York and Chicago in an athletic sense. The staging of the annual army-navy game in the Illinois metropolis last winter marked the culmination of a long struggle to share such an honor with the eastern rival.

Which brings us to the point involved—that the Windy City has just suffered its most humiliating experience in having "the finals" of the Bud Taylor-Tony Canzoneri fight apparently lifted to New York.

The two boys met at Chicago the other night in a battle that was to decide the logical successor to the bantamweight title left on the doorstep by Phil Rosenberg. Jim Mullen, the promoter, hung up a nice studded belt, with the studs all shined up.

Then the battle ended in a draw.

And before Mullen had put the disgrace back on his belt word came from New York that the two men probably would be matched for a return bout there—to settle the title dispute.

Oh death, where is thy uppercut?

Training Camps

Sox in Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., April 9.—Ray Schalk and his globe-trotting White Sox were in Toledo today for a two-game series. The first will be played today. The Sox fought a ten-inning draw with Louisville yesterday, the game ending ing a 4-4 tie.

Rain Stops Cubs.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—The Cubs were beginning to show signs of restlessness today under their enforced idleness. Rain of the past two days has not only washed away the series with the Kansas City Blues, but made it impossible for the Cubs to limber up in practice.

BLOUGH UNDER DENTIST'S CARE

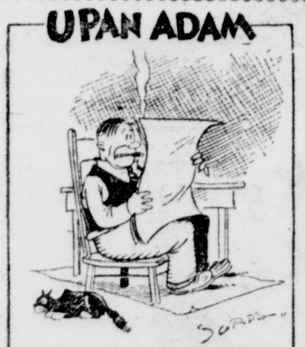

WOOSTER, O., April 9.—Both the Wooster college track and baseball squads are now down to hard work in preparation for the spring schedules. The track season opens with two relay teams entered in the C. A. C. relays at Cleveland, April 16. Another game has been added to the baseball schedule and now for an opener Wooster plays Hiram at Hiram, April 22.

With track prospects better than the average this season, under the direction of Coaches Swigart and Munson, Wooster runners are rapidly rounding into form. The Wooster mentors will select the one and two mile teams for the meet at Cleveland the first of next week. Captain Crothers is certain to run on both teams.

"Pete" Blough, captain-elect in football for next fall and hurler on the baseball team, has been unable to report for baseball so far this spring. Pete got some teeth broken in a basketball game and is now under the dentist's care. He is expected to report for baseball in a few days.

Nearly 2,000,000 American bathing caps were donned in foreign lands last year.

UPAN ADAM

"No big league manager tries to make his hurling staff a financial success. The best pitching goes into the hands of the receiver."

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mail ing room comes to call. Her name is LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director, DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister, ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together. A dark little girl comes to Hattie's dressing room, saying it used to be hers. De Brissac wants Hattie to go away for a week with him on his yacht. The little dark girl comes to his office while Hattie is there and tries to throw acid on her, but De Brissac prevents her, although his hand is burned. Hattie tries to tell Alice that she can't go back to De Brissac's studio to work, but her sister tells her they need more money and that she must stick to her contract. She refuses to go to De Brissac's office again after work and meets O'Malley and goes to dinner with him.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN.

Henry seemed very nice when he tucked the robe about her knees and settled comfortably behind the steering wheel. She wondered, as he turned south on Santa Monica Boulevard where he was taking her. Then he said—

"A little ride'll do you good before we eat, Hattie."

A new bold thought came. She rested her hand on his sleeve. "Henry."

"Yes, child."

"Take me into L. A."

He gave her a glance.

"We might—have dinner at the Alexandria."

"But—"

"I'm sick of hiding around."

He thought this over. Then, at a crossing, swung the car about and headed toward the city.

She glanced up at him. She was cuddled close against him. He seemed, more than ever before, a protector.

"You're not afraid, Henry, that he . . . I don't care myself but . . ."

"I'm glad you don't Hattie. As a matter of fact, I picked up a pretty interesting bit of news this afternoon. I don't think we'll have to be afraid of him. If there's a man in Beverly that shaking in his shoes tonight—and you can bet there's a hundred—it's Armand de Brissac."

He clamped his lips shut on that and drove on.

After checking their coats he went down to the washroom, and she moved circumspectly across the lobby of the hotel to the newstand. Her pulse was racing. The evening papers were all spread out there. Quickly her gaze roved over the headlines. . . Not a word! Only the usual murders and holdups and a society divorce here in the city. But they didn't attack all society because of its continual scandals any more than they attacked other institutions because of occasional personal troubles. Back in the mailing room she had heard frightful stories about certain powerful bankers and business men. The girls whispered them greedily. But the papers never attacked banks and business because of that. . . This was the mental attitude she had picked up on the lot. It had become part of her nervous fibre.

"Oh, you're over here! I lost you."

She asked herself, as she walked at Henry's side across the lobby and into the big, beautiful dining room, if he hadn't looked rather sharply at her. Why had he so abruptly stopped speaking of de Brissac? What had he heard? What was he thinking? At least he seemed still fond of her. With this reassuring thought she moved nearer so that her arm brushed his.

It was pleasant to be bowed to so deferentially by the head waiters. She had never before in her life been in such a room, though she had peeped into them. She wondered a little at her boldness in suggesting the place. . . . Henry seemed, as he seated her and took up the bewilderingly large menu card, magnificent. He knew just how to pick out a dinner from the confusion of print there. With a hot little uprush of jealousy she wondered how he had learned. He must have ordered dinner for lots of girls.

When the waiter had gone he leaned forward on the table and gazed soberly at her. He had nice brown eyes.

"Here's the de Brissac story. And I think I've got it straight. Lemsol's new secretary told Jimmy Wilson. They're going together." Jimmy Wilson was another of de Brissac's men. "His hand wasn't burned in the laboratory, but right in his own office. A girl threw carbolic at him. Rachael Rand. She was in the last picture he made out here—The Tempest. She isn't more than 18 now. They're keeping her quiet somewhere until he finishes up this week. Cost 'em something, too—holding up the work on her set."

Hattie couldn't move her eyes from his face.

"It hasn't got into the papers. Hushing it up. You see the police aren't in. But wouldn't you know Hell would begin to pop just when they're trying so hard to clean up. There's some other stories just waiting to break. . . Mr. Zeeck's on his way out from New York. I know he's worried. Even if he can hold his control in the business. You see, de Brissac's a big man—he's a wonderful man—but he's got foreign ideas. Hard to handle. Rachael isn't the first young girl in his story. There's always one of 'em around wherever he's working. I don't mind telling you, Hattie, I haven't felt so easy seeing you working with him. Even if he hasn't seemed to be rushing you."

He didn't know! . . .

"You see, de Brissac isn't so young, and he's not a Wally Reid for looks, but he's interesting. Women like him. You'll probably feel that I haven't any right to ask this, but—does he expect you to go on with him after this picture?"

Slowly, moodily, Hattie nodded.

"How long?"

"Three years."

He compressed his lips on that, and thoughtfully shook his head.

"You musn't, Hattie."

"What can I do?"

"Who signed your contract?"

"I did, and my sister."

"Is she your legal guardian?"

"Why—I suppose so."

"How old are you?"

"Seventeen last October."

"Look here—there's always a lot of legal technicalities in these contracts with minors. A good lawyer can shoot any one of 'em full of holes. I've got a friend, a lawyer here, who's handled a lot of such cases. He could break that contract."

"But—I don't quite see—"

"You could go into another studio. I don't know what they pay you, but it wouldn't surprise me a bit if we could do better for you."

"I get a hundred a week, this year."

"That's not enough. De Brissac's leading girl? Not enough."

"More next year."

"Not enough. Hattie" — his color was rising and his voice taking on a husky sound—"probably you'll think it's funny my going into your personal affairs like this, but you see I—oh, I'm crazy about you, Hattie! I can't bear to think of your sticking with de Brissac. Oh, he'll be good for a little while after this row. He doesn't want that kind of publicity now, any more than Zeeck or the big stars. But just the same it isn't safe. Sooner or later he'd get you. You mustn't mind my saying that! It doesn't make any difference that you're innocent and have sweet thoughts and natural character. You don't know what a skillful man can be. He hasn't any scruples. Really, I don't think he'd understand our kind. He isn't wholesome. I can't leave you there with him. I tell you, I'm crazy about you. Can't get you out of my thoughts."

Her own color was rising. She lowered her eyes.
